VETO OF BONUS BILL TO REACH HOUSE TODAY

President Has Completed Message and Congress Will Act Quickly.

LOANS ARE ATTACKED IN LETTERS RECEIVED

Senate Increase, Granting $20,877,000 for Veterans' Hospitals Voted Down.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

The message of President Hoover vetoing the veterans loan has been completed and will be sent to the House of Representatives shortly after noon today.

Champions of the bill in the Senate and the House are prepared to take prompt action to have the bill passed over the President's veto.

In the last few days the White House has received a large number of telegrams and letters, most of which denounce the loan bill and urge the President to veto it. Many of these messages are from veterans or veterans organizations.

Disapproved by House.

A lively prelude to the arrival of the veto message took place at the Capitol yesterday when the House voted down a Senate proposal to authorize $20,877,000 for veterans hospitals.

The House, in passing the Rogers hospital bill, had authorized the expenditure of $12,500,000 and, at the same time, had made definite allocations of this sum.

When the Senate got the bill, it increased the amount to $20,877,000 without specifically saying how the additional amount was to be spent.

Yesterday the House, by a vote of 214 to 159, declined to instruct its conferees to accept the Senate figure.

Too Much Power Given.

Representative Edith Nourse Rogers, of Massachusetts, author of the bill, told the House that acceptance of the Senate amendment would place too much power in the hands of Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans affairs.

Representative Rankin, of Mississippi, who made the motion to have the House conferees instructed, said that unless this were done the bill might get caught in a legislative tangle and fail of passage.

In the course of the debate, Representative Luce, of Massachusetts, accused Rankin of trying to prevent members from speaking. Many of the Democrats, Luce said, did not understand the issue. This so angered the Democrats that a score or more of them left the floor.

Two Main Objections.

In his veto message today, President Hoover is expected to stress two objections to the veterans loan bill—the harmful effect it will have on the Treasury, and the fact that it will make a vast sum of money available to veterans who are not actually in need of it.

The Veterans Bureau and other agencies have supplied the President with facts and figures which give some idea of the extent of distress among veterans, and these probably will be cited in the message.

A hasty survey which was made last week, and the results of which were transmitted to the White House, showed that in a city having 20,000

Calvin Coolidge Says:

The movement sponsored at Washington for enlarging public activity for child welfare holds a promise of much good. For many years some of the States have had charitable organizations for the prevention of cruelty to children which have maintained offices and agents that work in conjunction with public officials. They have been chiefly concerned with delinquencies and have not extended their activities broadly into the constructive field of general improvement of hygienic and educational conditions.

While there is no complete substitute for the right kind of parental influence and supervision, health and education are so much questions of public policy that both the Government and organized social efforts may well intervene to supplement the home in increasing the physical and mental powers of the young.

The unification and extension of the disconnected and sporadic efforts already in existence for child welfare will have an elevating influence over the whole country. The door of opportunity will be opened wider, the race will be improved, the social order will be stabilized and the foundation of citizenship will be strengthened. The progress of a nation requires its children to be well born, well nourished and well educated.

GROESBECK TO HELP DAVIS IN POWER QUIZ

Michigan Man Named to Aid Senate in Its Contest With Hoover.

(Associated Press.)

The Senate legal staff to represent it in court in the Power Commission controversy with President Hoover was completed yesterday with the appointment of Alexander Groesbeck, of Michigan, to assist John W. Davis, former presidential candidate.

The appointment of Mr. Groesbeck was announced by Chairman Norris of the judiciary subcommittee, appointed to select the Senate attorneys.

Members of the committee said they felt that with the selection of Mr. Davis and Mr. Groesbeck the Senate would have the best legal talent available to contest with President Hoover the right to office of Chairman Smith of the Power Commission.

The case will involve a far-reaching legal point never before raised in constitutional conflict between the executive and legislative branches of the Government—the right of the Senate to reconsider the nomination of an official who has already been sworn into office.

Mr. Davis and Mr. Groesbeck are expected to reach Washington early in March to confer with members of the committee and institute the legal proceedings.

Italian Embassy Halts Speech Quiz

No Further Action Expected on O'Brian's Address in New York.

(Associated Press.)

No further action is contemplated by the Italian Embassy in regard to the recent speech by John Lord O'Brian, an assistant attorney general. In a statement last night Ambassador De Martino of Italy, said Mr. O'Brian's explanation of the speech was "fully satisfactory."

Mr. O'Brian made certain references to Italy in an address in New York last Saturday, but he explained he had not intended any aspersions against that country. The ambassador denied published reports that he intended asking the State Department for an explanation.

"I have never intended, neither do I intend taking such a step," he asserted, "since Mr. O'Brian's explanations were fully satisfactory to me."

Worker Killed First Day On Job SoughtAllWinter

Special to The Washington Post.

Moorefield, W. Va., Feb. 25.—Cletus Whetzel, of Criders, Va., 30 years old, sought work in this section all winter. Tuesday he was given the job of cutting timber in the Peru section of this county. His employment was tragically short, for on the first day a tree which he was felling crashed on him, injuring him fatally.

Burial was made at his home in Virginia Wednesday afternoon.

DAVIS DENIES SUGAR TARIFF FUND CHARGES

Senator Tells Members of Lobby Committee He Is Innocent.

URGES FULL INQUIRY IN PRESENT SESSION

Former Labor Secretary Cites Acquaintance With Firm's Head.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Davis, of Pennsylvania, went voluntarily before the Senate lobby committee yesterday to deny, vigorously, if they were aimed at him, published charges that a senator had received $100,000 or more from a sugar company interested in obtaining a high sugar tariff.

He gave no reason for assuming he was the senator involved.

The former Secretary of Labor was the only witness before the committee, which was rejuvenated yesterday to inquire into the reports.

He called them "a contemptible lie" if aimed at him, and said he had never lobbied for or against a sugar tariff, or received money for doing so.

Questioned by Chairman Caraway, Mr. Davis said he subscribed for $80,000 or $100,000 of stock in the Celotex Co., which makes boards from sugar cane, but he did not even know whether the company wanted a high or low sugar tariff.

Cites Business Acquaintance.

The former Cabinet officer, who was not in the ... when the tariff bill was up, said he had a business acquaintance with B. G. Dahlberg, president of the company, but had not discussed a sugar tariff with him.

The Pennsylvania senator urged the committee to inquire fully into the accusation "in behalf of the citizens of the State of Pennsylvania, our Nation, my family and myself."

After Mr. Davis read a brief prepared statement, Mr. Caraway asked him a few questions and when other committee members indicated they had no inquiries he adjourned the meeting.

Mr. Davis told Mr. Caraway that Mr. Dahlberg was in the room, but the committee chairman did not call him. He said he wanted to decide upon procedure before calling any witnesses.

Later Mr. Caraway announced the committee would "exhaust every effort to ascertain the whole truth about about the matter," and that Mr. Davis would be "given opportunity to present any testimony or witnesses he wishes."

May Extend Committee.

Mr. Caraway said it might be necessary to ask the Senate to extend the life of his committee which expires March 4 because he did not believe it would be possible to complete the inquiry in the few days remaining before the end of the session.

No further hearings will be held for several days.

When the committee assembled yesterday Mr. Davis asked to make a statement. He read the following:

"If the charges which were read into the Congressional Record yesterday from a metropolitan newspaper refer to me, I most emphatically state that I never lobbied for or against any sugar tariff measure; that I have never spoken to anybody in Congress or anyone in Government service about putting a duty on sugar; that I never received any money or anything of value for any such alleged service.

"It is a contemptible lie and I am glad that it is out in the open so that the matter can be thoroughly investigated and the falsehood killed once for all.

Charge Called Serious.

"The charge is a serious one. The Senate and the public are entitled promptly to know all the facts; to condemn if true; to absolve if un-

Meyer's Nomination Confirmed by Senate

New Reserve Governor Approved by Vote of 72 to 11.

(Associated Press.)

The long-contested nomination of Eugene Meyer, of New York, to be governor of the Federal Reserve Board was confirmed by the Senate yesterday, 72 to 11.

The action came after two days' discussion on the floor, in which only two opponents of confirmation participated. They were Senators Brookhart, of Iowa, and Frazier, of North Dakota, both Republicans, who criticized the financier's former activities in Wall street and his service on Government boards.

Friends of Mr. Meyer decided no defense was necessary, and they made no speeches. Only four Republicans and seven Democrats voted against confirmation. Twenty-nine Democrats joined 42 Republicans and the one Farmer-Labor Senator, Shipstead, Minnesota, for confirmation.

Mr. Meyer, a former member of the War Industries Board, War Finance Corporation and Federal Farm Loan Board, was given a recess appointment to the Reserve Board by President Hoover last September.

When the nomination reached the floor, almost two months ago, it was sent back to committee on motion of Senator Brookhart for an inquiry into charges by Representative McFadden (Republican), Pennsylvania, that Mr. Meyer obtained the appointment through Wall street influence.

Mr. Meyer and other witnesses, appearing before a subcommittee, denied the charges. The subcommittee recommended approval of the nomination to the full banking committee, which later approved confirmation, 12 to 3.

Mr. Meyer will succeed as governor of the board Roy A. Young, of Minneapolis, resigned.

BILL IN MARYLAND PLANS PARK BONDS

Program for Montgomery and Prince Georges Covered in Measure.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Feb. 25.—Legislation designed to permit Maryland to take advantage of the provisions of the Cramton bill for park development of areas in Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties adjacent to Washington is sought in a bill introduced in the House of Delegates today by Dr. George Edmonds, chairman, and his colleagues of the Montgomery County delegation in the House of Delegates.

The group presented a bill asking authority to issue bonds for $1,200,000 for the metropolitan district of Montgomery, the loan to begin in 1938 and extend over a period of 50 years. Repayment of funds to be borrowed from the Federal Government would be under the provisions of the Cramton act. The bill was drafted as a result of extensive conferences between the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission and the National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

The bill, while crediting the bond issue against the metropolitan district of Montgomery, also authorizes the commissioners of Prince Georges County to issue necessary bonds, if they elect to take advantage of the Cramton law. It carries an enabling clause leaving Prince Georges' participation to the discretion of the county

EMPLOYES PROTEST PLAN TO SELL WORLD

Bidding Battle for Papers Seen as Paul Block Makes Offer.

New York, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Employes of the New York World—3,000 of them, their spokesman said—raised a united protest in surrogate's court today against sale to the Scripps-Howard interests of the newspaper on which they earn their livelihood.

So Paul Block, publisher of seven newspapers from Brooklyn to Los Angeles, made what he called "a better offer" than that of Roy Howard and his group, and announced that if the three sons of Joseph Pulitzer would sell the New York World to him he would give the employes 45 days in which to buy it from him at the same terms.

And Surrogate James A. Foley deferred until tomorrow morning, or later, his decision as to whether it is legally possible, under the rigid Pulitzer will, for the sons to dispose of the Morning, Evening and Sunday World.

What began late yesterday as a perfunctory action to merge the World papers with the New York Telegram, and supposedly to unite all in one evening newspaper, to be called the World-Telegram, became today an impassioned hearing at which the men who work on the World pleaded for a chance to continue on a cooperative basis a newspaper "with traditions worth preserving—the traditions of Joseph Pulitzer."

It culminated in a written offer by Model City Planned Here for Child Care

Commissioners Asked to Study Needs for Welfare Work; House Committee Approves Free Food Bill for Schools.

Washington is to be the model for the world in the care of its children, the House District committe declared yesterday in adopting a resolution introduced by Representative Clarence J. McLeod (Republican), Michigan.

The resolution calls on the District Commissioners to make a survey of conditions affecting the lives of children in the District, and to submit recommendations designed to make conditions "of education and environment conductive to the highest ultimate development of child life."

Language of the resolution was so broad as to put up to the District Commissioners responsibility for recommending whatever may be needed to help the children of the city.

Adoption of the resolution followed approval by the committee of the McLeod bill, providing $30,000 for free food for the school children in the National ...tal. The bill was favorably reported to the House by a vote of six to five, Representative Frederick N. Zihlman (Republican), Maryland, casting the deciding vote.

Representative Mary T. Norton (Democrat), New Jersey, fought for aproval for the bill and directed some criticism of Mrs. Giles Scott Rafter, former president of the Parent-Teacher Association of the District, for opposing the bill. Mrs. Rafter, Representative Norton said, had sought to interest her in the subject in the first place. Mrs. Norton, in brief clashes with Representatives Loofbourow, of Utah, and Palmer, of Missouri, declared that where there was doubt she preferred to resolve that doubt in favor of hungry children.

The vote of the committee to report the bill showed that those who favored a favorable report were Representatives Zihlman, McLeod, Sullivan, Pennsylvania, Howell, Wisconsin, Norton and Patman, of Texas. Those who voted against the bill were Hull (Indiana), Palmer (Missouri), Whitley (New York), Loofbourow and Carver (Georgia).

It was toward the end of the committee meeting that Representative McLeod presented his resolution.

Congress, the resolution said, is going to make Washington the finest place in the world for children, if it is within its power. The commissioners were requested to make their survey with the aid of existing official agencies and to enlist such unofficial agencies and persons as might be helpful in the study.

"Resolved," the resolution said, "by the committee on the District of Columbia, that the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia be, and they are hereby, requested to direct and supervise a study of the Mayor Mackey, Disguised, Sleeps in Jobless Haven

Philadelphia City Head Often Visits Unemployed Throngs Being Sheltered and Fed Through Municipal Funds, It Is Revealed.

Philadelphia, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Mayor Harry A. Mackey, disguised as one of the unemployed, has eaten and slept in the shelter for homeless men conducted by the city committee for unemployment relief, he revealed today.

The mayor spent whole nights at the institution in order, he said, to get first-hand information concerning the manner in which it is being conducted and, he intimated, to see that the jobless men were being treated satisfactorily.

He made the disclosure at a conference in his office with representatives of several thousand men, the main body of whom were holding a mass meeting on City Hall Plaza.

During the presentment of demands, one of which was that the city pay jobless men $15 a week, William Simons, spokesman for the group, criticized conditions at the shelter.

"Don't you tell me anything about the shelter," the mayor retorted. "I go there constantly. I mingle with the men and sleep there under disguise. I spend a great deal of my salary there. I've been all through the place seeing things for myself."

Leaders of the meeting on the plaza paraded from Independence Hall, carrying banners criticising the mayor and the police. The parade and meeting went on without disorder while extra police stood by.

BOTH PARTIES GIVEN ORDERS ON DRY PLANKS

33 National Prohibition Bodies Outline Demands for 1932 Fight.

STRATEGY BOARD WILL LEAD BATTLE

Units Named in Each State to Wage Determined Drive for Amendment.

(Associated Press.)

Leaders of 33 national dry organizations yesterday served notice upon both political parties that they would exert all the pressure at their command to obtain dry planks and dry candidates for the 1932 presidential race.

After protracted debate, the national conference of organizations supporting the eighteenth amendment, at its final day of executive sessons, apponted a new "board of strategy" to attend both party conventions with this end in view.

The so-called strategy board would consist of not less than fifteen members. The resolution authorized it "to have charge of the campaign for dry planks and candidates and for necessary operation s prior to, at and following the national political party conventions of 1932."

Constitution Rewritten.

Previously the conference had drastically rewritten its constitution. Authorization was given to establish politico-dry fighting units in each of the 48 States, each to be comprised of local or State organizations. Two representatives of these State branches would be admitted to the national conference.

One board of strategy, consisting of fifteen members, already had been elected, but to avoid confusion its name was changed to an "executive committee." This group will guide the activities of the 33 combined dry organizations between the national conferences.

Dr. P. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Antisaloon League, explained yesterday, after the appointment of the political board of strategy, that a similar method had been followed in the 1928 campaign.

Committee Served in 1928.

"At that time," he said, "we had a committee of dry leaders. Headquarters were established at both Kansas City and Houston, and we were given hearings before both platform committees. We made ourselves known to the leaders of both parties and strongly urged the selection of candidates favoring prohibition.

"The two platforms contained exactly what we had asked, but one of the candidates fell off his platform."

Later the conference laid the foundation for a widespread campaign through the country in behalf of prohibition.

Work Extension Urged.

It adopted unanimously a resolution recommending an extension of the work of each organization "by speaking campaigns, the holding of prohibition institutes, increased publicity, a larger distribution of literature, and wherever and whenever possible the increased use of the radio, the public forum and the moving picture."

The names of five of the dry leaders who will serve on the political board of strategy were announced. They were Dr. Ernest Cherrington, secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism; Mrs. Ella A. Boole, ...esident of the W. C. T. U.; E. L. Crawford, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South; Dr. Edwin C. Dinwiddie, of the National Temperance Bureau, and Dr. Renwick Martin, of the National Reform Federation.

The remaining ten or more members will be named after adjournment of the conference by the enlarged executive committee, six members of which are yet to be elected.

DEATH STORY DETAILS RIDE WITH CORPSE

BODY SHOWN FRIENDS AFTER DEATH, CLAIM

MRS. PHOEBE STADER.

A macaber tale is rapidly unfolding itself to the authorities of Rahway, N. J., as they delve into the facts behind the slaying of a pretty 32-year-old woman, whose body was found in the woods scarcely 50 yards off the Richmond-Washington highway Saturday aftrenoon by a Negro laborer.

It is a story that ranks in lurid qualities with some of the better known tales of Edgar Allan Poe. As the weight of the county is launched behind a determined investigation, the reputed facts are building up another tale of the eternal triangle.

The woman is now identified "beyond any shadow of a doubt," authorities state, as Mrs. Phoebe Stader, a beauty shop operator, whose affections presumably led to her death. Her grief-stricken husband, Louis Stader, yesterday went over the corpse with care and pointed out no less than five identifying marks which proved, he said, that the dead woman was Mrs. Stader.

Suspected Man Held.

On the heels of his assertions, word came from Raleigh, N. C., that William M. Frazer, 31-year-old companion of Mrs. Stader, had been arrested there and was being held for New Jersey authorities.

It is Frazer who is alleged to have driven the woman's corpse through the streets of Rahway, while he awakened a group of his friends about midnight of February 17 and had them unwittingly help him with the dead woman. And Frazer, now in a cell in Raleigh, has girded himself for a bitter fight, having retained a Raleigh attorney to resist extradition proceedings.

The weird story emanating from Rahway is that Frazer and Mrs. Stader had been somewhat friendly over a period of two years, while he spent a $25,000 inheritance. During most of this time, the woman's husband had been out of work, and they were forced to move from commodious quarters to a rooming house.

Death Threat Alleged.

As a note of frigidity crept into Mrs. Stader's esteem for Frazer the latter is said to have responded with a death threat. Frazer meanwhile had left his wife to center his attentions on the attractive Mrs. Stader.

Mrs. Stader was last seen alive on February 16. The following night her corpse was seen in Frazer's car, propped up in a life-like position in the front seat, according to Martin Jensen, 20-year-old cousin of Stader. He said he had been called from his home and had driven about Rahway with Frazer and the corpse while Frazer had attempted to gather courage to take his own life.

When his nerve failed, Frazer drove Jensen to his home, dropped by his own home to see his wife, and told her he had slain Mrs. Stader and was going away, it is claimed. He was next definitely placed in Raleigh, where he was arrested when he claimed a letter written to him under an assumed name.

Went Through Three States.

The discovery of the badly mutilated body near Doswell, Va., Saturday started the investigation that eventually led to a reconstruction of the death. Police say that Stader drove south in his car with the body, and that he carried it through three States on his jaunt.

They charge that he became panic stricken on the nocturnal trip, and that shortly after leaving Fredericksburg he decided to dispose of the gruesome object. The body was then dumped on the ground and dragged to a point where it was unlikely to be discovered, and Fraser continued his Southern trip.

But for the timely discovery by the Negro laborer, the corpse might have

DOZEN SHUN G. O. P. CAUCUS SET TONIGHT

Fight of Speaker Longworth Reaches Serious Stage; Insurgents Rise.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The fight of Speaker Longworth to retain the leadership of the House has reached the serious stage with the caucus of House Republicans scheduled for tonight and the announced intention of at least a dozen independent Republicans to remain away.

Assurance has been given by Chairman Hawley of the ways and means committee that the caucus, which is for the purpose of agreeing upon the Republican slate of the House officials to be elected next December, will not be binding, but some of the Northwestern members, in order to avoid any possible misunderstanding, plan to absent themselves anyway. Their determination is not to tie themselves up on the question of the speakership until they have enforced their agricultural demands.

This serves to show the influence the so-called insurgents will have in the next House. In the final analysis, it is believed Speaker Longworth will be renamed or at least renominated by the Republicans, and they still have a two-vote margin in the next House, a margin which, however, may be upset by deaths in their ranks. But the price Longworth will have to pay by way of concessions to the insurgent group becomes increasingly apparent when their threat to remain away from the caucus, more or less in the rumor or grumbling stage for several weeks, develops to be a definite determination.

Representative Christgau, of Minnesota, announced publicly yesterday that he was one of those who would not attend the caucus.

"Legislation of vital importance to agriculture," he said, "has been placed in jeopardy by continued delay, for which the present House leadership is entirely responsible.

"I interpret the calling of the caucus to meet at this time as a move to tie the Republicans to the present leadership. I want to be free to carry the fight for greater consideration for the Northwest to the floor of the House when the new Congress meets next December. By doing so I feel there is a possibility of securing a Republican leadership that will help, rather than hinder, the enactment of legislation of vital concern to my section of the country."

Others who intend to bolt the caucus are LaGuardia, of New York; Maas, of Minnesota, and Schneider, of Wisconsin. Schneider estimated

Cache of 500 Library Books Is Laid to Former Teacher

Zealous Student Will Be Asked to Explain Removal of Volumes, Found in Basement of Apartment Here, From Congressional Institution.

A zealous student who last year was enrolled in the George Washington University Law School, and who was at one time a teacher of history in the Washington High Schools, is being sought for questioning by police and officials of the Library of Congress as the result of his alleged connection with a cache of 500 books of the library found yesterday.

The man, whose services in the high schools were terminated at the end of his probationary period, was employed in the library and his official connection there, with the attendant possibility of taking the books out, explains, it was said, how so many books came to get away from the library without ...

The books, many of them ancient tomes on law, are still reposing in the basement of an apartment house on Clifton street near Fourteenth street northwest, where they were found. Martin A. Roberts, attached to the Library, saw them and identified them as the property of the library.

Library officials said that certain priceless books had been missing from the law library for some time, but there had never been a satisfactory answer as to where they went until the 500 were found. It was also explained that many of the books are out of date and would be of small value to a present-day law ...

The body was taken from Bowling Green early last night to Milford, Va., where, at 9:20 it was placed on an R. F. & P. train for Washington. The husband and a Rahway detective accompanied it. After arriving here the party awaited a train for Rahway, where all the elements are being assembled by the police of that city.

Identifying Mark Explained.

The burn on the right leg of the corpse, which was taken as the chief identifying mark by those who believed the body to be that of Miss Mary Cleo Freeman, was explained to police satisfactorily when Mr. Stader told them his wife had a scar on the right leg as the result of an injury years ago.

Virginia police are emphatic in their assertions that they believe Mr. Stader is correct in his identification. They say that telling points in his story, one about a reducing girdle his wife wore when corpulency threatened to destroy her svelte figure, and the other about her calloused toes are borne out in a close examination.

They were willing to abandon the Freeman identification completely when her presence in a hotel, days after the murder, was established.

Views Are in Conflict.

Meanwhile, in Rahway, Frazer was being painted as a modern Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde by his wife and his mother. To the former "he never told the truth about anything," while to the latter he is "the dearest boy that ever lived."

Mrs. Frazer, the wife, told police of a conference in which she had accused her husband of intimacy with Mrs. Stader and demanded that it cease. "It's a good thing I never met her in the street," Mrs. Frazer said, after outlining the gossip she had heard from friends. She added that she had not believed her husband, when he awoke her with the story of having slain Mrs. Stader.

The mother blamed her daughter-in-law for Frazer's troubles. "His wife was jealous of me. I lived with them a year and she put me out. If she had taken proper care of him this thing never would have happened," she asserted. "They were both drunk when this thing happened," she added, in giving her opinion of the case.

$85,000 LOOT TAKEN IN 4 BANK HOLDUPS

Robbers Escape in Dayton, Hastings, New Orleans and Burlington.

(Associated Press.)

Seventeen bandits harvested about $85,000 in four bank robberies yesterday at Hastings, Nebr.; Dayton, Ohio; New Orleans, and Burlington, Wis.

The robberies at Hastings and Dayton took place early in the day. At Hastings the thre bandits entered the Hastings Bank at 6 o'clock and bound and gagged thirteen officers and employes as they appeared. The thirteen had all been taken to the basement when the time lock on the bank's safe opened at 8:45 o'clock. The robbers scooped up $27,173 in gold, silver and currency, and fled.

The hold-up at Dayton came ten minutes after the bank opened. Three men entered the central branch of the Union Trust Co., forced employes into a rear room and escaped with betwen $18,000 and $20,000. The robbers calmly remove dtheir masks as they carried the loot to an automobile—in which two companions were waiting.

Five men robbed the bank of Burlington, at Burlington, Wis., using a machine gun. They took between $10,000 and $12,000.

At New Orleans police chased the three hooded bandits who, with a confederate in the car, were escaping, taking $26,000 from a branch of the Whitney Bank & Trust Co. Several shots were fired in the case, one pedestrian was hit by a wild shot, but the robbers escaped. Shots were exchanged over a quarter of a mile. People in the narrow streets dropped to safety from the flying bullets. The pedestrian who was hit not seriously hurt.

Rock Creek-Potomac Parkway Work to Open

By means of funds made available by the District appropriation bill, the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks soon will be able to start work on a section of the Rock Creek and Potomac Parkway, between the Potomac River and Pennsylvania avenue, Lieut. F. B. Butler, assistant director, said yesterday.

Plans already have been prepared, and men probably wkill start grading between the foot of B street and Pennsylvania avenue bridge within the next ten days, he said. Before July, he added, construction will begin on a bridge near K street as a part of the roadway.

Cadillac Leases Site For Headquarters Here

A three-story building at 1138-1140 Connecticut avenue and property at 1139 Eighteenth street northwest has been leased as headquarters and salesrooms of the Kempton-Cadillac Corporation, which will act as agent for the corporatio nin Washington.

The lease is from Arthur S. Mattingly, trustee, and was negotiated by the H. G. Smithy Co., of Washington, assisted by the Riker Realty Co., of New Yorkn The corporation has also rented from Brown Bros. the building at 1222 Twenty-second street northwest, for use as a service station. It will remodel the front and redecorate the interior of its connecticut avenue quarters.

EARLY ACCORD SEEN FOR SHORT SESSION

Conferees Given Proposal, With Agreement on Tangles Forecast.

(Associated Press.)

An early agreement on the proposed constitutional amendment to abolish the last, or "lame duck," session of Congress was predicted last night as congressional conferees attempted to adjust differences between the House and Senate.

It was sent to conference yesterday when the Senate rejected the Gifford substitute to the Norris resolution which was adopted overwhelmingly Tuesday night by the House. The proposal by Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, has been approved six times by the Senate.

Differences Explained.

In asking the Senate to send the House substitute to conference, Senator Norris said: "All difficulties can easily be ironed out, I think."

The chief difference between the Senate resolution and the House substitute is the provision in the matter limiting the length of the extra session. This was insised upon by Speaker Longworth, but Senator Norris said today he thought it was "awful bad."

The Nebraskan, however, would not say he would not yield.

Conferees were appointed by both houses and they planned to hold the first session today. The Senate named Norris and Senators Borah (Republican), Idaho, and Walsh (Democrat), Montana. The House named Representatives Gifford, Massachusetts, and Perkins, New Jersey (Republicans), and Jeffers, Alabama (Democrat).

Others Called Slight.

Other differences between the Norris and Gifford resolutions were characterized by Mr. Norris as of "slight impotance." He did, however, give some weight to the House provision authorizing Congress to pass a law for the election of a President in the event the House was unable to settle such a controversy.

Both the Senate and House resolutions do away with the present sessions of an old Congress after a new one has been elected. The Senate would have Congress meet on January 2 following an election. The House bill fixed January 4 for the session to begin.

The House fixed May 4 for the end of the second session. The Senate resolution also would provide for inauguration of the President on January 15. The House resolution fixed this date at January 24.

Suitland Opposes Water Extension

Hope of 3 Towns Wanes as Proposal Is Rapped Due to Tax Increase.

Hope for a water and sewer system for the towns of District Heights, Boulevard Heights and Bradbury Heights waned last night when about 90 citizens of Suitland went on record as opposing an extension of the Suburban Sanitary Commission's district. Residents of the first three towns had been told that a bill authorizing the extension would be granted if Suitland would join in the request.

The meeting last night turned down the proposition because it would raise taxes, although the other three towns are said to be nearly without water, due to drying up of wells. A representative of the sanitary commission spoke last night, explaining the plan, and Pinkney Magruder and J. Frank Lillard spoke against the proposed legislation. George S. Van Osterman presided over the meeting, which was held in the Suitland community hall.

Actress Amends Griffith Charges

Fern Setril Omits Claim of Promised Job in Suit for Assault.

Los Angles, Calif., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—An amended complaint was filed today by attorneys for Fern Setril, 22-year-old actress, who began suit yesterday against David Wark Griffith, 51, film producer, asking $601,000 damages for an alleged criminal assault.

The amended complaint contained identical charges that Mr. Griffith lured her to his apartment, but omitted reference to an assertion the director induced the girl to accompany him on the pretense he would give her an important role in the film, "Abraham Lincoln."

Miss Setril alleged the attack occurred on June 28, 1930. Mr. Griffith, in denying the charges, pointed out the picture she referred to was completed some time before that date.

Court records showed Miss Setril obtained a divorce last January 7 from Frank X. Setril on grounds of cruelty. Mr. Setril, in answer to the charges, claimed she had been guilty of misconduct.

4 Killed as Train Plunges Into River

Reports Indicate Engineer Was Ill Before Run in Alabama.

Mobile, Ala., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—The locomotive and one car of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad's Pan-American Special, bound from New Orleans to Cincinnati, plunged through an open draw bridge over the Mobile River, 18 miles north of here, early today, carrying four tranimen to their deaths.

Statements of a relative and railroad officials indicated Arthur Ingram, engineer, who was killed in the plunge, was ill before he started the run, and that he may have been dead from heart failure when the train ran through the open draw.

Eighteen passengers, asleep in the first Pullman of the train, narrowly escaped death as their car tilted and hung precariously over the brink of the drawbridge. All made their way safely from the car. Besides Ingram, others killed were J. Nick Vaughn, baggage man; Ezekiel Crumpton, Negro fireman, and L. Whippe, a Negro porter. All the dead were from Montgomery.

AGREEMENT SOUGHT ON OIL IMPORT CURB

Subgroup of House Rushes Action in an Effort for Early Legislation.

(Associated Press.)

A compromise agreement on proposals to limit oil importations into the United States was sought last night by a House subcommittee in an effort to obtain legislation this session.

Meanwhile there appeared little likelihood of any action before adjournment on a measure to embargo the products of forced labor. The Senate finance committee yesterday voted 8 to 6 against it.

Groups opposing and favoring oil limitation legislation conferred yesterday with Speaker Longworth. The result was the appointment of a House ways and means subcommittee to seek a compromise.

Will Resume Today.

The first meeting of this group broke up without acting after a three-hour session. It will resume today in a last-minute drive to frame a satisfactory compromise that will permit House action this session.

Meanwhile, dissatisfied with the delay, some representatives from oil territory started a canvass of interested States with the view of pursuading a large block of Republicans to absent themselves from the party caucus tonight as a protest against the failure to act.

A New England House delegation protested to Mr. Longworth against further consideration of measures aimed at foreign oil. Representatives of the midcontinental oil territory urged further consideration.

Subcommittee Delegated.

The subcommittee delegated to find a middle ground consists of Chairman Hawley, of the ways and means committee; Representatives Treadway, of Massachusetts, and Bacharach, of New Jersey, all Republicans. They will meet with experts of the tariff commission and Bureau of Mines.

Representative Hoch (Republican), Kansas, will serve as counsel for the independents, and Representative Nelson (Republican), Maine, for the opposition.

Particular attention will be given to drafting a compromise permitting the entry of fuel oil, the basis of New England opposition.

Rev. J. C. Geale Dies in California

Jesuit Father Was Widely Known Here in Church and School Circles.

Word has been received in Washington of the death last Friday of the Rev. John C. Geale, S. J., at St. Catherine's Hospital, Santa Monica, Calif.

Father Geale was widely known in educational and religious circles of Washington and throughout the country.

He was a native of Asbury Park, N. J., where he bas born in 1875. He entered the novitiate of the Society of Jesus at Frederick, Md., in 1892. Before ordination to the priesthood he was a professor at Georgetown College. In June, 1907, Father Geale was ordained at Woodstock, Md.

In July, 1910, Father Geale was appointed vice president of Gonzaga College, where he remained until August, 1915, when he was assigned to the faculty of Loyola College, Baltimore, Md. In 1918 he was appointed rector of Holy Trinity Church, Georgetown, D. C. From there he was appointed in July, 1922, as president of Gonzaga College and rector of St. Aloysius Church, Washington, D. C.

Ill health necessitated Father Geale's relief from administrative duties in 1927. He was a member of Keane Council No. 358, K. of C., of this city, and also a member of the fourth degree. Father Geale was buried in California.

Fairfax Man Is Shot; Police Hold Another

William David Dudley, about 50 years of age, of Fairfax, was in a serious condition at Alexandria City Hospital last night from shotgun wounds in his thighs, according to Fairfax County authorities. It is not believed it will be necessary to amputate the man's leg, but hospital attaches said the wounds were severe.

Dudley was shot, authorities say, after an argument at the home of Bob Hohenstein, of Wellington Villa, below Alexandria, in Fairfax County. Hohenstein is a brother of Dudley's William Curtan,33, was taken to Fairwife, according to the Fairfax officers. fax County Jail and held on a charge of felonious assault in connection with the shooting.

Ship of Ill Luck Is Facing Auction

Steamer Hopatcong Awaits Sale at Baltimore After Hectic Voyage.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—With the log of her maiden voyage chronicling a near mutiny, the stabbing of her captain and the locking of her mate in irone, the steamer Hopatcong today faced the auction block.

Edgar T. Bell, attorney, named receiver for the ship when she reached Baltimore after a stormy passage with her original deck crew gone, announced the intention of placing the ship under the hammer.

The Hopatcong was purchased last year by the Jersey American Steamship Co. from the Shipping Board and sent to the Black Sea. The ship is 417 feet long, has a gross tonnage of 6,600 and cost $2,000,000 to build

COMMITTEE VOTES BLAINE REALTY BILL

Licensing Measure Now Is Expected to Become Law This Session.

Favorable report on the Blaine bill providing for licensing of real estate brokers and salesmen was voted yesterday by the House District committee.

Action of the committee puts the bill before the House. It is expected the bill will be approved and made a law before adjournment of the present Congress.

Indorsement of the two other Blaine bills was withheld by the committee. These deal with governmental regulation of the sale of securities in the District and with foreclosure of mortgages.

There is little opposition to the bill to license real estate brokers and salesmen, but there is considerable opposition to the bill proposing to regulate sale of securities and foreclosure of mortgages and it is not likely that these measures will be enacted by this Congress. Senator Blaine is not especially concerned about the probable failure of the securities bill, believing that enactment of the mortgage foreclosure and the real estate licensing measure will meet many of the difficulties which have existed here in the past.

Francis Addison, jr., led the attack on the Blaine bills before the House District committee yesterday and Representative Hull (Republican), Wisconsin, led the fight for their approval. Representative Putman (Democrat), Texas, gave him aid, declaring that it is extremely important that the investing public be protected.

Disapproval was not expressed on either of the other Blaine bills, consideration merely being postponed until a special meeting of the committee this morning.

Ousted Policeman Gets Jail Term

Leroy E. Batchelor Given 30 Days and Fine on Driving Charge.

Leroy E. Batchelor, whose dismissal from the police force was recommended Tuesday by the Police Trial Board, was sentenced yesterday in Police Court to serve 30 days in jail on a reckless driving charge and to pay a fine of $100, or serve a 30-day sentence on a charge of leaving after colliding.

Judge Schuldt, at suggestion of Assistant Corporation Counsel Edward Wellver, ordered Batchelor to a hospital. Explanation was that the man had been suffering from influenza.

Batchelor was convicted two weeks ago by a Police Court jury in connection with a collision between his automobile and that of William Neville, of Seventh street northwest, near Quincy street.

At the time of the accident Batchelor is alleged to have been fleeing from the home of his father-in-law, a police lieutenant, where he is alleged to have fired several shots through a window after being refused permission to see his wife. The State of Virginia is seeking his return to that jurisdiction on an assault charge, and the matter still is pending.

Proctor Is Confirmed For District Judgeship

Appointment of James M. Proctor to be a judge on the bench of the District Supreme Court was confirmed by the Senate yesterday.

Mr. Proctor is a Washington lawyer and was appointed by President Hoover to fill the vacancy created by the appointment of Justice William Hitz to the District Court of Appeals. The Senate also confirmed Judge Isaac R. Hitt, of the District Police Court, for another term.

Steel Production Reported Gaining

Orders for Tin Plate, Pipe and Track Materials Are Increasing.

New York, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—The iron and steel industry maintains its upward trend, although the rate of gain is still gradual, the weekly trade reviews reported today.

Iron Age placed current ingot production at 52 per cent of capacity, a rise of 1 per cent. Business from the automobile manufacturers has shown further improvement, this review said, and specifications for pipe, tin plate and track materials continue to increase.

"Purchases of steel by the automobile industry are the largest since last September. In most cases the orders—largely for sheets and strips—are to cover immediate production requirements. Ford assemblies, which totaled 55,000 in January, are expected to reach 75,000 this month and may run as high as 100,000 in March. Other motor car makers are increasing their schedules."

Chemists Appoint Dr. C. L. Parsons

Secretary of Society First to Be Selected for Business Manager.

Dr. Charles L. Parsons, of Washington, has been appointed business manager of the American Chemical Society, it was announced yesterday. He is the first to be appointed to the position which was created by the board of directors of the society.

Dr. Parsons has been secretary of the society since 1907. Internationally known as a consulting chemist, he was educated at Cornell University, University of Maine and the University of Pittsburgh. He was professor of chemistry of New Hampshire College from 1890 to 1911.

As business manager of the American Chemical Society, Dr. Parsons will administer the centralized business affairs of the organization. The membership of the society is approximately 16,000.

French Defense Bond Interest Is Lowered

Paris, France, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—The ministry of finance today approved an order reducing the interest on French national defense bonds from 3 to 2½ per cent.

A communique said that the reduction was justified by the situation of the money market. In financial circles it was held that the order was largely a result of the scheme of cooperation between French and British treasury officials who recently dis-

BOSTON POLICE HALT REDS AND JOBLESS

Eight Persons Arrested; Riots Are Reported in Other Sections.

(Associated Press.)

Echoes of the Russian observance of "International Unemployment Day," moving westward with the sun across the world yesterday, brought scattered demonstrations and disorders to Europe and North America. Three were killed in Leipsic and lists of injured grew. Many went to jail.

From factory meetings and lectures in Moscow, where A. Losovsky, trade union secretary general, said "It is estimated that more than 30,000,000 are without work in capitalistic states, while in the U. S. S. R. there is no unemployment." Agitators took up the cry. Speeches, banners, songs and parades resulted in battles and rioting in a dozen European countries and in many disturbances west of the Atlantic.

Eight Are Arrested.

In a crowd of several thousand persons on historic Boston Common, 250 police engaged in several melees with disorderly Communist demonstrators augmented by unemployed, making eight arrests. Demonstrators were dispersed in Pittsburgh and 28 were taken to jail. A thousand took part in a Philadelphia demonstration, but police kept it orderly.

Six hundred met and paraded in St. Louis, Mo., but dispersed quietly. A Kansas City march to the city hall had its anticlimax when three leaders accepted proffered city pick and shovel jobs and a woman demonstrator took another job for her husband.

County officers arrested four and dispersed a gathering in Oklahoma City, confiscating banners and a red flag.

In Denver, a police escort kept orderly a parade of 800, carrying placards, which marched to the Colorado State Capitol.

In Salt Lake City, police were armed with hand grenades anticipating trouble, but several hundred men and women marched from the city and county building to the State Capitol, to petition the legislature for help, without signs of disorder.

Reasonably Quiet in Europe.

London, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Heralded as a world-wide protest against unemployment, this "international unemployment day" passed in reasonable quiet throughout Europe save for demonstrations in scattered cities.

There were demonstrations in several major cities but in all save one instance the jobless confined their activities to speech-making.

The one exception was Leipsic, where police charged a parade of Communists, killing three and wounding five.

Vienna, where the most serious trouble had been expected, was without any major disturbance, perhaps because the police previously had rounded up a number of suspected Communists. There was no disorder at Prague. Bucharest was quiet, and so was Belgrade.

In Paris police guarded the principal streets leading to the square where a mass meeting was to have been held and there was no serious disorder.

At Milan, where the Transatlantic flier Balbo was being greeted, police precautions prevented any demonstrations.

Berlin's Communists were a little more aggressive and police dispersed a mob which tried to storm the labor office. At Barcelona there were minor disorders.

Spanish Parades Checked.

Efforts of Communists to stage strikes and demonstrations were checked through Spain with no serious disorders reported. Extra police continued to patrol the streets of principal cities tonight as a precaution.

Police restrained attempts of Communists to start parades and strikes in Barcelona and Seville without difficulty. Half a dozen leaders were arrested in the latter city.

true. Congress will soon adjourn. I earnestly urge you in behalf of the citizens of the State of Pennsylvania, our Nation, my family, and myself to fully inquire into the accusation and make your conclusions public before the adjournment of this Congress."

Adding to his prepared statement, Mr. Davis said:

"I am here, senator, subject to your call at any time, waive any immunity of any senatorial rights that I have, and I again want to repeat I will come at the call of this committee at any time they desire."

Questioned by Mr. Caraway, Mr. Davis said he acquired his stock in the Celotex Co. about 1925 or 1926. He testified he was not familiar with operations of the company.

"Were you ever in Mr. Dahlberg's office in New York?" Mr. Caraway asked.

Called Once or Twice.

"I do not think so," Mr. Davis replied.

"Did he ever come to see you here?"

"I think he called on me once or twice. I do not remember."

"Did you ever tell him what the rate of duty was likely to be in the tariff bill on sugar?"

"No; I paid but little attention to it. I could not tell you the schedule of the tariff bill."

"Did you ever talk with Mr. Dahlberg over the telephone from here to his office?"

"I do not remember. I may have talked to him, yes."

"Frequently?"

"No, I do not suppose I talked to him more than once or twice in my life."

Mr. Davis explained he had talked to him about rumors the company was going into the hands of receivers.

"You never discussed any other question with him?" Mr. Caraway asked.

Discussion Limited.

"No, I never discussed anything else with him other than—I never discussed any matter with him about that particular phase of the company or its workings."

"What particular phase, I do not understand?"

"I did not discuss with him anything about the tariff or anything of that kind."

"Was the company interested in the tariff on sugar?"

"Yes."

"They wanted a higher tariff?"

"I could not tell you if they wanted one high or low."

"How did you know they were interested if you did not know which way they wanted the tariff?"

"I did not know. I understood they were interested in sugar. They were going to use the common part of the sugar for making glass."

Not Told of Interest.

"You do not remember the occasion of him telling you their interest in the tariff?"

"No."

"I might say to you," Mr. Davis added, "that this was going around last fall. I spent a good deal of time trying to run it down and trying to get it before this Nye committee, because of the fact that a statement was made that a $10,000 campaign contribution was made to me by Mr. Dahlberg and I have not recorded it, and I wanted to get that run down."

"Was there any campaign contribution?" Mr. Caraway asked.

"No, he never talked to me about a campaign contribution and if he had given it I would have accepted it and published it."

BILL IN MARYLAND PLANS PARK BONDS

commissioners, and is said to have the approval of some of that county's political leaders who believe that Prince Georges should join in the movement. Some fear is felt, however, that the present is not an advantageous time to shoulder an additional tax which a bond issue would bring about, even though the proposed act would not become effective for eight years. The bill would provide a 7-cent park tax, without any increase in the general county tax rate, to take care of the retirement of the bonds.

The Montgomery plan, as set forth in the bill, is for the State to commit itself to the repayment of one-third of the amount which the county proposes to borrow. It is pointed out that $4,500,000 is available under the Cramton act for the purchase of park lands in the two counties in the event that Prince Georges County takes advantage of the loan, based upon a ratio of two-fifths to that county and three-fifths to Montgomery County. Of this amount $1,500,000 would be a gift from the Federal Government and the remaining $3,000,000 would be a noninterest bearing loan.

The sum to be charged against Montgomery County for repayment under the Federal legislation would be approximately $1,800,000, applying the three-fifths ratio to the total $3,000,000 loan.

The proposed $1,200,000 loan assumes that the State will repay the Federal Government $600,000, or one-third of the amount of the loan to be expended in Montgomery County.

In addition to the $1,800,000 of the loan, Montgomery County would be eligible to receive approximately $900,000 as its share of the $1,500,000 "gift" authorized in the Cramton act to go with the loan. The remainder would go to Prince Georges if it took full advantage of the loan provision.

While the bonds would be issued in the name of the planning commission, the bill provides that the two counties must guarantee the payment of interest and principal.

The measure authorizes the commission to borrow a sum not to exceed $300,000 on its promissory note for the purposes of policing such parks as are now in existence, and to provide playgrounds and other recreational facilities. These notes would be repaid from the park tax before the issuance of the bonds.

The bonds, if issued at once, would not begin bearing interest for eight years. It is calculated that the $200,000 can be refunded during that pe-

EMPLOYES PROTEST PLAN OF WORLD SALE

Mr. Block to Herbert, Joseph and Ralph Pulitzer, as trustees of their father's estate, in which he proposed that he buy the paper, pay cash for it and give the employes a month and a half to acquire it from him.

The brothers may consider the offer if Judge Foley rules that the paper is salable. If they decide to accept it they may submit a contract of sale to the surrogate for his approval.

Block and his attorney, Max D. Steuer, did not say how much they offered for the World papers. The Scripps-Howard papers had offered $5,000,000—$2,000,000 of it conditional on profits to be earned.

It was deemed possible that disposal of the Worlds, if approved by the surrogate, might develop into a bidding scramble for Herbert Bayard Swope, former executive editor of the world, indicated today that a group which he heads would be interested in the papers.

The employes' uprising began at midnight this morning and rapidly gained a momentum which carried it into court and into the forefront of the negotiations.

The first intimation of the proposed sale came to employes, their counsel told Surrogate Foley today, in a City News Association bulletin Tuesday afternoon.

At midnight they gathered, elected City Editor James Barrett, of the morning World, as their spokesman, and drew up a petition to Surrogate Foley, asking him not to allow the sale of the World.

CAPONE IN U.S. COURT ON CONTEMPT COUNT

Gangster Appears and Hears He Was Too Sick to Come in 1929.

Chicago, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Al Capone, bulky and swarthy, leisurely leaned back in a chair in Federal Court today and calmly listened to the Government's case intended to show he was in contempt for failure to appear before a grand jury in March, 1929.

Jacob Grossman, an assistant district attorney, argued Capone's claim of illness was untrue. Witnesses testified the gangster chief made an airplane trip to the Bahamas, a boat trip to Nassau and attended the Jack Sharkey-Young Stribling boxing bout at Miami during the period of his claimed illness. Contempt may carry a jail sentence.

Capone's trip to court was a duplicate of previous visits to the Federal Building.

Smiling, affable, apparently at ease, the "scarfaced one" told reporters, "I'm just a goat," when asked about yesterday's primary election.

"Foolish," he called the charge that he gave $150,000 to Mayor Thompson's campaign.

After the Federal proceedings, Capone will appear in municipal court to answer Judge John H. Lyle's vagrancy warrant. He made bond of $80,000 today during the noon recess.

The contempt proceedings grew out of a grand jury subpoena in March, 1929. The jury was investigating incomes. A continuance was granted by Judge Wilkerson when a doctor's affidavit, showing Al was ill, was presented.

Capone's first witness was Dr. Kenneth Phillips, of Miami, who signed the affidavit to the effect that it would be dangerous for Capone to come to Chicago. He described in detail how he had examined the gangster, diagnosed his case as acute bronchial pneumonia, and ordered him to stay in bed.

Dr. Phillips said it was still his opinion that Capone might have died had he been forced to come to Chicago when the Government first called him. He was still on the stand, ready to be cross-examined when court was adjourned until tomorrow morning.

INVESTIGATE DANCE HALL FIGHT

A Brooklyn, N. Y., "dime-a-dance" palace in which 500 couples swayed to jazz music was thrown into wild turmoil as gangsters banged out the lights and began shooting. One man was shot to death, another probably mortally wounded and a countless number bruised. Above is room where shooting occurred. Below, patrons waiting their turn to be questioned by police.

COUPLE CONVICTED OF COUNTERFEITING

Milarches Face Possibility of 60 Years in Jail on Bogus Money Charge.

Convicted yesterday by a District Supreme Court jury on a counterfeiting charge, Alfred and Isabel Milarch, both elderly, went to jail last night, faced with the possibility of spending 60 years in jail. Both were convicted on two counts of an indictment which charged manufacturing and possessing bogus money.

Milarch and the woman are said to have used the name of Lane during their activities. At the time of their arrest by police and Secret Service agents they are said to have had in their possession photo-engraved plates of several denominations of currency.

Assistant United States Attorneys James aR. Kirkland and James P. Hughes appeared for the Government and were forced to prosecute the case without producing any counterfeit bill. The fronts and back of "bogus" notes, alleged to have been seized at the time of the arrest, were offered to the jury.

Justice Oscar R. Luhring indicated that he would not pass sentence until the first Friday in March. Both defendants were committed.

Detectives Fined $2 On Traffic Charges

Two police detectives—C. H. Trammell and Benjamin Kuehling—were convicted yesterday in Police Court on traffic charges. Each was fined $2 by Judge Ralph Given.

Detective Trammell was arrested by Lieut. Milton Smith, of the Traffic Bureau, the allegation being that his automobile had been parked on a crosswalk near police headquarters. Kuehling responded to a ticket given him for parking in a restricted zone near police headquarters.

Movie Bandit Act Nets $1,500 Award

Bernard Brown, Shot in Neck by Girl, Wins Verdict From Jury.

That imitation of a movie bandit is costly, was disclosed yesterday when a District Supreme Court jury before Justice Frederick L. Siddons returned a verdict against George J. Hillow, of 901 Hamilton street northwest, assessing damages against him in the sum of $1,500. The verdict was in favor of Bernard Brown, of 1423 A street northeast.

Hillow, owner of a delicatessen establishment, according to testimony, kept a loaded pistol on a shelf in his establishment which his 12-year-old daughter, an employe, could reach. The daughter is said to have shot Brown in the neck after playfully demanding him to put up his hands. Attorneys Wilton J. Lambert and George D. Horning, jr., appeared for the plaintiff.

Senate Group Favors Increase in Bond Issue

(Associated Press.)

The House bill to authorize increasing by $8,000,000,000 the bond issue of $20,000,000,000 originally granted to finance the second Liberty loan was approved yesterday by the Senate finance committee.

The bill, which recently passed the House, would exempt any bonds issued under the measure from surtaxes, excess profits, and war profits taxes.

Hoover Asked to Pass Vacation in Minnesota

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday was invited to spend a vacation this summer at Pelican Rapids, Minn. The invitation was issued by Elmer A. Haugen on behalf of the Pelican Rapids Commercial Club, and was called to the President's attention by Representative Selvig of that State.

A lodge seven miles from the town, in the heart of Minnesota's park region and abundant fishing streams, was proffered Mr. Hoover.

Nations Open Parley On Future Wheat Crops

Paris, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Representatives of eleven nations were arriving here tonight for a meeting which is to talk over ways of disposing of future wheat harvests. Meanwhile, delegates from central and eastern European countries started for home following upon a conference which discussed means of marketing the 1930 excess wheat crop.

At the conference just closed, seventeen countries signed a resolution calling upon the delegates to do their utmost to stimulate the sale of Danubian wheat, but seven countries, including Great Britain, were not among the signatories.

Boyd J. Brown Named To Virgin Islands Post

Philadelphia, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Dr. Paul M. Pearson, recently appointed first civilian Governor of the Virgin Islands by President Hoover, today announced that Boyd J. Brown, of Norristown, Pa., has been chosen lieutenant governor of the islands.

Mr. Brown is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Janney Brown, Washington, D. C. He is a graduate of Swarthmore College, where Dr. Pearson was formerly a professor. At present he is managing secretary of the Charles J. Harrison estate of Philadelphia. He is 32 years old and is married with two children.

CALDWELL CO. HEAD WARNED OF FAILURE

Young Official Tells Court of Pleas With Chief Before Crashes.

Nashville, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—The story of two conscience-stricken junior officials pleading with their chief to save the great banking house of Caldwell & Co. and its Bank of Tennessee was told today from the witness stand of the investigating legislators by J. D. Carter, 38-year-old former vice president of the two institutions.

The witness, an $18,000-a-year man, typical young executive type, bared his heart to the committee probing the loss of State money in bank failures. He related his struggles between duty to his boss and duty to the public, his family and himself during the year preceding the bursting of his institutions last November that carred other banks down in the abyss.

In his anguish, he said, he pleaded with Rogers Caldwell, president of the institutions.

E. A. Goodloe, cashier of the Bank of Tenenssee, was quoted as sounding a warning of the danger ahead as far back as June 20, 1929, a year and a half before the collapse.

Carter charged his superiors with permitting the two institutions to go to destruction by "loose" and "irregular" business practices. He attributed part of the fall to Col. Luke Lea, who was associated with Caldwell & Co. in newspaper enterprises in Memphis and Knoxville.

Quick Trial Convicts Man of Housebreaking

Roland Rutley, who was indicted less than two weeks ago on a charge of housebreaking and larceny in connection with the robbery of a Connecticut avenue drug store, was convicted yesterday by a District Supreme Court jury before Justice Peyton Gordon. The trial, following indictment, is said to be the speediest ever recorded in the District.

Rutley was indicted jointly with James Berkowitz and Tony Risi. Berkowitz was acquitted by the jury that tried Rutley. Risi previously had pleaded guilty. Assistant United States Attorney John J. Sirica prosecuted the case against Rutley and Berkowitz, and alleged they had stolen almost $800 worth of whisky.

$1,000 Settlement In Death Contested

Order Restraining Compensation Body Sought by Steamboat Firm.

An injunction which seeks to restrain the United States Employes Compensation Commission from forcing payment of a $1,000 award was sought yesterday in District Supreme Court by the Mount Vernon & Marshall Hall Steamboat Co. and its surety, the London Guarantee & Accident Co., Ltd. The suit was directed against Robert J. Hoage, deputy commissioner of the commission.

Mr. Hoage is alleged to have ordered the defendants to pay $1,000 under the workmen's compensation act, because of the death of Edward Joseph Hardy, a watchman.

No claim was filed by dependents within the period of one year, it is asserted, and the fact that the Government under the law ordered the forfeiture of $1,000 is declared unwarranted and beyond the powers given by Congress.

Through Attorneys Swingle & Swingle, the two petitioners point out that Hardy fell from a slippery gangplank into the river and died several days later from exposure. It also is pointed out that Bessie Eckert, a daughter of the dead man, was paid $200 for funeral expenses and is now suing the steamboat company for $10,000 damages, the maximum provided for death in the District.

Peck Resigns Post On Utilities Body

Engineering Bureau Chief to Become Associated With Gas Light Firm.

The resignation of Bert H. Peck, chief of the engineering bureau of the Public Utilities Commission, to become associated with the Washington Gas Light Co. as assistant to George A. G. Wood, president, was announced yesterday simultaneously by the commission and the gas company.

Mr. Peck, who recently made an investigation that led to the issuance of an order by the utilities body regarding the lowering of gas pressures, will be in charge of departmental management, research and budgetary control.

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the commission, expressed regret at the loss of Mr. Peck's services, but added that he would be of value to the gas company. The resignation is effective February 28. Gen. Patrick said that the investigation of gas service will be continued despite the loss of the chief engineer.

Saleswoman Asks Bankruptcy.

Mrs. C. Blanche Barrett, of 5900 Fourth street northwest, a saleswoman in a local department store, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to adjudge her a bankrupt. The woman lists debts totaling $1,038.70 and no assets. Attorney R. B. Dickey represents her.

Bankruptcy Petition Filed.

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday in District Supreme court by Marcus C. Richardson, of 1840 Biltmore street northwest. Liabilities are listed at $74,802.50 while assets are recorded at $26,200. Attorney Thomas H. Patterson appears for the alleged bankrupt.

INDEPENDENT TO RUN IN CHICAGO ELECTION

Thompson and Cermak Will Face Third Candidate for Mayoralty.

Chicago, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—The combat for the mayoralty of Chicago gained a new dimension today.

Scarcely had Mayor William Hale Thompson and Anton J. Cermak fronted each other as Republican and Democratic rivals for the executive chair as a result of the primaries when Dr. Herman W. Bundesen, Democratic Cook County coroner, announced his independent candidacy and forged a three-sided contest.

Petitions placing him in nomination were filed with the election commission by the people's nonpartisan ticket, which also placed candidates in the field for city clerk, treasurer and municipal judge. Coroner Bundesen, once a member of Mayor Thompson's cabinet, dispatched his announcement and appeal for support to the "mothers and fathers" even before the votes in yesterday's mayoral primary had been collected.

Dr. Bundesen is the father of six and has written booklets on maternity besides articles on health for newspapers.

"Big Bill," master of his party, three times mayor, came back this year from relative retirement and won a 67,000 plurality in the primary, although Judge John H. Lyle waged a bitter fight on the issue—the dominance of crime or law.

Cermak, risen through the Democratic ranks to presidency of the county commission, controller of a strong party organization, won his nomination with 235,260 votes.

Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Association of Commerce and leader of its campaign to eliminate crime, sent a letter to Dr. Bundesen late today.

"Without regard to your availability or capability for the office of Mayor of Chicago," he wrote, "permit me to state that I believe that your candidacy will have the sole effect of dividing the opposition and insuring the election of William Hale Thompson."

SETTLEMENT MADE IN HORLICK DIVORCE

Dr. Sidley Gets $250,000 in Trust Fund; Ends Suit Against Canadian.

Chicago, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Settlement by the Horlick family of a huge trust fund on Dr. John Street Sidley, who married Maybelle Horlick, marked the end today of Dr. Sidley's $250,000 damage suit against W. Perkins Bull, Toronto attorney for his divorced wife, and a detective agency.

The settlement was the finale to a drama which began with divorce action by the former Miss Horlick three years ago.

Sidley, who had been treasurer of the Horlick company, fought the suit. Finally Dr. Sidley charged that Bull hired detectives to spy upon him, harassing him until his health was broken. The situation became public ten days ago when Federal narcotic agents entered the apartments of Bull and of Mrs. Sidley, and questioned them, only to announce the action was a mistake.

Soon after this incident, Bull departed hastily last week for his Canadian home. The hired automobile was wrecked and Bull was severely injured. Despite the injuries, Bull proceeded to Toronto in an ambulance just before his case was set for hearing. Later, Mrs. Sidley got her divorce in Racine in a secret hearing. Then came today's settlement.

Attorneys for both Bull and Dr. Sidley today confirmed the establishment of a trust fund of $250,000, the principal of which Dr. Sidley can not touch, but which will secure for him an annuity of $10,000.

John E. Kehoe, representing Bull, an international barrister of Toronto and London, said the Horlick family acted as a matter of equity since Dr. Sidley has not practiced his profession of medicine since he married Miss Horlick in 1909. He attributed Mrs. Sidley's divorce action to incompatibility.

No division was made in the settlement or the divorce action for the custody of William, 19-year-old son of the Sidleys, Kehoe said.

Taking of Hobbs Funds Denied by Equity Group

(Associated Press.)

Officials of the American Equity Association denied yesterday a statement by New Hampshire officials that the association had taken money from Henry H. Hobbs, of Haverhill, Mass., for legal services.

Hobbs, who had escaped from the State hospital at Concord, recently was apprehended in nearby Maryland, and officials of the equity association took part in the extradition proceedings. Winthrop Wadleigh, assistant attorney general of New Hampshire, said the attorney general's office claimed money had been taken from Hobbs by the association. It was declared yesterday on behalf of the association that no such payment had been made.

New Traffic Code Goes to President

House Approves Conference Report on Measure for District.

Only the signature of President Hoover was necessary to make the new District traffic bill the law of the Capital yesterday following approval of the conference report by the House.

There was less than a minute of debate when the bill was called up for consideration by Representative Zihlman, chairman of the House District committee.

Representative Stafford objected to the provisions in the bill legalizing "congressional" automobile tags. The language, Mr. Stafford said, gave members of Congress to much leeway. He did not press his objection beyond declaring his disapproval and the report was agreed to by the House, presented to the Speaker for signature and sent to the President, who is expected to sign it and make it law.

between 12 and 15 members would remain away.

Observers generally have interpreted the increasing liberality of Speaker Longworth and the other House leaders recently as being because of the precariousness of their positions. The consent of leaders for votes on the Muscle Shoals and lame duck measures, pending in the House for some time, was attributed to this. But quite apparently the end of the concessions they must make is not yet.

VETO OF BONUS BILL REACHES HOUSE TODAY

veterans, only 159 were actually in need, while in another city having 140,000 veterans, only 1,700 were known to be in need.

Veto Seen in Letter.

That President Hoover would veto the loan bill has been apparent since last Thursday when he wrote a letter to Senator Smoot, of Utah, outlining his objections to the measure. On that occasion, he quoted Gen. Hines, administrator of veterans affairs, as saying that if present economic conditions continue, 75 per cent of the veterans might be expected to claim the loans. This, the President said, would mean that the Treasury would have to raise approximately $1,000,000,000.

The one appealing argument for the bill, the President said, was that it would help those veterans who are in distress. But the fact is, the President said, that the bill goes far beyond that. Summing up, he declared that the legislation not only would nullify the benefits to the veteran, but inflict injury to the country as a whole.

Senator Brookhart contended yesterday that Mr. Meyer had "displayed the most remarkable ignorance" during his questioning of the nominee before the banking subcommittee. He added: "The financier glided away from every important question I asked him."

Senator Frazier agreed Mr. Meyer was well qualified for the post, but said he represented Wall street, and the appointment would work further hardships to the farmers and workers.

LONG ILLNESS FATAL TO JOHN L. NEWBOLD

Was Founder and Head of Merchants Transfer & Storage Co.

John Lowe Newbold, 60 years old, prominent local business man, died yesterday at Garfield Hospital, following an illness of several months. He had been a patient at the hospital since December.

He was founder, president and chairman of the board of the Merchants Transfer & Storage Co. and a director of the Federal-Americal National Bank. For many years he had been connected with many philanthropic and social agencies in this city, and was actively interested in the Gospel Mission and other charities.

His health had been undermined for about a year and a half. He went to Switzerland in 1929 in an effort to recuperate from an illness, but returned to Washington from there, later going to Asheville, N. C., where he spent several weeks for the same purpose.

Wife and Son at Side.

His wife, Mrs. May D. Newbold, and his son, John L. Newbold, jr., were with him at the hospital at the time of his death. He was attended by Drs. Edwin Merritt and William A. Morgan.

Mr. Newbold's brother, Fleming Newbold, business manager of the Washington Star, and his sister, Mrs. Frank B. Noyes, are absent from the city at the present time, but are now on their way to Washington following receipt of word of the death. Although funeral arrangements have not been definitely completed, it was thought last night that the services would be held tomorrow in the chapel at Rock Creek Cemetery, and that interment would follow in the family plot there.

Mr. Newbold was born in Dayton, Ohio, in 1871, the son of Charles and Frances K. Newbold. He received his early education in the Washington public schools, having lived here for 51 years.

Firm Grew Steadily.

He organized the transfer concern he headed soon after he left school. The firm has grown steadily since that time, and maintains branches in New York City and Philadelphia.

He was a member of the Metropolitan, Chevy Chase, Blue Ridge Rod and Gun and Rotary Clubs, the Sons of the Revolution, Chamber of Commerce, and Board of Trade. He resided at Queens Chapel road and the District Line.

Cold in Head, Chest or Throat?

RUB Musterole well into your chest and throat—almost instantly you feel easier. Repeat the Musterole-rub once an hour for five hours . . . what a glorious relief!

Those good old-fashioned cold remedies—oil of mustard, menthol, camphor—are mixed with other valuable ingredients in Musterole to make it what doctors call a "counter-irritant" because it gets action and is not just a salve.

It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. Keep Musterole handy—jars, tubes. All druggists.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Wreath Is Placed On Wilson's Tomb

Democratic Women Make Annual Pilgrimage; Mrs. Ross at Head.

Led by former Gov. Nellie Taylor Ross, of Wyoming, vice chairman of the National Democratic Committee, a delegation from the Women's National Democratic Club yesterday made their annual pilgrimage to the tomb of Woodrow Wilson in the Washington Cathedral.

A wreath of ascension lilies tied with the colors of the club was placed on the tomb by Mrs. Ross. The delegation was received by the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, who offered prayers and addressed the delegation. He said approximately 300,000 pilgrims visit President Wilson's tomb each year.

Mrs. Charles Hamlin was chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. In the delegation were Mrs. Samuel Herrick, president of the club; Mrs. H. St. George Tucker, Mrs. Edward Meigs, Mrs. Joust Shouse, Mrs. Wilmer Hubbard, Mrs. Frank Shouse, Mrs. J. C. Breckinridge, Mrs. Andreus Jones, Mrs. John B. Kendrick, Mrs. Edward Costigan, Mrs. Daniel Roper and Mrs. MacDonald.

Tomlinson's Suit Dismissal Asked

George A. Wardlaw Urges Action in Case Against Bankrupt Firm.

Acting as his own attorney, George A. Wardlaw, of 1708 St[illegible]y lane northwest, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to dismiss a suit filed recently by Frank [illegible]h against Swartzell, Rheem, Hensey & Co. and several other notehol[illegible]ers.

Wardlaw claims that Tomlinson, who is building an apartment house on N street, near Fourtenth street northwest, is responsible for the notes, and denies that the bankrupt investment house was acting as an agent of noteholders when it received a $10,000 payment from Tomlinson as commission on a loan.

The schedu[illegible] of the bankrupt firm was due to be filed yesterday, but was not. There was no explanation, but attorneys stated that it probably would be recorded today. The firm already has obtained a 20-day extension of time in which to file the schedules, due to Department of Justice investigations.

SUNSHINE MELLOWS Heat Purifies

LUCKIES are always kind to your throat

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why the "TOASTING" process includes the use of the Ultra Violet Rays. LUCKY STRIKE—made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED"—an extra, secret heating process. Harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos are expelled by "TOASTING." These irritants are sold to others. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

The advice of your physician is: Keep out of doors, in the open air, breathe deeply; take plenty of exercise in the mellow sunshine, and have a periodic check-up on the health of your body.

ARLINGTON BRIDGE APPROACH BACKED

Lyon Park Citizens Indorse Plans for Washington Street Project.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Cla. 500. Clarendon, Va.

With the community hall filled to capacity, the Lyon Park Citizens Association, at its monthly meeting last night, indorsed the proposed Washington street approach to the new Arlington Memorial Bridge.

L. C. McNemar, representing the Fort Myer Heights Citizens Association; prime movers of the Washington street project, addressed the meeting, indicating on a road map of the county the line of the proposed bridge approach from Wilson boulevard in the vicinity of the courthouse, thence through Fort Myer Heights, along Washington street, crossing the present military road from Rosslyn to Fort Myer at the foot of the hill, thence in a direct line to the bridgehead.

It was stated at the meeting by persons in touch with the legislative situation in Congress that there is no longer any hope of passing now the bill providing for construction of the Lee boulevard approach to the bridge. Mr. McNemar declared that the Washington street approach is the only one that appears to have any chance of completion in time for the Washington bicentennial next year, and that it would provide the people of Lyon Park, Ashton Heights and Glebewood with a convenient access to the bridge. The Pershing drive traffic, he said, would pass through the military reservation down the hill toward Rosslyn to the point of intersection with the Washington street approach.

The following were appointed a committee to cooperate with other communities in the county in securing the opening and construction of the proposed road by the county: A. A. Moore, H. C. Armstrong, H. B. Hartung and Arthur Orr.

The Business and Professional Woman's Club of Arlington County, at a meeting last night, voted to hold its annual public relations dinner on March 13, at the Army-Navy Club.

The committee appointed to have charge of the arrangements are Mrs. Jesse W. Hunt, Mrs. Pearl Sharp, Mrs. Edith Corder and Mrs. Rachel White.

Meetnig last night in special session, the Arlington Post, No. 139, American Legion, adopted the report of the special committee of which Herbert H. Porter is chairman, in its study of the Capper-Cramton bill for its provisions for the George Washington Memorial Parkway.

The report reads:

"Appointed at the January meeting to consider the situation arising from the passage of the Cramton Act and allied measures and the actions of authorized bodies in view of these legislative acts, reports the following:

"The Cramton bill as originally proposed had two features of direct interest to us. First, it contemplated the establishment of a park from Mount Vernon to Great Falls, on both sides of the Potomac River, except in the Cities of Alexandria and Washington. Second, it contemplated a road on each side of the river, and particularly a road on the Virginia side to connect the Highway, Memorial and Key Bridges. The funds for the purchase of lands and the building of roads were to be provided half by the Federal Government and half by the interested State, a political subdivision thereof or by donation.

"The Cramton act provides no roads whatever on the Virginia side, save a bridgehead at Great Falls, but contains the park provisions, except that no donations of funds are provided for.

"Congress has, under the Constitution, authority to pass measures to control navigable streams; and such streams are administratively governed through the Chief of Engineers Office, in the War Department. The Federal Government likewise has the right to condemn and take away any of the property along the Virginia shore or elsewhere upon passage of a law to that effect and upon payment of just compensation.

"In the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals of the Fourth District (which includes Virginia), it was held that Virginia owns and has jurisdiction to the low-water mark. The agreement of 1785 granting Virginia and Maryland citizens equal rights, particularly as to fishing and the building of wharves, was not changed by the cession to form the original 10-mile square of the District of Columbia, nor by retrocession.

"The Mount Vernon Memorial highway is a separate thing, and provides a road from the Memorial Bridge to Mount Vernon.

"All lands taken for the park will pass in title to the United States, and no taxes could be collected thereon.

"Primarily, it is the opinion of your committee that all possible safeguards should be placed around the maintenance of present natural beauties, and that present eyesores and objectionable buildings and grounds should be reconstructed, with a view toward having all approaches to this county of a definite high standard of beauty. We feel that present and past uncertainties have, at least in part, prevented owners and prospective purchasers from engaging on such work.

"The only river front property available for wharfage in Arlington County comprises about 300 feet below Key Bridge, and about 1,300 feet above the bridge. This is now zoned as 'heavy industrial' in this county, as is the rest of Rosslyn. In the Rosslyn area are now located coal and wood yards, a freight yard, oil tanks, lumber yards, a packing house, the old brewery, a car barn and storage yard, and some manufacturing plants. Rosslyn is not visible from Arlington Mansion nor the Amphitheater, and will not be unless trees along Arlington Ridge—now in Federal hands are destroyed. Further, we do not believe that Rosslyn proper will become, within any immediate span of years, a site for general residential development; but that the ridge immediately behind is and will be so occupied.

"Analostan Island, a part of the District of Columbia, but on the Virginia side of the navigable stream, is owned by the Washington Gas Light Co., and we are informed was purchased to become the location of the company's plant. We further have heard rumors that it may be purchased by the Federal Government for park purposes.

"Georgetown, opposite Rosslyn on the District shore, has a steam railway following the river bank at various levels; this railway continues up opposite the Palisades. Georgetown has wharves and various commercial developments in clear view from Rosslyn, including a power plant, boat houses, flour mill and warehouses. We are not informed of any intent or purpose of modifying Georgetown; and the act itself provides for none since such property is specifically excepted.

"The Palisades of the Potomac, extending along the Virginia shore upstream from a point about 2,000 feet above the Key Bridge, and about 1,300 feet below this point, and appear of aesthetic value as the site of a road entering the Palisade Park, or as a part of the bridge head development of Key Bridge. Your committee has seen only one plan, purporting to show intention with respect to the bridgehead. It is understood that this was prepared by the planning commission. This plan provides a road extending along the river, but, as noted above, the commission has no authority or money to build such a road. This plan further indicates that certain industrial developments, including wharves, may be accomplished without detracting from the esthetic values.

"We are informed that Gov. Pollard has stated that the State has no funds available to satisfy Virginia's participation; nor does the committee believe that Arlington County alone or in combination with other counties can provide such funds.

"The new Arlington Memorial Bridge will probably be the main approach to Washington from Arlington County, Clarendon, Ballston and Cherrydale, as well as more distant points. Each of the other bridges has a congested and involved route into the city proper.

"After considering all of these things, the committee concludes that under the Cramton act, no lands will be purchased at the present time; that commercial and parkway developments may both be enjoyed, and that both are necessary for us; that many cities here and abroad demonstrate that properly designed and operated commercial developments need not be an offense to the esthetic senses, and finally that the Cramton act, if funds were available, could be construed to permit general commercial development of Rosslyn.

"We therefore recommend that the responsible and interested parties be urged to compose their differences, and that the City Planning Commission, the board of supervisors and business interests work out a definite plan, as a matter of cooperation in beautifying our approaches, which does not inhibit necessary business development."

Fellowship Council, No. 49, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will hold its monthly meeting tonight in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon. Following a short business session, there will be a social hour which will be featured by a measuring contest.

The Ballston Citizens Association, at its meeting last night, appointed the following committee to work with the George Washington bicentennial committee: Mrs. Catherine M. Rogers, Grover E. Payne, Thomas J. Crack, Mrs. Rae R. Cogswell, and Mrs. Mae E. Jacobs.

The secretary was instructed to send a letter of sympathy to the family of the late Eugene Payne, who was recently killed by an automobile while attending a fire in the community.

The monthly meeting of the Arlington Volunteer Fire Department will be held at the firehouse, Wednesday evening, March 4, at 8 o'clock.

An old-time Republican rally was staged last night when more than 100 Republicans of Arlington County met in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon to launch a movement for an intensive campaign for the election of Republicans to county offices at the November election.

President J. Foster Hagen in his opening remarks declared the saying going the rounds that the old-timers can not be defeated is loose talk.

As the first step for a progressive organization to carry on the campaign President Hagan announced the appointment of the following persons to the advisory committee: Arlington Precinct, John Agnew; Ballston Precinct, Ray Cogswell; Carne Precinct, S. H. Williamson; Clarendon Precinct No. 1, Louis A. MacMahon; Clarendon Precinct No. 2, Carl Marshall; Cherrydale Precinct, George F. D. Rollings; Lyon Park Precinct, Edgar W. Pumphrey; Virginia Highland Precinct, Horace Woodward; Rosslyn Precinct, Dr. Victor Myers; Falls Church Precinct, William Crossman, and Glencarlyn Precinct, Edward Weaver.

Music during the evening was furnished by James D. East and his orchestra. The evening's program concluded with a buffet supper.

Continuing his fight for a terminal for the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railway, which will make possible the continuance of service by the Arlington Fairfax Railway, Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth yesterday made public the following letter he has received from Luther H. Reichelderfer, president of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia. The letter reads:

"As you probably know, certain street closing put into effect by the Federal Government in connection with the development of the triangle area will seriously affect the terminal of the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railway in the District of Columbia. The various Federal and District agencies are now carefully considering everything pertaining to the changed conditions effecting this electric railway company. It is believed that every possible viewpoint is being considered. The District of Columbia would be glad to receive any advice which you think pertinent in connection with the future plans for this railway company. As one agency concerned, of course, they can not fully control such future. However, insofar as the matter comes within their jurisdiction, they will give careful consideration to any data you may think is pertinent and care to give them."

Mr. Gloth stated last night that he hopes to be able to confer with the District of Columbia Commissioners tomorrow morning on the subject.

J. Lester Beales, 47 years old, of Virginia Highlands, one of Arlington County's old residents, died at George Washington Hospital yesterday.

Mr. Beales, who has been a resident of the county for more than 30 years, has been in the employe of the Washington Brick and Terra Cotta Co. as its engineer for the past 25 years.

For the past two years he served as an active member of the Jefferson District Volunteer Fire Department, having held the office of captain. He is survived by his wife and one son, Avener Beales.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock from Temple Baptist Church, Alexandria, conducted by the Rev. Ryland T. Dodge, pastor, assisted by the Rev. J. W. Townsend, of Calvary Methodist Protestant Church, Aurora Hills, and the Rev. P. T. Dubois, pastor of Mount Vernon Baptist Church, Virginia Highlands. Services at the grave will be conducted by Alexandria Washington Lodge No. 42, A. F. and A. M., of which he was a member. Burial will be in Bethel Cemetery at Alexandria.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

Does a pimply face embarrass you? Get a package of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights, if you are like thousands of others.

Help cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

Thousands who take Olive Tablets are never cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition, pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound; known by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and

CABIN JOHN FIREMEN WILL AIR PROBLEMS

Question of Reserves' Right to Vote Is Chief Issue for Tonight.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

The Cabin John Volunteer Fire Department will meet tonight at the Cabin John-Glen Echo School. Several questions which have threatened to disrupt the department are expected to be thrashed out at the meeting.

A. A. Potter, president of the department, whose resignation was demanded—on the ground that his anti-Ritchie activities in the recent election were endangering the chances of the passage of a bill to establish a fire taxing area—yesterday received a letter from Miss Lavinia Engle, Montgomery County delegate to the House of Delegates, who informed him that political affiliations will have no part in the consideration of the bill.

The chief difficulty before the department is the question of whether or not reserve members shall be allowed to vote. It is expected the department will vote on this question tonight and definitely settle the problem.

Four Negroes were arrested yesterday and charged with housebreaking and larceny by police of the Rockville police headquarters. The colored men are alleged to have broken into the cellar of Jessie Davis, near Norbeck, and to have stolen a barrel of cider. They were arrested by Headquarters Detective Roy Bodmer and Policeman Robert Howes.

The men are Robert Warfield, Tanny King, Arthur Doye and Kenneth Johnson.

Annulment of her marriage to Charles A. Read, of Bethesda, was awarded Mrs. Nettie A. Read, of Williamsport, Pa., yesterday in circuit court at Rockville by Judge Robert B. Peter. The husband was charged with having committed bigamy. The wife was represented by the law firm of Peter, Simpson & Oxley, of Rockville.

An absolute divorce from John Garland Dew, whereabouts unknown, was granted yesterday to Mrs. Dellas Stevens Dew, of Takoma Park, on the ground of desertion. Custody of the only child also was awarded the wife. The wife was represented by Millward C. Taff, attorney, of Takoma Park.

Missing Veteran Is Found Dead

Body of W. G. Spangler Is Identified by Wife in Virginia.

Reidsville, N. C., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—A Nation-wide search for William Grover Spangler, missing World War Veteran, ended today with the finding of his body near a church between Hopewell and Petersburg, Va.

The body was identified by Mrs. Spangler and her brother, Charlie Smithy, of Reidsville, who went to Virginia early today. They wired relatives here there is no doubt the body is Spangler's. His suitcase and identification card was found near the body.

Mr. Spangler left home 18 months ago for a business trip to Hopewell. Before leaving, he told his wife he feared foul play as he said he had made enemies in that section while employed as a detective. An intensive search followed his disappearance and grew to almost Nation-wide proportions, with the American Legion taking a leading part.

MAN JAILED IN DEATH OF WIFE'S BROTHER

Carroll Winters Prefers Cell After Jury Fails to Free Him of Charge.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 25.—A jury of inquest stood 9 to 3 for the exoneration of Carroll Winters, 28, held under suspicion in the fatal shooting of his 9-year-old brother-in-law, Wilbur Palmer, but the man who had previously been released on his own recognisance pending a hearing, was tonight committed to th Anne Arundel County Jail in default of $1,000 security.

Winters, formerly employed in a local furniture store, has lost his position since the trouble over the shooting occurred, and was willing to go to jail, although his parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Palmer, offered to go his bond. Owing to family connections, Police Justice John W. Anderson, acting coroner, at the instance of State's Attorney A. Theodore Brady, refused his bond.

At the inquest, Winters, his wife, and in-laws, as well as two police officials and Dr. Joseph C. Joyce, testified. Dr. Joyce contended that the boy's body showed no signs of powder burns, which he claimed would be visible had he shot himself. The physician said that the bullet entered the skull at a point where it was hardly possible for the boy to have held the gun.

It was reported by Winters, the only witness to the tragedy, that the boy took a pistol from the bed and shot himself while playing. The gun was placed there, it was testified, when Winters, in jest, remarked that he would commit suicide were a gun available. His wife gave him the weapon, also in jest, she said at the inquest.

Loudoun Legion Post Gives Annual Banquet

Pittsburgh Youth Takes Own Life at Academy in Mercersburg.

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., Feb. 25.—Officials of Mercersburg Academy, exclusive preparatory school, at Mercersburg, near here, were at a loss to explain the motive for the suicide last night by hanging of Roy Detwiler, 16-year-old first-year student. His father, Frank Detwiler, Pittsburgh, arrived today to take the body home.

The body was found hung from the end of a bed sheet which had been fastened to the door of his room. When last seen, late yesterday, he apparently was in cheerful spirits. School authorities do not believe he was homesick because he had two elder brothers, John and William, seniors at the school, as companions.

Coroner Samuel Shull returned a verdict of suicide.

NOISE stamps an automatic refrigerator as

ANTIQUATED

Electrolux has made noisy refrigerators as hopelessly out of date as the old-time hansom cabs.

Electrolux makes pure, sparkling ice cubes, constant steady cold—but never a whisper of sound

AN automatic refrigerator may be new and shiny to look at. But listen to it. If it makes a sound, it's as hopelessly out of date as a hansom cab.

Electrolux is the one automatic refrigerator that can't make noise, because it has no moving parts to create noise. Silent when you buy it, Electrolux remains silent forever after.

This marvelous simplicity of operation is the reason Electrolux is entirely free from friction, vibration and wear. And it is also the reason why there is no alternate stopping and starting . . . just constant, steady cold, and an abundance of ice cubes.

A tiny gas flame and a tiny flow of water take the place of all machinery in Electrolux. They act on a liquid refrigerant which is hermetically sealed in rigid steel. The refrigerant is ordinary ammonia, little stronger than household ammonia. The tiny gas flame is completely protected by an automatic shut-off.

Yet with all these advantages, the cost of operating an Electrolux is less than the cost of buying ice—never more than five to ten cents a day.

This refrigerator is rapidly becoming standard equipment in the finest homes and apartments (over 130,000 already installed).

Whatever you do, see Electrolux at our showrooms before you buy any automatic refrigerator. It comes in 10 household models, ranging from 3 cu. ft. to 20 cu. ft. capacity. Despite its many advantages, Electrolux prices are no higher. For complete illustrated information by mail, write or phone us.

COSTS LESS TO OPERATE
Electrolux operates for only 5 to 10 cents a day—less than the cost of ice—less than any other automatic refrigerator.

TO STRADDLE OR NOT TO STRADDLE.

Senator McKellar appeals to wet Democrats not to upset the party's applecart at the meeting of the national committee in Washington next week. "Unless we Democrats make a mistake in our platform," he says, "it seems like a foregone conclusion that we will win in 1932." In order that no mistake be made Senator McKellar has gone to the trouble of drawing up a platform for the committee. All that is necessary is for Democracy to rally around Mr. McKellar's 30 points, and victory will be certain.

But, as usual, other Democrats have views of their own on some of the problems that are coming up before the party gathering. Chairman Raskob, who owns a controlling interest in the party, is determined that the campaign platform for 1932 shall be wet. Each of the three most recent presidential candidates under the Democratic banner has betrayed some degree of moistness. Democratic senators and representatives of the Northern States seem ready to accept the flask as the party emblem. But that does not alter the position of Senator McKellar. The President and the Vice President, he says, have nothing to do with constitutional amendments. Therefore, the national platform should merely declare for enforcement of all laws and oppose the return of the saloon. Leave the wet and dry issue to be fought out in the election of senators and representatives. Apparently the senator is trying to pave the way for a straddling platform and a wet candidate.

Senator Dill has another scheme for submerging this issue so that the Democrats may win. He would have the party sponsor a constitutional convention on the eighteenth amendment or a resubmission of the controversy to the States. This "compromise" is put forward by the senator from Washington because he believes that such a test would show the country to be dry, and he hopes that the wets will accept it in the belief that it would prove the country to be wet. Blessed, indeed, are the peacemakers!

In the meantime the militant wets and drys are aiming at no such straddling position. The antiprohibitionists are confident that they have strength enough to make the party wet, while the Southern delegates claim to have sufficient votes to block the wet move.

Democracy faces this "greatest opportunity since 1912" with divided ranks. The evidence of schisms in these congressional statements are as nothing to what may be expected when the party actually gets down to the business of forming its policy.

THOMPSON FACES CERMACK.

According to late reports from Chicago, it cost the city $580,000 to renominate Mayor Thompson. It was charged that Al Capone contributed $260,000 additional to the Thompson war chest. Capone arrived on the scene of action in time to devote four full days of his own services to the leadership of his army. And if you don't think that force is organized and that organization a force, you don't know your Chi-pone.

Two warrants for Al's arrest were still current in Chicago, but he left his cap in Florida and arrived in spats, so the police didn't recognize him until the day after the voting.

There were three other candidates in the fight for the mayor's chair. Voters, therefore, were not lacking opportunity to name a successor to Thompson if the majority sentiment had been opposed to him. But there seems to have been poor teamwork among the opposition. If Judge Lyle had received the vote cast Alderman Albert he would have beaten Thompson.

Many Democrats are reported to have helped nominate Thompson in the belief that he would be the easiest man for the Democratic nominee, Anton J. Cermack, to defeat in the April elections. It remains to be seen whether that judgment is correct. Cermack is chairman of the county board, and in twenty years of active political life he has never been defeated. Furthermore, he will have the active support of James Hamilton Lewis himself. The pointed finger of the senator-elect is more deadly than ten gangster guns.

On April 7 Thompson will have a real fight on his hands to turn his fourth nomination into an election.

FLEXIBLE TARIFF POWER.

The decision of the United States Customs Court invalidating a revision of the duty on cheese made by President Coolidge is widely misinterpreted. It does not interfere with the power of the President to change rates under the flexible provision. The court merely decided that President Coolidge exceeded his authority by substituting new language in the act. No customs court can interfere with [illegible] flexible provision by the President, for the constitutionality of this provision has been affirmed by the Supreme Court.

Upon a finding of the Tariff Commission that the duty on Swiss cheese was not high enough to equalize the cost of production, President Coolidge increased the rate for that particular type of cheese. In doing so he struck out a paragraph of the law and inserted a new one. The court held that he had a right to change the rate of duty on all cheese, but that he could not write a new paragraph in the tariff act, specifying a duty for this type of cheese, which had not been mentioned in the original act. To do that was to legislate, the court held, and Congress has given the President no legislative authority in connection with the flexible provision.

There is no foundation whatever for the assumption that this decision will interfere with the adjustment of any rates in the Smoot-Hawley act that are unsatisfactory. The Tariff Commission will proceed with its work, and the President will proclaim rate changes if he considers them justifiable.

ANYTHING TO GET AWAY.

Congress is in that fitful stage of recklessness which marks the close of every session. It is what Calvin Coolidge calls nervous exhaustion. Radical legislation that would have brought forth voluminous protests a few weeks ago now meets with little or no resistance. Votes are cast not with an eye single to the welfare of the country, but with a view only to "mopping up" and getting away for a nine-months vacation.

The symptoms of this restlessness in the House are quite different from those in the Senate. The House is running wild. It has lost its usual precision and restraint. So anxious are congressmen to get back home that they would vote for almost anything to facilitate their going. No further illustrations of this attitude are needed than the surrender on the Muscle Shoals nostrum and the so-called lame duck amendment to the Constitution. Now it is announced that Republican members of the ways and means committee will reconsider the oil embargo bill, which had previously been tabled by the committee.

Senate leaders, on the other hand, are trying to prevent a last-minute saturnalia. What might happen during these last days if the Senate were to run wild is dreadful to contemplate. For this reason the approach of the recess has brought about a tightening of the strings by which the "greatest deliberative body" is held in check.

This attitude was manifest yesterday in the vote of the Senate finance committee to postpone action on the Kendall bill until next session. The hearings before the committee indicated that a majority are in sympathy with this measure to exclude the products of forced, indentured and slave labor, but apparently the committee was not willing to lay such a Pandora's box before the Senate. Senator Borah is reported to have been ready to ask for an amendment that would have prevented the importation of all farm products. The oil lobby saw in this bill a last chance to have the Senate approve its proposed embargo. It is rumored that half a dozen other senators had embargo amendments up their sleeves. The committee could not trust the Senate to save the Kendall bill from these monstrosities. So it chose the lesser of two evils by tabling the bill.

Conservative men in both houses of Congress will breathe a sigh of relief when the gavel falls on March 4.

PERU'S REVOLT.

Decidedly new tactics for Latin America appear in the latest revolt in Peru, which was abortive insofar as the attack on the federal palace in Lima was concerned. Revolutionary leaders, however, are strongly entrenched in the third and fourth departments, which include Arequipa, Puno and Cuzco. The novel feature of the contest, particularly at such an early stage, is the conciliatory attitude of the government of Col. Sanchez Cerro, who recently achieved power by overthrowing the Leguia government. Col. Cerro is sending a peace delegation headed by the minister of war, Col. Federico Hurtado, the chief of staff; Col. Bravo, well named for the job, and the former minister of war, Col. Barco, to fly into the rebel territory in an effort to induce the leaders of the counter-revolt to desist.

The official party will endeavor to convince the insurgents that all their important demands can be satisfied without further fighting. Not that Col. Sanchez Cerro has been intimidated by this uprising, but of his free will and desire, he already has withdrawn as a candidate in the forthcoming election of an assembly to select a provisional president and will give every assurance that the election will be free from official influence or intimidation. The president thus to be selected will replace the present military council, over which Col. Sanchez Cerro presides. His program, it is further explained, contains other measures that will serve to meet the demands of the new rebel movement.

Such a spirit of conciliation on the part of a provisional government, still strongly entrenched in power, is a most encouraging sign. It has not yet succeeded and the revolutionists have not given any intimation as to their attitude. If they follow the precedent established by Col. Sanchez Cerro when he was in a similar position they will turn a deaf ear to the plea for conciliation and move immediately upon Lima.

It would mark a new era in South American civil warfare if this winged peace mission should not only go unscathed, but succeed in its effort to reconcile the outs and the ins.

DEATH IS NONPARTISAN.

Just as Congress is in a mood to close up shop and go home for a long recess Senator Frazier, of North Dakota, comes out with a subtle argument for an extra session. He has inserted in the Congressional Record a scientific analysis of the mortality of Republican and Democratic congressmen, from which it is concluded that the Democrats will organize the next Congress unless an extra session is called.

[illegible] this argument is a table prepared by Dr. Arthur MacDonald, of Washington. The mortality of Republicans, it appears, is distinctly greater than that of Democrats. The average age of Republican congressmen is greater, because that party has been in control of the Government for a long period. The new Democrats who will come into the next Congress will be younger men, and there will be fewer deaths among them.

Dr. MacDonald's table shows that the percentage of deaths among Republican senators during the last five congressional sessions was 7.4. Among the Democrats it was 3.2, or less than half as great. During the same period the percentage of deaths in the House was 4 for the Republicans and 3.8 for the Democrats. It should be noted, however, that during the last two sessions of Congress the great reaper showed almost no partisanship.

Because of the close division between the two parties in the next House and Senate it is argued that the Democrats probably will have a majority sufficient to organize the Senate if Congress doesn't meet until next December. But here is where the elaborate argument falls down. It assumes that the Senate meeting at that time will be composed of senators elected last fall, plus holdover members and minus those who die in the meantime. That, of course, is not what will happen. Vacancies will be filled by appointments, and for the most part governors may be expected to replace Republicans by Republicans. In filling vacancies in the House the people who elected Republican representatives last November would probably elect Republican candidates to take their place.

With that fallacy disposed of, Congress may be expected to resign its worries next week and banish fears of the changes that the reaper will make before next December.

That Democratic meeting called for next week in Washington will be a smoker.

From the New York Times.

When Joseph Pulitzer came to New York from the West in 1883 and acquired control of the World the newspaper had been an influential publication for twenty years. It was founded by Alexander Cummings, of Philadelphia, who in 1847 had founded the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin. The first issue was published on June 14, 1860, with the salutatory: "We seek public estimation; we do not seek popular favor." It was edited along religious lines at 1 cent a copy.

The Civil War made newspaper production too costly for Cummings and he soon abandoned the paper altogether. A group of financiers, including August Belmont and Fernando Wood, then Mayor of New York, took the paper over and kept it alive, with Manton Marble, able journalist of his day, as part owner and editor.

The paper was suppressed for three days, May 19, 20 and 21, 1864, by Gen. John A. Dix, provost marshal for New York, because it had printed in its late city edition, on the morning of the eighteenth, a bogus proclamation in which President Lincoln purported to order a day of fasting and prayer and a draft of 400,000 men. The proclamation had been a hoax perpetrated by Joseph Howard, jr., city editor of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, and Frank W. Mallison, a member of the Eagle's staff, for the purpose, as they admitted later, of provoking a flurry on the stock market.

On the evening of the same day Lieut. Tuthill, commanding a squad of the Tenth Veteran Corps, took possession of the World office, while another squad took possession of the office of the Journal of Commerce, which had also been a victim of the hoax. Orders for the arrest of the editors and owners of both journals accompanied instructions to take over the plants and stop the publication of the papers. The order of arrest was rescinded, but the two papers were suppressed. Howard and Mallison were arrested and taken to Fort Lafayette, where they spent six months and a year, respectively. Neither was ever brought to trial. The World did not resume publication until the morning of May 23.

From the time it was taken over by Marble the World was a staunchly Democratic paper. Marble obtained full control on December 29, 1869. After the election of 1876, when Samuel J. Tilden, though victor on the face of the returns, gave way to the electoral college's selection of Rutherford B. Hayes as President, Marble became discouraged with the prospects of Democracy and passed the editorship of the paper to his assistant, William Henry Hurlbert. Col. Thomas A. Scott, head of the Pennsylvania Railroad, had, meantime, become the owner.

After three years of financial losses Scott wearied of the paper and passed it on to Jay Gould, who took it over, as he described it later, "more by accident than by design—almost against my desire," as part of a railroad deal. The paper lost in circulation under Gould's ownership and he was said to have lost $40,000 a year on it.

Joseph Pulitzer came to New York in 1883 en route for a six months' vacation. He had no intention of buying a newspaper. But he found that Jay Gould was willing to dispose of his property and he opened negotiations with him. He made an appointment with him at his office in the Western Union Building, 195 Broadway, and by May 8, 1883, terms were settled upon. The purchase price was $346,000, which was to be paid in installments. The first installment was paid from the reserve funds of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The rest were paid from the profits of the World, which became an almost instantaneous success under the new management. Pulitzer had originally bought the Post-Dispatch at a public auction in 1878 for $2,500. The earnings of the World for 1886, three years after he bought it, were put by Pulitzer at more than $500,000.

Due to blindness Mr. Pulitzer relinquished control of the World in October, 1890, to an executive board of its principal editors. He had been absent for more than a year previous to that. The new building was completed in 1890 at a cost of $2,500,000, paid for entirely by the earnings of the paper. At the time of its opening it was the tallest building in New York and a landmark of the city.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE PARENT BUSINESS.

When it comes to raising children
I've a notion of my own
The parents of the youngsters should agree.
If the mother says, "You may not!"
in her most decided tone,
The answer of the father, "No!"
should be,
For no home can ever flourish or hold lasting happiness
Where the father's "No" is canceled
by a doting mother's "Yes."

Start it early, and keep at it! Never venture to divide,
Even though you think the verdict
may be wrong;
If you'd like to grant the pleasure which the mother has denied,
Let her be the one to say: "Well, run along!"
And, oh, mother, if you think the dad a trifle too severe
With the verdict he has given, do not rush to interfere.

There's disaster in the making when the parents disagree;
There is sorrow in the offing when a "no" is changed to "yes."
As the mother's head is nodded so the father's nod should be,
For the house that is divided can not hope for much success.
And it's really very tragic, when a little girl or lad
Can wheedle out of mother what has been refused by dad.

Oh, this job of being parents calls for courage and for tact,
And the sense to be untempted by a whim;
The mother by the father in her verdicts must be backed,
And she must very often bolster him.
For what is right and proper how can children ever guess
When the mother and the father can't agree on "no" and "yes?"

When Foolish Love Spares the Rod, It Makes a Job for the Hangman.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

ONE of America's celebrated critics says in the midst of a book revew: "The God of infinite love, in the presence of the most ordinary human affliction, becomes a mere puzzle, and hence ridiculous."

It is not a new thought. It is the age-old complaint of suffering men. If God truly loves mankind, why does He permit affliction?

Thus men accuse and convict their God as they would not convict the meanest criminal.

When an officer of the law commits a crime and accuses an innocent man in order to conceal his own guilt, the injustice of his accusation seems more wicked than the crime itself; yet that kind of injustice is the common practice of men who criticize God.

They do evil and blame God for the consequences.

Is God's love to be questioned because a finger thrust in the fire is painfully burned?

If a child eats forbidden fruit and is made sick, does it follow that the child's parents are lacking in affection?

Action and reaction are halves of an inseparable whole. As the fruit of a plant is in the seed, so a reaction is in the act that causes it. The act is not complete until the reaction is finished. Thus the punishment that follows violation of a natural law is but a completion of the cycle begun by the violation. To expect or hope to avoid the punishment would be as absurd as to expect a hatched chick to unhatch itself.

The afflictions that men suffer are reactions. They are the completion of acts begun by men. If you throw an object into the air it must by natural law return. Is God's love at fault if the object strikes you on the head?

I once knew a woman whose failure to read the label on a bottle of medicine resulted in the death of her infant child. She accused God of taking her baby. Can you imagine a greater blasphemy?

There would be no affliction if there was no violation of natural laws. What suffering have you known that was not caused by some man's folly or vice or stupidity? The laws of nature are beneficent if man will adjust himself to them.

But what of death, you say. Savages "die patiently," as Jocelyn reported, having no imaginary terrors to fear. Death is no more painful than birth, and is birth an affliction? If there is a God and a blessed hereafter, death is not an evil that love would prevent.

There must be law in an orderly universe, and it would be an unwise love that suspended the law to protect and thus encourage men in their follies.

PRO AND CON

Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great Show, "Politics," Staged in Congress.

Chicago Tribune.

The House of Representatives has passed the conference report containing the bill for the operation of the Muscle Shoals power plant under communism. The Federal Government is to make and sell electric power, a collectivist effort in the development of wealth and the use of resources. Under the bill this doctrine of the Soviets may be extended later to the manufacture of nitrate and fertilizer. It is not called communistic that it may appear horrific but that it may be given its proper definition in political terms.

In a selected industry Congress is preparing to put the Government into action which Mr. Stalin would recognize as familiar. His contempt for it would be based first upon its illogic and then upon the source of its authority. He would deride its authority because it proceeds from a representative assembly of bourgeois composition elected by universal suffrage. The thing is a mess of contradictions.

But How Can They Drink Dry?

Boston Transcript.

Southern Democratic senators say they will oppose efforts to make their party wet, which goes to show that there is still a large part of the country which refuses to vote as it drinks.

Webfoot Donkey.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

It seems that the main task of the Northern and Southern wings of the Democratic party is to make the donkey amphibious.

Passing Strange.

Toledo Blade.

Maybe it is a mere coincidence that fever breaks out when Congress is in session.

Old Man of the Sea.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The expected veto of the Muscle Shoals bill, which has now passed both houses, and the sustaining of the President's action will by no means remove this vexed question from the congressional and political arena. The proponents of this pernicious piece of legislation are already laying their plans to put over another and even a worse measure with the reinforcements they will receive in the next Congress. Senator Dill echoes their general thought when he says they will return to the attack and if they fail again they will have a ready-made issue for the 1932 presidential campaign.

Medieval Pageantry.

Los Angeles Times.

When Gifford Pinchot was inaugurated Governor of Pennsylvania for the second time, he rode in a horse-drawn victoria. He must think he's the King of England. Page Mayor Thompson!

"Here's Your Hat, Sir!"

Philadelphia Bulletin.

It must be very flattering to Congress to observe how anxiously business calculates the chances of its finishing up its routine work and going home to stay.

Too Many Leftovers.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

The greatest objection to an extra session of Congress is that not enough of the bad actors in the Senate ran like Heflin in the late election.

National Holiday.

Atlanta Constitution.

If Congress actually quits on March 4 the next day should be an extra thanksgiving day.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A Suggestion for Improvement of the Senate—But, Can It Be Improved?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In your editorial yesterday, "The Public Alarmed," you said something quite interesting, as follows:

"Only a handful of senators really represent the Nation. The others find excuses to vote in favor of groups which are strong at the polls."

Only the day before that there appeared in the Philadelphia Inquirer the following:

"The Senate prides itself on being the greatest deliberative body in the world. That's its own opinion. In addition, it's the most deliberate, delinquent and dawdling body in the world."

Opinions about our incompetent or delinquent legislative bodies could be multiplied to a good large volume. In view of such opinions, which are quite universal, why don't the people cut them down accordingly? Cut the Senate, say, to not more than ten members, and the House to not more than fifteen; one member from a State of large population, like New York, and one member from quite a number of lesser States, to be divided according to population of districts, not according to territory.

This might be a little improvement. But "improvements" now are like that of the old German's daughter that a brother-in-law of mine used to tell about in his home town in New York State. The daughter was in the hospital. The old gentleman would go every day to inquire about her. A nurse would always meet him at the door and say, "She is improving." Finally one day the nurse said, "Your daughter is dead." The father's quick rejoinder was:

"Vat did she tie off, improofments?"

Deadly Weapons in Hands of Children Lead to Tragedies.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In Tuesday's Post was printed an item with the heading, "Boy Shot in Lung Playing Indians," which refers to the serious wounding of an 8-year-old by a boy of 13 with a .22-caliber rifle. Similar accidents occur from time to time and should give fathers of small boys food for thought.

In view of the possible subconscious aftereffect in some cases, it might be well to discourage the use of toy pistols by small kids. Nearly every youngster seems to possess one or two at the present time, due to the influence of blood and thunder talkies, no doubt.

Certainly guns of the lethal class are not playthings to be tolerated in the highways and the byways of Washington.

It seems to me that the matter is important enough to be given special consideration by the authorities. A campaign of educational warning by the Police Department might be a good thing in order to prevent juvenile tragedies in the future.

Old Indian Fighters Enjoy Reunion on Washington's Birthday.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Washington's birthday was observed with a very delightful entertainment at Stanley Hall, United States Soldiers' Home, by the Gen. Adna R. Chaffee Camp, No. 18, of the National Indian War Veterans. Col. Chaffee, of the United States Army, son of Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, after whom the camp was named, addressed the veterans.

There were short addresses by State Commander Joshua L. Sprinkle, National Chaplain Joel Buell Shomaker, Camp Commander Phineas Towne and Marie L. Hagmuller, secretary of St. Louis Camp, No. 2, of St. Louis, Mo. Vocal and instrumental music was rendered by Bernard Milofsky, violinist; Glenn Carow, pianist, and Miss Rose Bright and her sister, of the Institute of Musical Art.

After the entertainment the veterans and their friends joined in interesting chats on their early days of soldiering in the West among the Indians. PHINEAS TOWNE.

Foolish Reports of "Starving School Children" in Washington—Community Caring for Its Own.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The more I hear about the proposed $30,000 appropriation to provide food for alleged starving school children in Washington the more I am provoked by it. We are thoroughly equipped to meet any special need which may have been caused by hard times, and it is humiliating to have the news spread abroad that Washington is so stingy or so poverty stricken that it will not or can not take care of its own.

There are well-meaning people who have such a flair for poverty in distress that they grossly exaggerate conditions. They are to blame for any unfair reflection on the National Capital resulting from the obnoxious dole proposal, and your early and emphatic opposition to it has pleased me very much. A PARENT.

Reporter's Kindness to Injured Animal Commended.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Allow me to commend The Post reporter who discovered an injured opossum as the center of attraction of a crowd, and who was charitable enough to remove it to a hospital.

Too bad the crowd of onlookers was not instilled with some of his kindness! A. M. F.

Comment on Conflicting Attitude Toward Helpless Animals.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I was happy to learn from Virginia Sargent's letter in The Post of one human being with enough imagination and compassion to feel concern for the helpless cats and kittens which are often abandoned with the tearing down of buildings.

It was impossible to help contrasting the attitude of the writer of this letter with that of the thoughtless crowd of fox hunters whose "sport"—(harrying a pathetic helpless small creature and rending it limb from limb) was likewise reported in The Post. HELEN C. MOORE.

FRANCE TO REDUCE HER NAVY, REPORT

She Will Expect Recognition of Necessity for Big Army, Is Claim.

Paris, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—In usually well-informed circles here it was said today France had consented to reduce the tonnage in her projected naval building program in a desire to make possible French and Italian adherence to the London naval treaty, but would expect recognition of what she regards as the necessity for maintaining an army big enough to guarantee security.

It was said that there was reason to believe that Great Britain had assured France that Britain would keep in mind the French army stand at the disarmament conference to be held in 1932. It was understood also that France and Great Britain would collaborate in the domain of finance to restore European economic stability.

Rome, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—The British naval delegation, Arthur Henderson, A. V. Alexander and R. L. Craigie, came here with their naval plan tonight into an atmosphere of welcome warmth, both physical and mental.

They went immediately to the British embassy, met the Italian experts who plan to spend the night studying the figures embodied in their formula of agreement.

Valuable Estate Willed to G. W. U.

Mrs. Emma Catherine Carr, Former Resident Here, Makes Bequest.

George Washington University will receive almost the entire proceeds from the sale of the estate of the late Mrs. Emma Catherine Scott Carr, former Washington woman, according to the terms of her will filed for probate yesterday in Moorefield, W. Va. Mrs. Carr died at her Moorefield home February 16. She was considered the wealthiest woman in the community.

The will provides that her property, both real and personal, shall be sold by the executor, Tracey L. Jeffords, of Harpers Ferry and Washington, and the funds derived turned over to the university to found scholarships for students qualified in scholarship, with a capacity for leadership and good citizenship. Mrs. Carr also possessed a large library, most of which is bequeathed to the university.

Mrs. Carr's estate consists of a farm 1 mile south of Moorefield, a tract of land on South Fork, a residence, two building lots, another small house in Moorefield and a quantity of Government bonds and other securities.

Former Prague Envoy Here Says Oath Ends Citizenship

Karl Pergler, Naturalized American Ousted From Czechoslovakian Parliament, Declares Diplomatic Post Restored Him to Native Country.

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Karl Pergler, former Cedar Rapids, Iowa, lawyer, who was removed as a member of the Czechoslovak Parliament yesterday because of his American citizenship, told the Associated Press today he had regarded himself as of Czechoslovakian citizenship by virtue of having served as that country's minister to Washington.

"I became a naturalized American," he said, "while practising as an attorney at Cedar Rapids. When President Masaryk appointed me to the post at Washington, both he and I assumed that I resumed Czechoslovakian citizenship by accepting the appointment.

"I swore allegiance to the Czechoslovakian state, realizing that thereby I forfeited my American citizenship. In the interval since then Czechoslovakia has adopted a constitution providing that assumption of citizenship be accompanied by certain solemn formalities which were omitted in my case, but both President Masaryk and I were persuaded that by accepting Czechoslovakian office I became a citizen regardless of what I had been before."

Mr. Pergler, who also has represented his country as its minister to Tokyo, said his removal from the parliament was on the ground that "too many noncitizens are serving in public office," but he asserted the Czechoslovakian minister to France, Dr. Osusky, also is an American citizen, and the minister to Russia was in the same boat.

He characterized his removal as an act inspired by his political opponents and a "breach of the rights vouchsafed Czechoslovaks in the convention between Czechoslovakia and the United States."

MOVE TO MAKE CITY MODEL IN CHILD HEALTH ADVANCED

conditions of health and welfare of children in the District of Columbia, with a view to reporting to this committee at the next regular session of Congress a comprehensive plan to improve general conditions of health and physical development of children, to foster the use of the best known methods of mental hygiene for children and to increase and extend the opportunities, with equality for all children, as nearly as possible, of developing into healthy, capable and socially desirable citizens.

"It is desired that the City of Washington, being the National Capital, shall, if possible, be unsurpassed by any other community, in providing conditions of education and environment conducive to the highest ultimate development of child life, if it is within the power of Congress to provide such conditions.

"The Board of Commissioners is further requested to conduct a public conference with particular reference to the health and welfare of children in the District of Columbia, which shall be participated in by public officers, such as the health officer, Board of Education, superintendent of schools, public welfare officer, the members of the judiciary, and to which shall be invited such other individuals and representatives of organizations and institutions as in the opinion of the Board of Commissioners might reasonably be expected to contribute something of value to the study above mentioned.

"It is also desired that the hazards and burdens of motherhood be considered as being a matter which vitally and profoundly affects the welfare of children and the future security and greatness of our country."

The resolution was adopted unanimously when it was presented by Mr. McLeod.

PRESIDENT RECEIVES MASONIC MASTERS

Annual Conference of U. S. Lodgemen Held Here; Officers Named.

Grand masters of Masonic jurisdictions throughout the Nation yesterday were received by President Hoover at the White House, as the conference of grand masters of Masons in the United States convened in annual session at the Willard Hotel.

James T. Gibbs, grand master here in 1928, led the delegation to the White House. Following the visit, the visiting masters were entertained at luncheon at the Willard. The conference adjourned following an afternoon business session.

Herbert W. Dean, of Cheshire, Mass., grand master of Masons in Massachusetts, was elected chairman of the 1931 conference, succeeding Milton L. Meyers, of Oregon. For the fifth consecutive year, J. Claude Keiper, grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of Masons of the District, was re-elected.

C. Fred Cook, grand master of Masons of the District, greeted the visitors at the opening session. Plans for opening the Masonic Memorial at Alexandria next year were discussed, with William S. Snyder, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee on agenda. Melvin M. Johnson, of Boston, suggested that the Blue Lodges contribute the only official portion of the dedication program. Although funds are available for heating, ventilating and wiring the memorial and building a road, grand masters were called on to raise further money to insure completion of the hall and auditorium in time for the dedication.

The Rev. John C. Palmer, grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of the District of Columbia, opened the morning session with invocation.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

CONOCO

Yes, Sir, I can back up what I say about Germ-Processed Oil with actual proof, O.K'd by A·A·A·

THREE stock cars from three price classes went through six weeks of testing on Pike's Peak. Three nationally known oils were used in comparison with Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil. All of the testing was directly supervised by the American Automobile Association.

At the end of six weeks the AAA took the more than ten thousand observations, then issued a report of the outcome. The report stated that in the Pike's Peak Tests Conoco Motor Oil had shown a reduction of 76.4% in the rate of motor wear ... that it had shown greater stability ... had lowered frictional temperatures ... increased compression pressures ... reduced oil consumption ... added to gasoline mileage ... reduced crankcase dilution ... lengthened motor life.

No higher authority could have been called upon to prove the merits of Germ-Processed oil. No more sweeping commendation could have been asked for. The complete story of the Pike's Peak tests is told in an attractive booklet. We'll gladly send you a copy upon your request mailed to "Conoco, Ponca City, Oklahoma" ... or you can obtain it at stations showing the sign of the Conoco Red Triangle when you go there to change to Germ-Processed oil, as thousands of other motorists are doing every day.

Travel with a Conoco Passport! ... Send an outline of your proposed motor trip or let us help plan your trip. Get a Conoco passport, individually marked maps and other travel helps ... all FREE! Anne Chilton Dances With Prince George Ambassador's Daughter in Chile Known Here as Little Girl.

As the Prince of Wales continues his picturesque journey down the coast of South America in search of triumphs in the realm of British commerce, the American girl also is reaping a few triumphs of her own. Comes news of the attention showered upon Miss Anne Chilton, daughter of the British Ambassador to Chile and Lady Chilton, by Prince George at the gay new cabaret at Vina Del Mar Tuesday night. With the heir to the throne, Prince George attended the dance at the casino by the sea where they danced the tango and where the pretty daughter of Sir Henry and Lady Chilton captured the fancy of her monarch's youngest son.

Famous or their fondness for dancing the Prince of Wales and Prince George and their partners created the "hit" of the evening with the combination waltz and tango steps, the latest and most unusual on the floor that night.

It may come as a shock to Washingtonians, scrupulously disregarding the passing years, to visualize charming "little" Anne Chilton grown into a sophisticated young lady. Too youthful to enter society while her father served in Washington as Counselor of the British Embassy, Anne was still going to school at fashionable St. Timothy's near Baltimore. Except for brief holidays the young girl was seldom seen in the Capital.

Since the departure of the Chilton's from this country Henry Chilton has served as Minister to the Vatican, where his duties were particularly arduous owing to the concordat signed at that time between the Quirinal and Pope Pius XI. The Ambassador and Lady Chilton have another daughter, Miss Betty Chilton, who made her debut in Washington, her coming out immediately proving the signal for a series of fetes in the diplomatic set enjoyed by few buds that season. Lady Chilton is the daughter of the former Ambassador to Japan, Mr. Thomas O'Brien, the family home being in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Fair maids who have conquered Washington seem to have charm for the British princes. Only a fortnight or so ago the lovely daughter of Mrs. Ormond Lawson Johnson, Jane Mason Kendall, was invited by the princes to board the Oropesa, anchored in the harbor of Havana during their short stay there en route to South America. Called by Mrs. Coolidge the "prettiest girl ever to enter the White House" Jane Kendall, now Mrs. George Mason, jr., apparently continues adding laurels to her popularity. Mr. Mason is attached to the office of the American consul general in Havana.

British Rulers Approve Long Skirts for Court

London, Feb. 25 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—King George and Queen Mary today approved four designs for gowns and trains to be worn at Buckingham Palace Courts during the coming season—designs which revealed that debutantes will wear long skirts terminating just below the ankle and revealing the feet.

A design for a debutante's gown, on view this afternoon at the Lord Chamberlain's office, St. James' Palace, is carried out all in white. The skirt is full and flared, hanging in three folds. The bodice is cut low in front with a rounded decolletage. The shoulder straps are ornamented with lace ruff effects. White gloves reaching above the elbow and a little Victorian posy complete the ensemble.

The waistline of the bodice comes below the natural waistline, and the edge of the dress and of the train and bodice are trimmed with pointed diamante. The maximum length of trains this year will be two yards.

Mrs. Herrick Chosen Head Of Democrats

Woman's Club at Dinner Hears Result of Election.

"Out with the old and in with the new" characterized the dinner held last evening at the Woman's National Democratic Club to announce the results of the elections held there yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Samuel Herrick was elected president to succeed Mrs. J. Borden Harriman who has held the position two years, the scope of the term of office. Mrs. John Allan Dougherty was made first vice president to succeed Mrs. Charles S. Hamlin, who moved down a step to the office of second vice president, succeeding Mrs. J. Harry Covington.

Elected to the board of governors were: Mrs. Catherine Filene Dodd, Mrs. Rose Yates Forrester, Mrs. Edward Keating, Mrs. John B. Kendrick and Mrs. Harriman. The club, it seems, is unwilling to part with the latter's guiding hand.

The officers of the organization were elected without opposition, since no one ran on rival tickets.

At the close of the business meeting a testimonial to Mrs. Harriman was made by the members of the board of governors in behalf of her untiring efforts toward the progress of the club. Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, as a tribute from the governors, presented Mrs. Harriman with a large bouquet of flowers.

Representative Ruth Bryan Owen was the guest of honor and speaker at the dinner.

Among those entertaining at the dinner were Mrs. John Allan Dougherty, Mrs. Joseph Davies, Mrs. J. Harry Covington, Mrs. Thomas Page, Mrs. W. W. Hubbard, Mrs. Julien Mason, Miss Lucy Minnegerode, Mrs. Sallie V. H. Pickett, Mrs. Ogilvie Shumate, Mrs. Lucien Clarke, Mrs. James T. Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Condon, Mrs. Rose Yates Forrester, Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Chesterman, Miss A. W. Robertson, of New London, Conn.; Mrs. Frank West, Mrs. John Grimesley, Dr. and Mrs. Lewis J. Battle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Warren, Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Herrick.

In Mr. and Mrs. Herrick's party were Mrs. Claude Porter, Miss Genevieve Brown, Miss Agnes Lemon, Miss Louise Johnson, Miss Imogene Howell, Mrs. Rushmore Patterson, Mrs. A. E. Stuart, Mrs. Frank Bright, Maj. Julia Stimson, Mrs. Richard Boeckel and Mrs. Donald Macdonald.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Keating entertained a party of ten, among their guests being Senator-elect and Mrs. Edward Costigan, Senator and Mrs. Burton K. Wheeler and Mr. and Mrs. Basil Manly. Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Kay had among their guests Mrs. Edward Meigs, Miss Clara V. Smith, Miss Caroline Reilly, Miss Adele Stamp and Miss Lavinia Engle, member of the Maryland State Legislature. It's very easy to catch cold when you are tired out
It does not pay to go home "dead tired." Your system, in such a condition, has virtually no resistance. As a result you may get chilled — then comes a cold.
The "dead tired" feeling can be avoided by eating or drinking a wholesome sweet food such as a soda fountain beverage, ice cream, candy, or sweet cakes. These are quickly digested and the energy in the sugar is quickly available to renew vigor.
At this time of the year diet plays an important part in the maintenance of health. Foods should be chosen for vitamins, minerals and roughage. For quick fuel and palatability, sweet foods should be included. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

By ROBERT D. HEINL

UNUSUAL radio reception, the finest in years, is now being enjoyed, Morris Metcalf, of Providence, R. I., president of the Radio Manufacturers Association, declares. Mr. Metcalf is of the opinion that this condition is traceable to "sun spots."

It is predicted that radio reception will probably get even better in 1932 and in the spring of 1933.

Efrem Zimbalist will make one of his infrequent microphone appearances tonight (WJZ, 9:30 p. m.). The violinist will play five numbers: "Zigeunerweisen" (Sarasate), "Hymn to the Sun" (Rimsky-Korsakoff), "Humoresque" (Dvorak) and his own "Japanese Song" and "Honeydew Selections."

The new program of the "Dutch Masters" will be heard for the first time tomorrow night (WMAL, 8:30 p. m.).

AN example of a quick switch of programs in which the morning papers were left holding the bag with an incorrect program was the cancellation of last night's Marine Band concert to make way for the new Barbasol offering from New York.

Radio editors were not notified by station WMAL until yesterday, long after the morning papers had gone to press, but it develops that others here knew the day before that the band was out and that WMAL would carry the new program instead.

Owen Davis, playwright, whose previously scheduled radio appearance was postponed because of the Papal broadcast, will speak this morning (WMAL, 11 a. m.).

The James E. Sullivan Memorial Medal will be presented to Bobby Jones during a testimonial dinner at the Medinah Athletic Club, Chicago, tonight (WJZ, 10 p. m.).

UP-TO-THE-MINUTE burglars and crooks, in cities where the police are equipped with radio, now watch atmospheric conditions carefully. They plan their major operations for nights when static is liable to interfere with the police radio telephone, thus allowing themselves more time for a getaway.

In the absence of Walter Damrosch for a vacation, three high school units will demonstrate the development of musical talent and interest in music in the public schools of today during his regular period tomorrow morning (WRC, 11 a. m.).

These organizations are the Utrecht High School Orchestra, Brooklyn, N. Y.; the Senn a Cappella Chorus, Nicholas Senn High School, Chicago, and the High School Brigade Band, 100 young musicians from the high schools of the District of Columbia.

Bernice Claire, star of "The Desert Song," will appear tomorrow evening (WJ network, 9:30 p. m.).

Arthur Bagley, the exercise man, estimates his mail to have been pretty close on to one million letters over a five-year period.

LISTENER demand for classical music, the figures of one of the chains show, increases gradually as the barometer descends to winter levels. And the summer months, with their lassitude and appetite for light entertainment, bring a corresponding demand for popular tunes.

The Radio Guild presentation tomorrow afternoon (WRC, 4:10 p. m.), will be "The Romantic Age."

Handel, writer of many oratorios, including "The Messiah," will be "reincarnated" in the Birthday Party tonight (WRC, 9 p. m.).

AN immense collection of works of art of the Shahs of Persia, now on exhibition in the Royal Academy in London, are protected by a beam of light which is a part of a device known as a radiovisor. If an arm or a walking stick passes between two pedestals, a buzzer sounds throughout the building and all doors are automtically closed.

A woman's voice was introduced in the Amos and Andy skit for the first time last night when Madam Queen continued her testimony in the breach of promise suit. It is believed the voice was that of the resourceful Amos.

HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Roy Sermsby

FEAR OF THE DARK
PRIMITIVE MEN HAD TO WANDER ALONE AND UNPROTECTED AT NIGHT THROUGH FORESTS HAUNTED BY HUGE BEASTS OF PREY. THE INSTINCT WHICH PROMPTED THEM TO FEAR AND FLEE WAS THEIR GREATEST PROTECTION. WE, MODERNS, HAVE NO CAUSE TO FEAR THE DARK, BUT STILL RETAIN THE INSTINCT.
LAUGH BEFORE BREAKFAST
OUR SUPERSTITIOUS ANCESTORS BELIEVED THAT IF THEY APPEARED HAPPY TOO EARLY IN THE DAY IT WOULD MAKE THE EVIL SPIRITS JEALOUS AND ANXIOUS TO HARM THEM. SO THEY REFRAINED FROM EARLY MORNING CHEER.
SHOT AT SUNRISE
WHEN COURTS OF EARLIER DAYS CONDEMNED A MAN TO DEATH, IT WAS CUSTOMARY TO HAVE THE EVENT TAKE PLACE AS EARLY IN THE DAY AS POSSIBLE. WHEN THE SUN ROSE, SO THE MILITARY SQUAD COULD SEE CLEARLY TO SHOOT. THE JOB WAS DONE. THE GRIM CUSTOM IS STILL FOLLOWED.

Dare INTERPRETS the MODE

White Cape Marocain trimmed with midnight blue and white dotted silk, and blue jersey jacket also trimmed with blue dotted silk. (A Dah-ray design.)

Paris, Feb. 25.

HERE are some new color notes that might interest you, that I'm sure you'll hear more about later, so just watch and see. The first is that Patou is sponsoring yellow, and if you remember, I suggested a little while back that this might happen, although I did not say that it might happen in the Patou collection. There had to be some decided relief, you see, from turquoise and coral, and yellow would be a more decided relief than green. However, as to green, Mme. Tollmann just got through telling me that she was going to continue to feature green, because it was a color that she adored and one that she found to be youthful. She shows it in every shade at her collection. Personally I have found that once you get used to wearing green and select certain shades in it which are really becoming to you, it actually has a stimulating and flattering effect.

* * * *

Mauve and shades of violet continue their popularity for indoor wear. There is something essentially feminine and boudoirish about mauve that makes it dear to milady's heart, I do believe.

If you're not the type for the dainties colors, then there are stronger shades of mauve and purple with which you can give character to the lavenders. And always remembering that lavender, violet or mauve is a combination of red and blue, you can choose a tone that is either more red or more blue to suit your particular type of coloring.

* * * *

And then one must not overlook the orchids and mauves for summer evening wear—my but it seems a long time since I saw anything in these shades on the dance floor!

The thing to do is to get ahead of the color game—wear smart colors first and when all the world and her sister wears them you will just have decided to give it up.

* * * *

Can you get excited about a hat that's three different hats? I can and did and bought it and just to show you how much I love you I ripped it all to pieces so that you could make "a" new spring hat that is three new spring hats.

And for just a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to the Dare Department of The Washington Post you can have a new spring hat—because absolutely any one can make it from my illustrated directions. And don't forget either that it is one of those hats that I just couldn't live without, and am wondering how I am going to get over, through and by the exchequer right this minute. But you're in luck, because you're going to make yours.

* * * *

Elegance in sports wear! You can see what I mean by looking at the white marocain dress I have illustrated for you today with its yoke-like skirt trimmed with fine blue jersey, polka-dotted in white, and its odd shoulder insertions which tie in tiny bows at each shoulder.

And then there is a chic blue jersey jacquette with brass buttons, of course, lined in the white-dotted jersey and collared in it. Oh, and I almost forgot to tell you that between the yoke and the skirt pleats, the diagonal bands are incrustations.

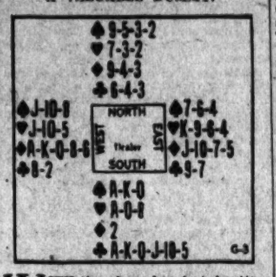
WORK ON BRIDGE

A VALUABLE DUMMY.



WITH the above hand at Auction Bridge, South would bid one Club, West one Diamond and, after North and East passed, South would bid two Clubs. If either adversary called two Diamond, South would bid three Clubs.

Played at Contract Bridge, South counted ten sure tricks, with another Heart trick if West happened to open that suit. The eleventh trick was assured with any opening lead if North had the King or Jack of Hearts. Therefore South did not want the bidding to end with less than five Clubs.

South could have taken the contract with an original bid of five Clubs; but wishing to find out whether North held the Ace of Diamonds (the only Ace not held by South) and a King (which might be either the Heart or the Diamond) South made the artificial bid of two Clubs. Had North shown an Ace and a King by answering with two No Trumps, a small slam would have been a cinch; but West bid two Diamonds. North and East passed, and South ended the contracting with a bid of five Clubs.

In the play, West led the King and Ace of Diamonds to tricks 1 and 2, South trumping the latter. South then led four Spades, and a small Heart; but East had kept his King of Hearts doubly guarded and it did not drop on South's Ace, so South lost three tricks and failed to make his contract.

THE CORRECT PLAY.

South should have trumped trick 2 with an honor. Even if all the adverse trumps were in one hand, he would still be able to draw them; if they were evenly divided, dummy could get an entry by overtaking South's Five with the Six. After trumping with an honor, South should exhaust the adverse trumps; then lead three Spades on the chance that the six adverse Spades were divided 3-3. It was not probable that there would be such a division but it would cost nothing to find out.

When the even break in Spades was obtained, Declarer would put dummy in with a trump to make the thirteenth Spade, and then would have a chance for a Heart finesse, knowing if it lost he would still make his game, and if it won he would get an extra trick. The latter, of course, was the fortunate happening.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

A Man's World.

DEAR Frances McDonald: My trouble may not seem like much to you but it is pretty hard on me. I am only 25 and married seven years. My husband is 27 and we have two children. One is 6 years and the other 6 months.

The argument is this. My husband claims it is his right to go to the clubroom after work with his friends and stay for two hours before coming home to eat dinner. Then he eats and goes to sleep. He says just because I have to be tied is no reason for him to be, too. He says that is the wife's part—to stay home with the kids and his part is to provide a home for them all to stay in. This he does and also wants me to go anywhere I like in the day time with the children. He is generous and never questions anything I do. But he will not come home and stay with me evenings. Only comes home, eats and gets ready for bed.

I tried leaving him. I did that and took the children but I ran out of money and as I knew he would never come after us I had to go back. What else could I do to make him see that it is his place to be a father as much as mine to be a mother?

DOT.

Well, Dot, to start with it is a man's world. And to complicate the situation, what your husband claims is almost true. Strictly speaking it really is the woman's part to be the home-keeper, at least while her babies are young. The trouble with your home is that you both married too young. You still want the things that young people crave. He wants to be where there is something doing, noise, people, excitement. You want to be at least made love to. You are both acting your age!

In your place, Dot, instead of leaving a man who was according to his light doing his duty, I would try to realize how fortunate I was to have found one who at least came home ready to be tucked in for the night like one more baby and I would try to mother him just as I did the other two. Man was unquestionably the strangest animal that went into the ark. But as he is we have to take him and make the best of him. And it takes some art to know him to bring out all the best and soft pedal all the worst in any one particular man. You could quite easily change your man for the worse by being cross over his club activities. If you scold and act moody when he really believes he is doing all a man can do, he might form the habit of going out after as well as before dinner. Therefore your line should be the safely-sheltered wife gladly tending the home fires for the man who so nobly does the sheltering.

After a little petting and fussing he might begin to think that after all it was not so bad to come home and play king.

You can't force a man to love his home and babies. And you can't decide a man does not love his home just because he likes to hang around with the crowd exchanging wisdom. You simply have to bring out the best and ignore the worst. And the worst in your particular man is a tendency to stubbornness. So beware of arousing it. And begin to teach the babies to make a fuss over their daddy. Most wives make a big mistake when they monopolize the love of their children. The husband feels defrauded. He has lost the wife's undivided attention and has gained nothing to take its place. The children immediately become in his eyes her affair. Try training Junior to leave a little present at daddy's plate before going to bed. Daddy may get home early the next day. Use more molasses, Dot.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE name three deciduous and three evergreen trees that will provide food for birds.

ANN T. Y.

Spice bush, barberry and Japanese winterberry are three deciduous trees. Among the evergreens are American holly, Canadian juniper and red cedar.

Please tell me of three reliable ground-cover plants. I want a choice, as I can then choose the least expensive. Also tell me which you consider the best irrespective of cost.

MRS. HELEN G.

English ivy, periwinkle and Japanese spurge are all desirable ground-cover plants. I personally prefer the pachysandra, or Japanese spurge.

Please tell me of a good rapid-growing vine which isn't too expensive. A NEW HOME BUILDER.

There are two reliable, rapid-growing vines, the kudzu vine and the polygonium auberti. Neither of these vines is expensive.

I have a corner near a stone wall which I want to fill with some shrub this spring. Being an angle, I scarcely know what to select. My landscape architect has suggested a variety of euonymus. Is this a wise choice? JOSEPH T. W.

Yes, I know of nothing better for such a location.

Please tell me how to space the plants in a privet hedge.

MARICE R. P.

It is important to plant closely and plant when possible in a double row. For low hedges space 12 to 18 inches; for medium hedges, 18 inches to 2 feet; for high hedges, 2 to 4 feet.

I have a steep, sunny slope on the back of my ground where nothing will grow. Have you any suggestions of vines or plants which might be coaxed into living in such a location? MRS. HENRY F.

Yes, any of the following should do beautifully on such a piece of ground. Yellow root (Xanthorrhiza), rapid-growing Hall's honeysuckle or trailing Japanese rose (Rosa wichuriana). You might also plant Forsythia suspensa, which is quite spreading.

I have a rock garden which has been quite barren this winter. Is there anything you could suggest which might add to its beauty at this season? JAMES Y. T.

I would suggest planting a few junipers and savins, spreading yews and other low-growing evergreen.

Can you please tell me how to rid my lawn of ants. I want to be prepared for them in case any attempt to take possession of my grass plot as they did last year. I am afraid to use bisulphide of carbon. I have been told there is a patent preparation which is more scientific and, what is more important, more efficacious. Can you give me the name of this preparation? MARY T. O.

If you care to write again, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, I shall be glad to send you the name of a preparation which will, if you follow the directions on the container, soon rid your property of ants. We can not publish trade names in this column.

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is supplied.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"PISCES."

IF February 26 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1:30 p. m., and from 4:15 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. The danger period is from 7:30 p. m. to 9 p. m.

The planetary aspects of February 26 are stimulating and strong. It will prove to be an auspicious occasion for the making of decisions and for important changes. In the evening, emotions will be stirred, and Love's dream will become true.

A child born on this February 26 will be a fighter, and not only in early youth, but throughout life. It will strongly resent any individual or public injustice. It will always stand up for its rights and be self-reliant. It will not, however, be diplomatic. Its affections will be strong. Its dislikes will be enduring.

If you were born on February 26, you have a rugged character, and one that is strong and dominating. You are not much of a talker, but you are some doer. The more difficult the task, the greater your desire to tackle it. There is no such word as "can't" in your vocabulary or philosophy of life.

You have a great fund of common sense, a homely humor and a ready wit. Some make an appeal by their helplessness, but you make your appeal by strength. Added to your other gifts, you are shrewd in the best sense of the term—and, although you never try to "put one over" on your neighbor, you are wide awake to see that he does not "put one over" on you.

Your life, according to your horoscope, promises to be full of successes. This will not give you "a swollen head," and neither will any of the reverses you will undergo prove a "K. O."

In your social relationships, you are rather more silent than the average person. On the other hand, you are a good listener, and nothing is more agreeable to those who talk. Your convictions are strong, and though you will rarely voice them, you will act them all the time. In your home you will be a "tower of strength" and a practical comforter.

Pour water over gelatin mixture and stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice and salt. Cool. Add rest of ingredients. Pour into glass mold rinsed out of cold water. Chill until stiff.

YOUR NAME

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph. D.

THE family name "Holt" may be English, Scandinavian or German. In all cases it means "wood" or "forest," and it generally implies an original place of residence near a grove. In Germany "Holt" is a low German variation of the common name "Holz." In England "Holt" occurs in the oldest records. A certain Henry de la Holte and a William del Holt are mentioned in the Hundred Rolls.

The family name "Adler" has come down to us from two main sources. It is frequently derived from the old high German "adal," meaning "noble." There is evidence that in many other cases it means "the eagle" and was generally applied to persons who lived in a dwelling which displayed the picture or image of an eagle as a means of identification. This family name appears to be first recorded in the year 1316.

The family name "Markey" is of Celtic origin, its source being the Irish "O Marcaigh," which means "the descendant of Marcach." The personal name "Marcach" means "the rider." This name is especially common in County Monaghan, Ulster. Many families which originally bore this name have changed it to the translated forms, "Rider" and "Ryder."

The family name "Rapp" (also spelled "Rappe") has come down to us from two main sources. It is generally the modern form of the old Germanic personal name "Hraband," which means "the raven." In some cases it is a shortened form of an old personal name based on the Germanic "redas," meaning "advice."

The personal name "Samuel" is ultimately of Hebrew origin and means "asked of God."

BEHIND THE SCREENS

With NELSON B. BELL.

TOMORROW night 'East Lynne.'"

Paraphrased to embrace a midforenoon opening, this time-honored line ceases to be a borrowed wisecrack from the variety stage, but, come Friday, will be the fact at the Fox Theater.

A Tuesday midnight preview of this widely heralded F street offering demonstrated conclusively to a small and appreciative audience that Frank Lloyd, the director, whose greatest previous achievement will always stick in mind as "The Sea Hawk," has succeeded in translating this venerable classic of the one-night stands into an extraordinarily fine picture. Executed on an imposing scale of both magnitude and magnificence, "East Lynne," as a dialogue picture possesses beauty, charm and power. Furthermore, it permits Ann Harding to present the most varied, the most appealing and the most radiantly beautiful character portrayal she has ever brought to the screen.

To be sure, "East Lynne" can not, by the farthest stretch of the imagination, be catalogued as sprightly or flippantly frolicsome entertainment; but, stripped of its maudlin sentimentality—as it is here—punctuated with enlivening flashes of gay Vienna cabarets, brief glimpses of the fighting front as it crept nearer and nearer Paris in the Franco-Prussian War, and graced by a diversity of scene that only the screen could successfully encompass, it becomes at once a colorful and an interesting example of the miracle that can be accomplished by intelligence and skill in the adaptation of an inherently sound, if flagrantly abused, dramatic story.

Perhaps no less interesting than Miss Harding's superb performance is the equally deft assumption of the comparatively minor role of Cornelia Carlyle by Cecelia Loftus, the conspicuously capable character actress who in the triumphant days of her inspired mimicry in musical comedy, vaudeville and revue was affectionately known on both sides of the Atlantic as "Cissie."

Not only Miss Loftus, but Conrad Nagel and Clive Brook, also, contribute impersonations the excellence of which is apt to be obscured by the totally unsympathetic nature of the characters they portray—a risk that is not at all run by Beryl Mercer and O. P. Heggie in splendid roles which they play splendidly.

My friendly advice would be not to be misled on this one by the unfortunate ten-twent-thirt implication of the title. It's a real picture.

Among the distinguished visitors breezing into the Capital from the far West in the wake of Washington's Birthday and its attendant celebrations is Mr. Harry Hammond Beall, the big-shot publicist of Southern California—meaning the State and not the university—who is a member of the entourage of Dr. Hilario Moncado, president of the Filipino Federation of America, ensconced at the Willard.

It was Mr. Beall, who both spells and pronounces it that way, you will recall, who touched off all the fireworks illuminating the Los Angeles and New York premieres of multimillionaire Howard Hughes' modest little $4,000,000 production of "Hell's Angels." He is also mouthpiece for that other fabulous figure of the fillums, Mickey Mouse. When "Ham" was here about a year ago he was still president of the WAMPAS, West Coast association of motion picture press agents, but has since traded that title for about six others, some of which carry gold badges.

Keep an eye out for this bird; he's apt to barge in on you any time, armed with more credentials than Sousa has medals!

When Vic Shapiro, chief of publicity for Fox, was in the city briefly a few weeks ago, he prattled about a new beauty by the name of Elissa Landi until a stranger might have been pardoned for thinking him not quite bright. Since then a steady stream of postcards has filtered across this desk proclaiming further the unexampled perfections of this young woman in the name of authors, artists, critics, style arbiters, Fuller brush salesmen, vacuum cleaner agents, unemployed apple merchants and itinerant window bathers. They all think she is a great guy.

We shall see shortly. Miss Landi, in costellar partnership with Charlie Farrell in "Body and Soul," will occupy the screen at the Fox immediately following the engagement of "East Lynne," and she better be good!

Just to allay feverish anxiety, the whole story for the new week will be as follows: Fox, "East Lynne" and Fanchon & Marco stage show; Palace, Gary Cooper and Lily Damita, in "Fighting Caravans," and Loew stage revue; Earle, Lila Lee and Sidney Blackmer in "Woman Hungry," with Sammy White and Eva Puck headlining the vaudeville; Rialto, Jean Collyer in "Damaged Love;" RKO-Keith's, Helen Twelvetrees in "Millie;" Columbia, Greta Garbo in "Inspiration," second week; Metropolitan, Marie Dressler and Polly Moran in "Reducing," first half, and Constance Bennett in "The Easiest Way," second; Strand, "Birth," second week.

An invitation from "Bill" Ferguson to fly up to New York to see "Trader Horn" Monday, as guest of M-G-M.

Thanx a lot, Bill; but I'm up in the air most of the time, as it is!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

CURE WORSE THAN DISEASE.

A READER writes: Will you write on how to prevent snoring? What causes it? It not only disturbs sleeper, but others.

REPLY.

That is a large order, rather too large for your humble servant. I can tell what causes it and not raise much discussion, but when it comes to how to overcome it I am not certain of my ground, and I am sure more than one reader will disagree with what is written. Finally, if we should find a cure it would not be easy to get it universally applied.

We might start by asking the Pullman Co. to supply the remedy with each ticket for a night's lodging and then follow up by requiring the porters to awaken the snorers and keep them awake by singing to them.

One difficulty would be in convincing snorers that they were nuisances. Recently I heard some snorers discussing this phase of the subject. One said he was never convinced until he waked himself by snoring. The other combatant said that not even that convinced him, because he charged his wife with the crime of awakening him by snoring and thus cleared himself before the jury hearing that case. A third combatant said snoring was no crime; that he could never go to sleep on a car until the chorus soothed him to slumber. Can't this correspondent see the trouble he has brought on?

Snoring is caused by the breath taking two routes simultaneously, the nose route and the mouth route. The soft palate lies at the fork of the road and, being a piece of membrane, the air currents make it into a musical instrument. But why the use of the second air route? Partly because the nose route is too narrow to supply all the need and partly because, when an adult sleeps on his back his mouth takes on the arrangement of a fly trap.

And then, what is the cure or preventive? The only absolutely satisfactory preventives fall in two groups. One is to ream out the nose until it becomes a more commodious highway. This reaming process goes by several surgical names. It is sometimes justified, as when a child snores because of tonsils and adenoids. However, as a rule, the punishment does not fit the crime. The cure is worse than the disease.

The other groups includes measures to build up such a high degree of muscle tone so that the mouth is held tightly shut even during sleep. That it remains shut during waking hours does not mean that it stays shut from 12 to 3 a. m. To know whether silent Cal snores might help us on this point. There are various minor devices that might help somewhat. A head stall, properly adjusted, may hold the lips together. There is a simple method of sealing the lips with adhesive. The wearing of a knotted belt may prevent one from sleeping on his back. The arrangement of two pillows may promote sleeping on the side.

CHASING OUT BEDBUGS.

Mrs. G. W. S. writes: Here is a safe, sure and easy way to get rid of bedbugs. I do not think any one person has killed as many of these pests as I have, and this is the method used:

Go to any drug store and buy about 20 cents worth of alum. Boil it in six quarts of water for about an hour. With a machine oil can, a sprayer, or an old paint brush—anything that will get the water into all cracks and back of baseboards and window casings—apply liberally and repeat in a few days.

If you have been thorough, there will be no more bugs, as the alum is a strong astringent, and the eggs will not hatch.

WALKER GAINS DECISION OVER RISKO IN SLUGFEST

Conger Wins 1,000-Yard Title, Sexton First in Shot Put in National Carnival

Keller, of France, Is Fourth to Illinois A. C. Star.

Edwards Wins Over Martin to Retain 600-Yd. Crown.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Ray Conger, until a few days ago America's premier miler, came back to the track wars tonight with all his old-time last lap kick to win the 1,000 yards run in the national championships from an international field. The time was 2:14 1-0, only average.

Paul Keller, 800-meter champion of France, was fourth to Conger behind George Bullwinkle, of the City College of New York, and Sam Martin, of the Boston A. A.

Bullwinkle led, with the awkward-running Keller in second position, Conger third and Martin fourth, from the gun to the last lap. There Conger stepped out, and in a stride which kept shoulder to shoulder with the pride of Paris, a step behind Bullwinkle. Rounding the last turn into the stretch, Conger started a terrific sprint that in a stride or two carried him t othe front. He held his narrow yard margin to the finish.

It was a vindication in part for his defeat at the mile in the New York Athletic Club games by Carol Coan, of Pennsylvania.

Sturdy Wins Vault, Failing at Record.

Fred Sturdy, of the Los Angeles A. C., won the pole vault at 13 feet 11 inches. He made three efforts at a new indoor record, setting the bar at 14 feet 1⅞ inches, but failed by narrow margins to clear the bar. Barney Berlinger, of Pennsylvania, and Worth L. Thompson, Yale freshman, tied for second at 13 feet.

Phil Edwards, Canadian Negro star, of Hamilton, Ontario, retained his 600-yard American title, leading Sera Martin, of France, world 800 meter record holder, to the tape by a step in that event. Alex Wilson, of Notre Dame, was third, a step behind Martin. The time was 1:12 6-10, fast for the track.

Leo Sexton, formerly of Georgetown, now competing for the New York A. C., won the shot put with a heave of 48 feet 11 inches. Barney Berlinger, Pennsylvania's all-around star, took enough time off from his pole vaulting to take second place, a foot behind Sexton. Herman Brix, of Los Angeles A. C., did not defend the title he won last year.

Leo Lermond, of the Boston A. A., came back in all his old-time fighting brilliance to win the two-mile race from the classiest distance field in the country, winning by 10 yards from Joseph McClusky, of Fordham University, the defending champion. The time of 9:11 4-5 was fast for American tracks, but still 13 seconds back of Paavo Nurmi's world mark.

National A. A. U. Track Summary

BIG FIGHTERS PRIMED FOR TOURNEY

Southern Conference Teams Boast Star Heavyweights.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—A galaxy of lightheavies and heavies will swap wallops here this week-end for the Southern Conference titles left vacant by a pair of Tulane stars.

Jack Holland, 175-pounder, and Jack Pizzano, unlimited, who won individual championships in the conference boxing tournament last year, lifting the Greenies to third place, are not in this season's competition. In their place, Tulane is sending Sam Zemurray, lightheavyweight and Dylass Hym, heavyweight, both experienced boxers, to bring the belts back to New Orleans.

Duke is entering Cecil Ronkin and Don Hyatt, who are interchangeable for the two divisions. Ronkin distinguished himself this season by his one-round knockout win over Fenton Gentry, of Virginia, and Hyatt, who was eliminated by Pizzano in the tournament last year, is surrounded by championship aura since his twenty-second flooring of Hynson last week.

Gentry, a veteran, will fight Virginia's light heavy battle and despite his loss to Ronkin is considered by no means easy. Herbert Bryant or Lewis Reiss will be entered in the heavyweight class by Virginia.

Sophomore Hope Of Tarheels.

North Carolina has two good light heavies, both sophomores. Hugh Wilson has scored two knockouts, but Platt Landis, whose bad hand has healed, will probably be in the ring. John Warren, veteran heavyweight, will be competing for the third season.

Florida will be defending their championship team with the aid of Gus Houston, a new light heavy, and Carlos Proctor, a man of experience in the unlimited class.

Khoury, the big Egyptian who scrapped Pizzano so closely last season, will again be the unlimited entry from L. S. U. Harry Stark will be in for V. P. I. for the second year. Dunn, of V. P. I.; Faulkner, of W. and L., and Braden, of Mississippi A. and M., are other heavyweight entries.

Some doubt still exists as to just which of the light heavies will be entered by several schools. The Mississippi Aggies have three of them, Blanchard, Danner and Ward. V. M. I. will have to decide between Gill and Kostainsek, and W. and L. between Beacon and Collins. Norton, of Louisiana State, is a new 175-pounder.

WOODSIDE SCORES.

Coming from behind in the second half, the Woodside cagers handed the Red Stars a narrow 40-to-37 lacing last night on the Kensington Armory court. At half-time, the Woodsides were 4 points behind their opponents.

Marks and Kreh, of the winners, and Maxwell and Brown, of the Red Stars, were the outstanding players.

Central Five Routs Silver Spring, 43-16

With Bill Burke, Frank Cumberland and Gene Swift finding the cords to good effect, Central experienced little difficulty yesterday afternoon in handing Silver Spring High a 43-to-16 lacing on the home court of the losers.

Central's leadership was never contested, the Blue and White holding a 13-to-5 advantage at the half.

Bozievich showed signs of developing into something of a marksman in the second half, but his work alone could not offset the consistent accuracy of Central's trio of sharpshooters.

The word "hooch," pertaining to spirituous liquor, is the contraction of Hoochinoo, the name of a Tlingit Indian village formerly located near Sitka, Alaska. Liquor manufactured by the Indians was called hoochinoo at Sitka. A few years after the introduction of "hoochinoo" its making became the most important industry in Alaska.

The fire in the fire hydrant was caused by fumes from a nearby gas main that seeped into the hydrant. A passer-by, stopping to light a cigar, struck a match on the hydrant, igniting the escaping gas.

Biloxi Mayor and City Officials Turn Out To Greet Nats; Due to Open Camp Today

Rookie Group Arrives With Johnson; Delayed by Wreck.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Post Staff Correspondent).

BILOXI, Miss., Feb. 25.—Judging from the crowd at the station here, headed by Mayor John Kennedy and many other city officials, one would have thought President Hoover was arriving instead of a mere baseball squad reporting for practice. Although Manager Walter Johnson and his party of Nats were far behind schedule time, due to an earlier train having piled up through an open draw, the welcoming delegation seemed to increase rather than decrease through the waiting hours.

With the arrival of Johnson's party, which was composed of Pitchers Alvin Crowder, George Grayson, Ray McMahon, Joe Smith and Art Ficher when it left Washington and was increased by Catcher Cliff Bolton and Pitcher "Sad Sam" Jones en route, all of those ordered to report will be on the job at initial practice tomorrow morning except Pitcher John Peregory, who is undergoing an operation in Baltimore and likely will not come here at all.

Many Players Among Welcoming Party.

Those already here, many making up the welcoming party at the station, are Outfielder Sam West, Pitchers Irving Hadley, Lloyd Brown, Ad Liska, Carl Fischer, Lynn Griffith and Walter Tauscher, Catchers Roy Spencer and Ed Kenna and Trainers Mike Martin and F. Riley Baxter.

The trip from Washington was a rather monotonous one and the Johnson party went to bed early tonight so as to be ready to start work bright and early tomorrow.

For the old timers in the Nats' party that overran the New Biloxi Hotel, tonight was just the start of another campaign, but the sizable squad of rookies were eager for the morrow to dawn. Even ere the workouts have started, Manager Johnson and Coaches Altrock and Gharrity have cautioned the recruits about too zealous work and the sore arms that are sure to follow.

HYATTSVILLE AHEAD.

Hyattsville High wound up its basket ball schedule last night at Rockville High gym by taking its hosts into camp to the tune of 36-15.

It was Hyattsville all the way, the eventual winners holding a 17-9 advantage at half-time.

Hyattsville journeys to Baltimore tomorrow night where the winning team of Harford County will be met in the first round of the Maryland scholastic championship.

HITTING THE BASEBALL TRAIL

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Among players who have attracted most attention in initial workouts at the St. Louis Browns' training camp here is Larry Bettencourt, former California football star, who played excellent baseball for Wichita Falls, Tex., last season. Bettencourt is determined to make good in the majors. Manager Bill Killefer hopes he will be able to play right field regularly, thus solving one of the Browns' big problems.

Little Work for Reds.

Tampa, Fla., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Baseball training activities at the Cincinnati Reds' camp here was confined today by cool and blustery weather to fungo hitting and easy tossing by the hurlers.

Cubs Pound New Ball.

Avalon, Calif., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Perhaps it was because the pitchers didn't bear down, but the new National League baseball failed to fool the Chicago Cub sluggers in its first workout today.

Messrs. Wilson, Cuyler, Stephenson and all of the regulars, plus a recruit, Vincent Barton, slammed the ball plenty and far. Manager Rogers Hornsby apparently expected what happened, for he had his pitchers equipped with shin guards. He finished up the three-hour session by taking his place at second base in the regular infield, with Charlie Grimm, Woody English and Lester Bell.

Paul Waner Out Of Hospital.

Paso Robles, Calif., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—The cheering news that Paul Waner, star outfielder who has been under treatment at St. Louis for an infected leg, would be out of the hospital by Monday was received by the Pirates today. He is expected to start practice about March 15.

Johnson to Report To Cardinals.

Bradenton, Fla., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Sylvester Johnson's trunk arrived at the St. Louis Cardinals' hotel this afternoon and the Redbirds heaved a sight of relief as the last of Cardinals' pitchers would arrive shortly from his home at Portland, Oreg.

Sunshine returned after a day of rain and Manager Gabby Street sent his athletes through two workouts.

Charlottesville Teams Bid For District Court Crowns

A. A. U. BASKET BALL TOURNAMENT FACTS

SPONSOR—The Washington Post.
WHEN—Starts March 9.
WHERE—Tech High Gym.
OFFICIALS—Joe and Orrell Mitchell, Tommy Ford (boys and men), referees approved by rating committee (girls and women).
CLASSES—100, 115, 130, 145 pound and unlimited for boys and men; girls up to 18 years, unlimited (women).
PRIZES—Individual A. A. U. championship medals and team trophy.
HOW TO ENTER—Visit or phone The Post Sports Department.
Entries close at midnight tomorrow at the Sports Department of The Post.

A SERIOUS challenge of the supremacy of "kid" basket ball teams of the District of Columbia was noted yesterday with the announcement that the Charlottesville fives would enter two and possibly three teams in the annual A. A. U. basket ball championships of the city, which The Washington Post is sponsoring for the fifth consecutive year.

The Post's tournament is attracting the Charlottesville teams for the second time, the quintets from Virginia having played a prominent part in the division of the honors last year when they won acclaim as the best-drilled teams in the smaller divisions.

Coached by Headmaster Osborn, of the Charlottesville School for Boys, the Virginians will enter the 100 and 115 pound classes with a possibility that a team will be entered in the 130-pound division.

With the closing date for entries set for Friday at midnight, mounting interest and hurried activity on the part of team managers in all classes promise to fill every class with a wealth of teams. The two girls' divisions also are expected to exceed the number of entries recorded in 1930.

Although Tech High School's spacious gymnasium will be the scene of the tournament games, the weighing-in ceremonies for the 145-pound, 130-pound, 115-pound and 100-pound teams will be staged at the Boys Club within a few days after the closing of the entries Friday. No overweights are allowed, thus insuring fair competition for all teams.

Team managers still have two full days to submit their entry blanks to the Sports Department of The Post. A. A. U. officials will be at The Post tonight and tomorrow night to handle the inevitable last-minute rush to register for the tournament.

Hopkins Five Bows, 31-22, To Md. U.

Ronkin Leads Attack in Final Test Before Tourney.

Regulars Give Safe Lead to Reserves Near Finish.

JOHNS HOPKINS was nominated and elected Maryland University's fourteenth victim in eighteen starts last night at Ritchie Gymnasium as 1,000 fans witnessed the end of the mighty Old Liners' regular season. It was a fitting Ritchie Gym swan song, this 31-to-22 victory over the Blue Jays.

Coach Burton Shipley and eight regulars, Chalmers, Ronkin, Norris, Berger, May, Pitzer, Cohan and Wilson depart this afternoon for Atlanta, where Maryland will play Louisiana State in the first round of the annual Southern Conference court tournament.

So long as Maryland's regulars remained in the game last night, nothing that the Jays could do made indent upon Maryland's gleaming armor. It was only when the end of the game was but four minutes away, and the entire first team was removed from the floor, that oJhns Hopkins was able to make headway.

Hopkins Reserves In Brief Rally.

Then Stude and Seigel, Blue Jay substitutes, came through with the eight points while Maryland's reserves were unable to add to the 31 points the regulars had left in their care.

At the start of the game the two teams moved along abreast for ten minutes before Maryland spurted in inimitable style to take a 20-to-11 lead at the half.

Ed Ronkin took the center of the stage in the second half as Maryland's outstanding performer. In the sixteen minutes of the second half in which he appeared, he contributed eight points to keep his team constantly in the van.

Third Corps Court Title At Stake Here Saturday

Basket ball champions of the Third Corps Area will be determined Saturday at the Army War College court with teams from Fort Myer, Va., and Fort Monroe, Va., playing. The Fort Myer quintet won the right to enter the finals by defeating the Fort Hoyle team at Fort George G. Meade Saturday, by the score of 40 to 27.

Augusta Club Is Silent On Retaining Franchise

Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—A special dispatch to the Charlotte News from Augusta today says no action toward retaining their franchise in the South Atlantic Association was taken at a meeting of officials of the Augusta Club last night.

The News dispatch says the meeting was held for the purpose of raising one-half of the $3,000 guarantee to be posted at a league meeting in Charlotte tomorrow.

At a meeting here last week, the Augusta Club was given until tomorrow to decide whether its franchise will be retained.

The Columbia franchise was forfeited last week and Columbus, Ga., formerly of the Southeastern League, tentatively selected to fill the vacancy.

Formal action on Columbus was to have been taken tomorrow in the event Augusta decided to stick.

Hyattsville Pinmen Rout King Pin Team

Henry Hiser's Hyattsville pinmen last night accomplished the goal for which they have been striving for the past month or so—ousting the King Pins from first place in the District League and assuming that position themselves. A three-game sweep did the trick, the Marylanders scoring 597 to 556, 576 to 547 and 559 to 552. The match was rolled on the Hyattsville Arcadia drives.

Prominent in the Hyattsville victory was a 384 set by Oscar Hiser. Clem Weidman topped the King Pins with a 348 effort.

The Hyattsvilles now boasts a half game lead over the King Pins, who are in second place, and a full game advantage over the third place Northeast Temples.

Columbus Five Defeats Lynchburg by Point

A brilliant one-handed shot from the side by Berchmans Mealy, with the end of the game fifteen seconds away, gave Columbus University an upset victory over Lynchburg (Va.) College's BaYaket Ball Team last night at Central High Gym by the score of 32 to 31.

The teams were nip and tuck all the way, with the score standing 17 to 15 in favor of the visitors at the half. Lynchburg led throughout the final half by a narrow margin and seemed on the way to a fine drawn win when Mealy came through with his winning delivery.

Middleweight King Beats Heavy Foe Before 20,000 By Slashing Rally at Miami

Concedes 30 Pounds and Finishes Strong in Final Rounds.

Risko Is Beaten to Punch; Fans Cheer Fast Action.

WINNER

MICKEY WALKER.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN STADIUM, Miami, Fla., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—In a slashing slugfest Mickey Walker pounded out a ten-round victory tonight over Johnny Risko in the feature bout of "Pa" Stribling's heavyweight show. The middleweight champion won the Judges' decision by staging a great finish in the last two rounds.

Walker spotted his rival nearly 30 pounds, weighting 165½, to 194 for Risko.

While the principals sat in their corners, nearly a dozen flatic celebrities were introduced including Maxey Rosenbloom, Jackie Kid Berg, Lew Tendler, the old lightweight star, Bennie Bass, and Primo Carnera.

ROUND ONE—Walker landed the first blow, a light left to the head as they came to a clinch. Johnny tore in with both hands and they were soon head to head in a brisk slugfest. Mickey caught Johnny with a smart left to the ear and they clinched. Grunting in his very best style, Risko repeatedly leaped in with both hands and kept the mauling at close range. Walker was jarred by an overhand right to the head and they exchanged lefts to the body. Johnny was on top of his smaller rival at the bell.

ROUND TWO—Walker stabbed with his left and clinched but Johnny fought himself loose and flayed Mickey with both fists. Risko charged his rival but was clipped by two hard rights to the chin. Walker beat a tattoo on Johnny's ribs and sent the bouncing one back on his heels with a stiff smash to the jaw. Mickey caught Johnny with another swift left to the whiskers and they battled away at a fast clip. Walker was getting the range and tying Risko effectively at close quarters as the gong sounded.

ROUND THREE—Mickey sank his left in Johnny's midsection as they rushed into action. Risko continued his aggressive tactics, but was being beaten to the punch consistently by the hard-punching Irishman. They were pried loose from a half-dozen clinches without much damage having been done. Johnny was missing a lot of punches as he absorbed a pounding around the middle. Walker was showing speed and outboxing Risko as the round ended.

ROUND FOUR — Johnny swung both hands to the head, but Mickey rolled with the punches and cuffed the bouncing ones briskly in return. Risko connected with both hands to the head and roughed Walker along the ropes.

Mickey hooked a beautiful left to Johnny's ear and ducked the counter swing. Risko used his weight advantage at close quarters and kept on top of the middleweight champion. Johnny took three jabs on the nose without even blinking as the bell sounded.

ROUND FIVE—They slugged at a furious pace from the tap of the gong and soon had the crowd in an uproar. Johnny seemed to have a little the better of it but Mickey came off the ropes and fired both hands to the head with telling effect. Both were swinging from the hips in a succession of wild mixups. Johnny battled his way out of a clinch, but was thrown off balance by a left hook to the jaw and backed away.

Johnny was grunting, pushing and mauling Mickey along the ropes at the gong.

ROUND SIX—Mickey sank his left into Johnny's middle and the baker boy grunted. Mickey was warned for hitting low, but Johnny made no protest and bounded back at his rival with both fists. Risko flailed Walker earnestly while the crowd cheered. They were mixing it like a couple of stevedores as the punches flew from all directions. Walker continued his attack to the body but was cut over his left eye by one of Risko's wild swings. They were head to head at the bell.

ROUND SEVEN—Risko started the blood flowing afresh from the gash over Mickey's eye. They were soon in a wild melee. Walker landed heavily to the ribs with his left and forced Johnny to clinch. Walker speared his rival with both hands after avoiding one of Johnny's bull-like rushes. The smaller man cuffed and slashed his rival with a sustained attack as Johnny looked befuddled. Walker's face was a bloody smear but he was fighting desperately. Walker sank his left to the ribs at the bell.

ROUND EIGHT—Mickey fired a straight right to the jaw and stepped inside Risko's counter. Risko landed an overhand right to the jaw but Mickey ripped into his rival with both hands. Johnny continued to force the fighting and they were head to head most of the time. They exchanged hard lefts to the head and the blood was pouring again from Walker's cut eye. Risko tore into his rival without the slightest let up. They were in a clinch at the bell.

ROUND NINE—With little to choose thus far they rushed out with both hands swinging. Mickey rocked Risko with a vicious left to the head, crossed with hi right and Johnny hung on grimly. Johnnny rushed back in but took two more terrific wallops to the jaw, followed by a left that had him groggy. Risko clinched and lost some of his aggressiveness. Johnny was grunting with every punch and seemed tired. Walker ripped a left to the body as the gong sounded.

ROUND TEN—They shook hands and Risko stung Mickey with a left to the ear. Johnny tore back in with both fists working like flails but had his head snapped back by a right uppercut. Walker met Risko's rush with a right smash to the jaw that nearly put Johnny on the floor. Walker connected with another hard right and followed with a terrific left to the body. Johnny was tired and badly battered but still game as he forced Walker to the ropes. A right uppercut staggered Risko and he fell into Walker's arms. Johnny was still full of fight but wild as a hawk and taking terrific punishment at the bell.

Ban Johnson Holds Own in Life Battle

St. Louis, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—No change was evident tonight in the condition of Ban Johnson, former head of the American League, who is seriously ill in a hospital.

His physician, Dr. Robert F. Hyland, said the former baseball leader continued to lapse into delirium at times.

Savoldi Suspended For Butting Tactics

San Francisco, Calif., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—"Jumping Joe" Savoldi's professional wrestling career in California was halted today when he was suspended for 30 days because of butting tactics used in winning a match here last night.

The State Athletic Commission in announcing the suspension of the former Notre Dame football back, said he butted the veteran Howard Cantonwine so severely in their match that the Iowan was under a doctor's care for several hours.

The commission said "Jumping Joe" repeatedly had ignored the referee's warning. It was Savoldi's second professional wrestling match.

Florida Open Golfers Are Led by O'Conner

Florida Country Club, Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—John O'Conner, 27-year-old professional from Lake George, N. Y., today put a par 72 together with a first round of 73 for 145 to lead at the halfway mark of the Florida open golf tournament here.

The lanky New Yorker was a stroke ahead of the veteran, Al Espinosa, Chicago, who smacked out a 71 today to add a total of 146.

Howard U. Defeats Livingston, 35 to 20

The Bison quint of Howard University last night defeated the Livingston College five, of Salisbury, N. C., 35-20. Howard used its second string at the start, holding the Carolinians scoreless up to the last two minutes of play in the first half, when they ran up 5 points.

Livingstone continued its rush at the onset of the second half, tallied the count, and took a 1-point lead. The Howard regulars were rushed in to stem the tide, and did so effectively. Syphax and Taylor showing rare form. Wallace led the Livingstone attack. In the preliminary the Freshmen defeated the Howard faculty, 9-4.

WESTERN HIGH BANS BUSCHER, COURT STAR

Team, Minus Star, Faces Gonzaga

Ban Follows Appearance of Buscher With Montrose.

Central, Tech Quintets Facing Tests in Games Today.

EVERETT BUSCHER, who with Anthony Latona, produced a brand of basket marksmanship this year which kept Western High a constant threat all season, was banished from the Western team yesterday for appearing in the Montrose A. C. line-up Tuesday night when that team checked the long winning streak of the Boys Club Big Five by handing the C street aggregation a neat 34-to-27 licking. Buscher was high point scorer in the game, with ten markers.

As a result of the moves of Buscher and Latona, Western probably will wind up its season Friday night against Alexandria High at Alexandria. Games with the freshmen teams of George Washington and Catholic Universities, scheduled later in the season, doubtless will be cancelled.

Western's chances of gaining revenge on Gonzaga this afternoon at Western Gym for the lacing the Purple handed it a week ago at Gonzaga was shaken by the announcement, since it comes on the heels of Tony Latona's resignation from the Georgetown school.

Central Journeys To Annapolis.

Central journeys over to Annapolis this afternoon for a bout with St. John's Freshmen. The Blue and White outfit has been hitting on all sixteen of late, Bill Burke, forward, being particularly potent as regards scoring. Central will need to show everything it has to pull through today, for the Demi-Johnnies are a well-balanced team.

Tech attempts something tonight at the Boys Club which no other public high outfit has been able to do—take a decision over the Boys Club Big Five. Eastern, Central-Western and Business have all taken it on the chin from the C street squad, whose team is mostly made up of former high school stars. Tech has its work cut out for it tonight.

Georgetown Prep's squad rounds out the day by playing host to Mount St. Joseph's Prep at Garrett Park.

Record Crowd May See Loyola Play Washington

Chestertown, Md., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Preparations are being made for a record-breaking crowd of Eastern Shore basket ball fans here next Saturday night, when the Loyola College five, of Baltimore, on their way toward the Maryland cage title, comes here to engage the Washington College five.

The Jesuits are expected to make every effort to wipe the slate clean and make their claim to the State crown clear by winning over the present holders of the Maryland championship after having defeated the local outfit in Baltimore in the first tilt between the two ancient rivals this season.

St. Alban's Defeats Swavely Prep, 54-19

St. Alban's Basket Ball Team, nearing the close of its most successful year on the local boards, overwhelmed Swavely Prep yesterday afternoon at American University gym to the tune of 54-19.

Big Bob Freeman, former Western High School star, led the Saints' attack as usual, contributing 20 points to his team's majority.

How to Torture Your Wife —By H. T. Webster

Boots and Saddles

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office)

—Miami Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

THE Key West Handicap at a mile and one-sixteenth, feature of the Hialeah Park program today, will be the last start in Florida of SANDY FORD, at times a sensational stake winner. Willie Shea was so pleased with the showing of SANDY FORD last Saturday in the Lauderdale Handicap when he finished second to Morsel—and the race equaled the track record—that he decided to ship him to Agua Caliente for the Agua Caliente $100,000 Handicap to be run on the coast track on March 22.

This horse is quoted in that race in the future books at 50 to 1, but if he wins this race today in good time, after his previous showing against Morsel, his Agua Caliente price will take a drop. He should win the feature at Hialeah today. SIDNEY GRANT is the probable contender. On his third to Silverdale recently, RACCOON should improve, and is tabbed for show money.

FIRST RACE—SUN MEDDLER, at home on a heavy track, and which has been comparatively inactive for several weeks, should beat this cheap field. He has been running against better horses. MINERALOGIST should be the contender.

SECOND RACE—GALLAPAN'S second to Fashion Show last out marks her as the most probable winner of the second race for 2-year-old fillies. VOLCRY, a beaten favorite, may improve and is rated the contender.

THIRD RACE—Maidens, 3-year-olds and upward, go in the third race, seven furlongs, and MILE PLAY came so near earning brackets in his last start that he is selected to win here. LADY MESSENGER, second in her last race to Iona Ruth, will be the contender. BRANDON DARE should give these two a battle.

FOURTH RACE—BATTY won her last race, which was on the 14th, easily beating KENSINGTON and OUTBURST, which qualified her for this mile and a sixteenth gallop. OUTBURST, which improved on that race by beating San Presto Saturday, should be a keen contender.

SIXTH RACE—DR. PARRISH looks best. He has won twice at this meeting, the last time out beating Whisp and Gracious Gift. TONY JOE, one of the most consistent horses at Miami, will be a dangerous contender.

SEVENTH RACE—WISECRACK looks best in this event, which is a mile and a half. GLENNO also likes this route and may wake up.

CHOICES BOW IN MIAMI RACES

Talented Prince Wins Feature; General A Scores Handily.

HIALEAH RACE TRACK, Fla., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Favorites fell down with alarming regularity this afternoon, the climax coming in the Shadow Lawn Purse, a mile and 70 yards jaunt, fourth on the card, in which the four horses competed in the heavy going.

The Gen, favorite, flying the silks of Mary L. Crawdford, was beaten three lengths by P. H. Aichele's recently claimed Talented Prince. Albazano was beaten eight lengths for the place, finishing a like distance in front of Tarpon.

Talented Prince appeared the only contestant suited by a route. The Gen set the pace, Talented Prince being shut off at the first turn, but quickly raced into second position, where Demasi rated the gelding close to The Gen. Around the turn for home Demasi called on Talented Prince, and, coming fast on the outside of the leader, he assumed command after straightening out.

The Gen Beaten Horse.

The Gen was laboring and beaten, but was easily second. Talented Prince paid $13.80 for $2 and ran the distance in 1:51 1-5.

The California Stable's colt, General A, heavily played second choice, was an easy winner of the 6 furlongs Brighton Handicap, defeating Illice, the favorite; Crossbones and Preference without ever being fully exerted.

Breaking fast and immediately opening up a one-length lead, General A was under slight restraint to the stretch, while Crossbones and Illice followed within contention. After turning for home Kurtsinger let out a bit and General A drew farther away to win by four lengths. Illice was up in the final strides to beat Crossbones a neck for the place.

STOCK QUOTATIONS IN GENERAL SLUMP

Traders Shake Profits Out of Day as 4,000,000 Shares Shift.

New York, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Professional and other traders shook paltry profits out of the stock market today. Leaving quotations 1 to 3 points lower.

Just to keep their hands in, the pros gave the merchandising issues a run, but the strength in that group was generally ignored elsewhere. Particularly soft were the amusements and the handful of erratic issues which usually show extreme changes, whatever the trend. Trading remained active, although the turnover of 4,400,000 shares was 900,000 under yesterday's.

Domestic bonds were unsteady, with recurrence of weakness in United States Governments. Grains showed considerable firmness, while bar silver and cotton sagged.

General Motors Gains.

Several attempts at rallies cropped up during the day's share trading, but the market was in a profit-taking mood and the occasional sallies failed to get far. General Motors, Radio, General Electric and Consolidated Gas, among others, worked to new highs for the year, and U. S. Steel duplicated its top before realizing finally that prices definitely lower. The closing tone of the chain store stocks was the close inducted some short covering and final quotations were above the day's lows.

It was inevitable that the net advances of 3¾ each in Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery Ward should revive the old rumor of a merger, which is never allowed to rest when there is activity in the stocks. Wall Street thinks believes that the attitude of the Federal authorities would be an obstacle in the path of such a consolidation, although from the standpoint of the companies there are doubtless points in favor of consolidation.

Warner Bros.' statement, showing a net of 39 cents a share for the November quarter, the first of the fiscal year, together with litigation involving talking picture patents, were seen as possible influences on the amusement stocks. Warner Bros., Paramount, Loew's, Fox and Radio-Keith lead 1 to 2½ lower.

Little Speculative Interest.

There was little speculative interest in the rails, whose unfavorable January earnings are now being published. Few transactions were usually at lower prices. Atchison, New York Central and Union Pacific lost a point or two; Reading dropped 4. Coppers and Motors were soggy. Radio held up well, closing steady. United States Steel, American Telephone, General Electric, Westinghouse, Chrysler, Anaconda, Consolidated, National Biscuit, International Telephone, North American and American Can yielded 1 to 2½. Eastman Kodak, Allied Chemical were off in Kodak, Worthington Pump, Auburn and Allied Chemical were off about 5. Bancamerica was strong, closing most of its 2-point rise.

Midweek statistics on industry and trade revealed no departure from the dull and spotty seasonal recovery. The usual reviews said demand was increasing quietly but steadily. "Iron Age," estimating last week's increase in operations at 1 per cent. Freight car loadings and electric power production continue to reflect the dullness of trade. January automobile production was up 10 per cent over December, but in recent years the improvement in first month of the year has averaged more than 50 per cent. Commercial loans by reporting Federal Reserve member banks dropped $117,000,000, although their investments rose $102,000,000.

Firmer Money Market.

Bankers expect firmer money markets with the end of the month, but they also look for a period of easiness while the Treasury's financing operations are in progress around March 15. Current rate for call loans is quite satisfactory to stock traders, who find themselves able to carry accounts at minimal cost.

The bullish Government weather report, fair export sales and dry weather in Canada were factors in firming wheat, which closed unchanged to a shade higher. Corn improved about a cent for most futures, reflecting better cash demand and smaller contract stocks and a forecast of colder weather. Cotton sagged 4 to 7 points.

Foreign exchanges were steady and irregular. The Spanish peseta dropped about a quarter of a cent. Other continentals moved narrowly.

BALTIMORE MARKETS.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—WHEAT No. 2 red winter, domestic spot, 78½; No. 2 red winter garlicky, domestic spot and February, 78½; March, 78½.

POTATOES—Florida, barrels, Spaulding, U. S. No. 1, 9.00; U. S. No. 2, 7.00.

CHICKENS—Leghorns and other light, 16@18. Others unchanged.

U. S. BONDS SUFFER RELAPSE IN MARKET

Foreign Loans Strong, With Several Issues Reaching New High Prices.

New York, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—United States Government obligations suffered a relapse today as active liquidation was resumed on the stock exchange. Foreign loans were strong, several reaching new highs for the year.

After a period of comparative quiet, pressure was renewed against governments, particularly in the the afternoon, forcing declines ranging as high as 22-32ds of a point, in a turnover of more than $1,750,000.

There were no developments in the situation affecting governments to account for the heavy offerings which forced Treasury 3¾s of 1940-43 to a new low for the year at 100.29. Selling was heaviest in Treasury long-term issues, losses ranging from 9-32ds to 22-32ds. Liberty Bonds gave ground more slowly. The 3½s were largely offered and reacted 3-16

Prime Investment Issues.

Prime investment issues of home corporations were dull and again moved in a narrow range with no definite trend, but softness in some of the second grade loans under the influence of the reaction in stocks gave the group an irregularly lower appearance as convertibles moved downward with shares.

Amusement obligations were again weak. Warner Brothers 6s reacted 2¼ to a new year's low, Loews 6s with warrants dropped 2½ and General Theaters 6s sold off nearly 2.

Foreign bonds continued to display the best tone and prices were generally higher. Australian bonds resumed their comeback, the Government 5s rallied 4 points and Brisbane City and New South Wales firmed. French 7½s duplicated their record high and German 7s, the so-called Dawes issue, moved into new high ground for the year at 103½. Japan 6½s were at a new 1931 maximum. South American loans generally improved.

Pere Marquette Railroad.

Offering will be made tomorrow of an $8,000,000 4½ per cent bond issue for the Pere Marquette Railroad.

The day's news threw some light on issues that have been in prospect to sometime. The Consolidated Gas Co. is expected to issue new securities of $25,000,000 or more within a short time. Stockholders of the Grigsby-Grunow Co. and the Majestic Household Utilities Corporation will vote March 10 on a proposal to merge the two concerns and issue $5,000,000 6 per cent convertible bonds.

It was reported in investment banking circles that plans for refunding $55,000,000 Fox Film Co. one year 6 per cent notes will be announced within the next two or three weeks. It is understood that while the company favors a short term issue, the form of refinancing has not been decided.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Wheat and corn both scored material advances today backed by better export call for both American wheat and by improved shipping demand here for corn. Europe took about 1,000,000 bushels of wheat from North America. Shippers' purchases of corn in Chicago were of decidedly larger volume than of late.

Wheat closed firm, unchanged to 1⅞ cents higher; corn, ¼@1¼ up; oats, ⅛@⅜ advanced and provisions at a rise of 5 to 25 cents.

About 1,000,000 bushels of North American wheat reported as bought for Europe included purchases today and yesterday. Accompanying firmness of the Winnipeg market was the face of downturns in Liverpool wheat quotations. Numerous additional export bids were said to have been received at Winnipeg, but at prices just below the market. Complete absence of snow and rain was reported in the American and Canadian wheat belts, with talk current that recent snows in Canada were insufficient to be of any substantial benefit.

Helping to strengthen wheat values here were dispatches from the Paris International Grain Conference indicating that central and eastern European surpluses were of relatively small and that Great Britain was safeguarding Canadian and Australian export outlets. Less notice was given to assertions that United States Farm Board allies were offering wheat abroad, and advices from Minneapolis, St. Louis and Kansas City showed that Government-sponsored agencies were continuing to absorb domestic wheat.

An increase of 3,423,000 bushels in the world's wheat available supply, making a total of 2,000,000 bushels larger than a year ago, was virtually ignored.

The corn market gave evidence of having been oversold. Rural offerings were light, and primary receipts totaled but 741,000 bushels, compared with 1,308,000 a week ago and 1,081,000 at this time last year. Oats sympathized with upturns in corn and wheat.

Provisions reflected advances in hog values.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—A further advance, promoted by firmness in Liverpool and Alexandria was followed by reactions in cotton today under realizing which seemed to be coupled with some southern and local selling. May contracts after advancing to 11.65 at the start, or 185 points above the low record of last December, eased off to 11.40 in the late trading and closed at 11.41. The general market closed steady at net declines of 4 to 7 points.

The opening was steady, 14 to 18 points higher on a continuation of the recent buying movement which appeared to be stimulated by firmness at Liverpool and reports of a further advance in Egyptians. March sold up to 11.41 and October to 11.18 on this early demand, while again included some trade buying, particularly from the continent, and was accompanied by private reports of prospects for an early agreement in the Indian disputes. The demand, however, seemed less urgent and aggressive than yesterday, and after the early buying had been supplied the market turned easier.

There was considerable selling of May by brokers credited with operating for one of the interests mentioned in connection with the stopping of March notices yesterday, while there also seemed to be a little more selling by the South. Reactionary selling based on the extent of recent advances may have been encouraged by rumors that Japanese mills were refusing to follow the advance, and prices worked off during the balance of the day. The lowest levels were reached in the late trading with March selling at 11.17 and October at 11.02 or about 20 to 25 points below the high prices of the morning. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the lowest.

A few additional March notices were issued at the opening, representing about 5,500 bales, but appeared to be without much effect on the market as there was very little change in differences between March and later deliveries.

Liverpool cables reported covering, continental, Indian and Japanese buying in that market, and said the larger cotton cloth inquiry for the British home trade and export was maintained. Exports today, 16,329, making 4,911,334 so far this season. Port receipts, 38,722. U. S. port stock, 7,815,633.

FAMOUS SEER
THE MAN WHO KNOWS

This strange man sees the way and tells it all. Just what your life has been, just what it will be. Tells you when and whom you will marry; whether husband, wife or sweetheart is true or false. Tells as to changes, travel, lost or absent friends, divorce, wills, deeds; whether it is best to buy or sell. He tells the good and the bad. A visit will convince you of his wonderful power.

Something tells you this is the man. You feel the impulse to call. Do not delay.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

WRIT TO BE ASKED TO BALK REMOVAL OF TRACKS BY U.S.

R. L. May Threatens Course After Board Shelves $200,000 Bill.

TRIANGLE PROGRAM PROGRESS MENACED

Trolley Line Equipment Has Been Ordered Cleared Before April 1.

R. L. May, owner of the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railway Co., yesterday afternoon announced his intention of seeking an injunction that would block the Federal Triangle building program unless Congress passes some form of a bill to pay him for the tracks which the Treasury Department has ordered removed by April 1.

This decision was reached after Mr. May had learned that the District Commissioners had shelved the measure intended to pay him $200,000 for abandonment of his line in the District.

May Prepares for Action.

"It's my only course now," Mr. May said. "I have instructed my attorneys to be prepared to ask for an injunction to prevent my tracks from being tampered with, and I do not intend to take any steps to remove these tracks in the Mall Triangle unless I am paid for the equipment."

The refusal of the District authorities to approve a bill which had been drafted following a series of conferences between Federal and District officials has so far blocked the whole matter of compensating Mr. May, although the principal scrap has been over the inclusion of other parts of the railway in the proposed deal.

Sewers and Water Lines.

Under the original agreement the District was to pay $98,000 of the $200,000 on the conditoion that the Virginia line would be taken out of the District entirely. The Federal Government was to pay $102,000 for the removal of the tracks in the Triangle area.

Unless the Federal Government moves to condemn the property, all of the preliminary plans for the Triangle development may be halted if Mr. May is granted an injunction. Capt. Hugh O. Oram, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, is already preparing to relocate sewer and water lines within the area, and several streets are to be closed on April 1.

Indicted Former Mayor Kills Self

Second Suicide Reported at Asheville as Result of Bank Failures.

Asheville, N. C., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Former Mayor Gallatin Roberts, indicted last week for using public funds to aid the now defunct Central Bank & Trust Co., shot and killed himself in an office building today.

Roberts had served two different times as mayor of Asheville, resigning during his last term at the demand of citizens after the bank had closed with approximately $4,000,000 of city funds on deposit, for which little collateral had been demanded.

He had been an outstanding figure in the city's political life since before the World War. He is the second Asheville man to commit suicide as result of the bank failures, Arthur E. Rankin, former vice president of the Central Bank, being first. J. Charles Bradford, cashier, slashed his own throat with a razor, but recovered.

1,645 Farms Listed In Loudoun County

Census Director Estimates Value of Land, Buildings at $24,928,630.

Special to The Washington Post.

Purcellville, Va., Feb. 25.—According to the Census Director in Washington, there are 1,645 farms in Loudoun County, comprising 283,537 acres, with an average acreage of 175.4 per farm.

The value of farm lands and buildings is placed at $24,928,630. The farm and land value is estimated at $13,291,615, with buildings listed at $11,637,015. Dwellings alone are valued at $6,381,199. Value of farm implements and machinery is placed at $1,162,283. The average value of land and buildings per farm is estimated at $15,154. There are 1,196 farms in Loudoun operated by owners; 61 are operated by managers and 388 are tilled by tenants.

The census fixes 6,859 as the number of horses owned in Loudoun. Only 190 mules are to be found, but there are 25,283 cattle here, 10,516 of them being milch cows. There are 10,853 hogs in Loudoun and 139,174 chickens.

State Dismisses Auto Death Case

Driver Escapes Trial in Fatal Honeymoon Crash in Maryland.

Special to The Washington Post.

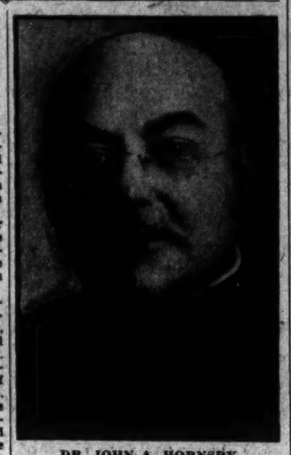
Hagerstown, Md., Feb. 25.—State's Attorney J. Lloyd Hershman announced that he had nolle prossed the charge of manslaughter against Harvey Bean, 24, who faced trial here this week before a jury, which was discharged this morning when it failed to agree upon a verdict.

Bean was the driver of a car which was in collision with a machine in which a young Canadian, Nelson Cressman, who was on his honeymoon, was riding several months ago. Mr. Cressman was fatally injured. It was charged Bean was intoxicated at the time.

Mr. Cressman's widow testified she detected the odor of an intoxicant upon Bean's breath when he took her and her husband to the hospital. Bean's defense was that he had two companions, Hurley Sweeney and Benjamin Edmonds, both intoxicated, in an effort to sober them up, when the collision occurred, but that he himself was sober.

Hospital Chief Dares Trip Despite Injuries

Dr. John A. Hornsby, of University of Virginia, Struck by Car.



DR. JOHN A. HORNSBY.

Dr. John A. Hornsby, superintendent of the University of Virginia Hospital, at Charlottesville, Va., had planned to return there yesterday afternoon, ending a three-day visit which he and Mrs. Hornsby were paying on their daughter in Washington.

The couple made the trip, but under circumstances which would have made most men half the age of this 69-year-old medico-soldier flinch at the thought of taking a several-hour train trip.

Dr. Hornsby was downtown yesterday forenoon attending to a few business matters before his departure, when, while crossing Fourteenth and L streets, he was struck by an auto. Taken to Emergency Hospital, his injuries were diagnosed as fracture of left hip and possible fractured pelvis.

The victim, expressing his preference to be taken care of in his own infirmary, insisted that he could stand the trip. So an ambulance bore the doughty doctor to Union Sattion to make the 3 o'clock train after he had been treated at the hospital.

Dr. Hornsby entrained, accompanied by Mrs. Hornsby and their son Hubert, who is in the Department of Agriculture.

The daughter, Miss Edith M. Hornsby, lives at 2423 E street northwest. Her distinguished father served in the Medical Corps during the World War.

Police did not arrest the driver. He is Raymond F. Robertson, 21, of E street, near First street northwest.

ALEXANDRIA SCHOOL REPORT SUBMITTED

Findings to Be Presented at Chamber of Commerce Session in March.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

A committee from the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, composed of John Baryon Phillips, F. Clinton Knight, C. Page Waller and Dan S. Hollenga, has submitted a report to the board of directors of the chamber on school conditions, dealing particularly with school buildings. The report is said to be exhaustive but has not been made public.

It is stated that bad conditions, in the view of the committee, were found in all of the school buildings except the two newest, Jefferson and Maury, and that immediate correction of these conditions was urged.

The group submitted the report to the membership of the committee from which the special body has been appointed. After receiving approval of that group it went to the civic development committee, which also approved it and submitted it to the board of directors. It was stated yesterday that the board held a meeting and accepted the report, but took no definite action prior to submitting the report to the full membership on March 16, the next regular meeting.

John Barton Phillips, president of the chamber and Dan S. Hollenga, business manager, have been appointed a special committee to confer with the school board relative to this report. In denying publicity to the findings, it is the intention of the chamber to assist in correcting school conditions without causing discussion that might be detrimental to the city schools.

The George Washington Birthday Association has already inaugurated plans for a parade in this city on February 22, 1932, in connection with the bicentennial celebration of Washington's Birthday, and a committee composed of J. William May, Gilbert J. Cox, jr., and O. Ashby Reardon, was appointed to appear before city council at the informal meeting to be held this afternoon, and ask the cooperation of that body.

The zoning and planning commission has prepared a map on the subject of zoning and also a tentative ordinance, and will ask council this afternoon to fix a date for the board to appear before that body to discuss the plan. The commission is composed of Irving Root, engineer; George E. Garrett, chairman; John U. Reardon, secretary; Nicholas J. Lawler, Louis Kane and B. B. Erzine.

Announcement has been made that the hearing before the State corporation commission upon increased rates of the Alexandria Water Co. will begin on March 23, with dates open for the remainder of that week, should the case require it.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Johnson, of 108 Alexandria avenue, have reported to the police that their son, L. L. Johnson, jr., aged 14 years, has been missing from home since Tuesday, and is believed to be endeavoring to make his way to Boston. The family moved to this city recently from Boston, and it is stated the boy has not been satisfied with the change. He is described as being 5 feet 6 inches tall, with light hair, blue eyes, and wearing a blue cap and leather jacket.

The Convert League of the Catholic Daughters of America will hold a public meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in the Lyceum. The principal address will be by the Rev. Edward Payne Kilgallon, of Petersburg, Va. Short talks will also be given by the Rev. Thomas A. Rankin and the Rev. Julius O. Schmidhauser, both of St. Mary's Catholic Church. Vocal solos will be rendered by Mrs. Francis Nugent, accompanied by Miss Elia Hill. Miss Regina Greene and Miss Carroll Greene will be heard in violin and piano selections, and Miss Kathryn Power will recite.

Irving Diener is program chairman for the meeting of the Kiwanis Club today at 12:30 o'clock at the George Mason Hotel, and will present a one-act skit, entitled "The Return of George Washington," with Harry B. Caton in the title role. Musical selections will be by George S. Myers, of Washington.

Jurors Hear Evidence Against Two Officers

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., Feb. 25.—A special grand jury of Hustings Court was in session today until late this afternoon hearing evidence against two policemen, W. N. Walden and J. W. Gray. Both are charged with receiving bribes and Tom Scott, colored, charged with giving bribes to the two officers for protection in alleged violation of the prohibition law.

Indictments were presented against each of the two policemen and one against Scott. The cases probably will not be tried before the next term of court.

JURY SERVICE RIGHT SOUGHT BY WOMEN

Maryland Group Marches Through Capitol in Support of Bill.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 25.—Proponents of jury service for women had their day before the Maryland general assembly today. About 200 strong, waving banners bearing their slogan, and singing a song symbolic of their cause, they paraded through capitol corridors, marched to the executive offices where they were received by Gov. Albert G. Ritchie, and later in the afternoon were given a hearing before the house judiciary committee.

Heading the delegation was Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, president of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs. Among others in the group were Mrs. Rebecca Greathouse, assistant United States district attorney for the District of Columbia, and niece of Senator Dwight Morrow, and Mrs. Rudolph S. Allen, of College Park.

Mrs. Whitehurst is sponsor of the jury service bill which was introduced by request in the House several days ago by Delegate Farrington, of Montgomery County. Mrs. Greathous spoke from the viewpoint of a woman living in the District where jury service for the feminine sex has been an established custom for a number of years.

Gov. Ritchie told his audience that he had no views to express on the issue, which he said was one for the Legislature to decide. According to legislative leaders there is little likelihood of the bill becoming law.

Vacancy Is Filled In Virginia Court

Capt. C. P. Gilchrist to Fill Post Resigned by Lee Fitzhugh.

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., Feb. 24.—Following the resignation of Lee Fitzhugh as a judge of the juvenile and Domestic Relations Court of Stafford County, Judge Frederick W. Coleman, of the circuit court, appointed Capt. C. P. Gilchrist to fill the vacancy.

No successor has yet been named to succeed to Mr. Fitzhugh's magistracy, which he also relinquished.

Capt. Gilchrist, who was a justice of the peace, is a South Carolinian who served with the American Expeditionary Forces overseas. He retired from the service several years ago and took up his residence in Stafford, where he has since taken an active interest in affairs of the county.

Confederate Captain's Widow Is Dead at 83

Special to The Washington Post.

Warrenton, Va., Feb. 25.—Mrs. John Lake, 83 years old, widow of Capt. John Lake, of the Confederate Army, died Tuesday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. C. Murphy, Fauquier White Sulphur Springs.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. Scott Lake and Miss J. M. Lake, and by a number of nephews, nieces and grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at the home of Mrs. Murphy tomorrow, with interment in Warrenton Cemetery.

Worcester's Fire Toll For Year Is $94,043

Pocomoke City, Md., Feb. 25 (A.P.). Carelessness cost Worcester County $94,043 in forest fires last year, according to District State Forester Kenneth J. Seigworth, nearly twice the toll taken in any other Eastern Shore of Maryland county from the same cause and probably the heaviest in the State.

The sum of $1,800 will be lost in annual county taxes as a result of this property damage, he asserted. A total of 106 fires burned over 7,514 acres or over 5 per cent of the county's wooded area.

Bedford Will Get Loan To Finish School Term

Special to The Washington Post.

Bedford, Va., Feb. 24.—The board of supervisors, in regular meeting Monday, authorized the county school board to borrow a sum of money to finish the present school term, if needed, the sum not to exceed the delinquent school tax for the current year.

The school board, fearing that the school taxes would not be paid promptly, made this request so that it will not be necessary to shorten the school term this year. Dr. J. A. G. Shipley, superintendent, and W. E. Fizer, chairman of the school board, appeared before the supervisors and made the request.

FALLS CHURCH BOND ISSUE VOTED 36 TO 1

$125,000 Provided for City-Owned Water System in Fairfax Area.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

Resident freehold property owners of the town of Falls Church voted 36 to 1 yesterday in favor of the proposed $125,000 water bond issue for the installation of a municipal system. Of 493 persons eligible to participate in the special election 376 voted. There were 359 votes in favor of the issue, 10 against and 7 void.

The election judges, appointed by Mayor L. P. Daniel, were Councilman Frank Birch and W. T. Parrott and Town Clerk J. C. Parrott. Members of the volunteer fire department, as soon as the results were announced, organized a parade which was soon joined by a large number of citizens.

Councilman Charles E. Gage, who is chairman of the special water committee, which has led the fight for the bond issue and drafted the preliminary plans for the installation of the water system, stated that he could not recall an election in which the citizens were so unanimously in favor of the question. He is calling a special meeting of the water committee for this evening to formulate plans to present to the town council at its next meeting. The meeting will be held in the Falls Church police station.

As the plans voted upon yesterday do not call for an increase in taxes, but in a revenue-producing municipal utility, a second election is not necessary if the total amount of bonded indebtedness of the town does not exceed the 18 per cent allowed by the Virginia State law.

If the second election is held on the bond issue the water bonds would not be included in the town's quota allowed by law, but would be a separate indebtedness. This would allow the town to be bonded for some other purpose later. This is the reason advanced by citizens for wanting the second election held before proceeding with the installation of the system.

The National Bank of Alexandria was the successful bidder for the purchase of the $50,000 issue of water bonds of the town of Fairfax, according to Mayor Thomas P. Chapman yesterday. The bank agreed to pay examination fees for printing of the bonds. These bonds were purchased at par and will bear an interest rate of 5 per cent annually, to mature in 30 years. The proceeds of the sale of the bonds will be used for the installation of the municipally owned water system authorized at a special election last November. The installation of the system is now well under way, with one of the wells drilled and pipe for the water mains being laid as rapidly as possible. A trench digger will start to work this morning on Main street. Joints and connections for the fire plugs have been distributed and pipes are being distributed. It is expected that the mains will be completed in the central section and the water tower installed within the next two months.

Four persons giving their names as P. W. McGuire, Terry B. Simms, Laura Sowers and Mary M. Mason, all of Washington, were arrested by Capt. Haywood J. Durrer and Carl McIntosh, of the Fairfax County police, on the River road near Fort Hunt, and charged with being drunk. They were taken before Justice of the Peace Harry Shepherd at Accotink and fined $5 and costs each on the charge.

Clarence Rogers, of Gum Springs, was arrested by County Policeman A. W. Mills on county road No. 14, near Accotink Run Bridge, and charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, reckless driving, destroying public property and having obsolete tags on his car. Rogers was taken before Justice Shepherd at Accotink and released on bond pending a preliminary hearing this week.

Maryland Income Tax Plan Favored

Farmers Approve Measure in Spite of Warning by State Senator.

Frederick, Md., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Warning that any attempt to pass a State income tax measure at the present session of the Legislature probably would meet with defeat in both the House and Senate was given by Senator Emory L. Coblentz at a meeting of farmers here which nevertheless adopted a resolution calling for this form of levy without delay.

W. Clinton McSherry, attorney for the Frederick County commissioners, was requested to read at another meeting here Saturday an income tax bill he is drafting for presentation at the present session.

Senator Coblentz said that the Leigslature is sympathetic toward plans to relieve the taxation burden on farmers, and pointed out that the committee on revaluation and assessments, of which he is chairman, "has started out in very practical way to accomplish just the farmers' desire." While he said he would introduce and vote for any legislation Frederick County people desire, Senator Coblentz advised against an income tax bill at this session.

Virginia Conclave Slated by Lodges

Knights Templar to Meet in Staunton for Annual Session May 21-22.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Feb. 25.—The annual conclave of the grand commandery, Knights Templar of Virginia, will be held in Staunton May 21-22, it was learned today at the office of C. Vernon Eddy, Winchester, grand recorder. Sessions will be presided over by Joseph P. Houck, Harrisonburg, right eminent grand commander. The annual parade of the plumed knights will be a feature.

The Virginia Grand Commandery is one of the oldest under jurisdiction of the Grand Encampment of the United States, having been formed about 1823. However, there was an organization in Winchester at least ten years prior to that time, it being known as "Winchester Grand Encampment, No. 1," which obtained its charter from the Grand Commandery of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia. Winchester Commandery, No. 12, was the name and numeral given the local commandery after it became identified with the Virginia organization.

JUSTICES SELECTED IN PRINCE GEORGES

H. J. Moffat and G. S. Dove Are Not Reappointed by Ritchie.

Neither Justice of the Peace Herbert J. Moffat, Hyattsville, nor George S. Dove, Forestville, were reappointed to the places they have held when the list of Prince Georges County appointments was sent to the State Senate by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie.

Mr. Dove, who has been a member of the Board of Election supervisors, will be succeeded by Lemuel L. Gray, Hyattsville. Judge Moffat will be succeeded by William B. Hill, also of Hyattsville. No change was made in the other justices in that town, both Mrs. Retta D. Morris and John Painter being reappointed. Other members of the board of supervisors were also named again.

Two other magistrates in the county, Hugh O'Neil, Bladensburg, and John E. Weast, Capitol Heights, were not reappointed. Mr. O'Neil will be succeeded by Robert E. Altemus, Colmar Manor, while Oscar Poore will take the place of Mr. Weast.

Judge J. Chew Sheriff was named again as justice of the peace at large, which means that he will continue to occupy the bench in county police court. Three new justices were appointed, John E. Latimer, Anacostia; Griffith Oursler, of Clinton; and Frank H. Vaden, North Brentwood.

No one was named to fill the place of Harry W. Gore, of Marlboro, whose death several weeks ago caused a vacancy. The county central committee apparently has been unable to decide who shall act as justice in the county seat, although there is known to be as least one application for the post.

Luella Wiggins, proprietor of the Bluebird Inn, on Southern Maryland pike, pleaded guilty to possession of 120 bottles of beer yesterday when tried before Judge J. Chew Sheriff in police court in Hyattsville. The woman was arrested in a week-end raid. She was fined $50 on a guilty plea. When first arraigned, she asked a jury trial but later changed the request.

Alice Chase, colored, who was convicted in circuit court last fall of housebreaking, was held for action of the grand jury on a similar charge without bond. When convicted before she was sentenced to three years, but the sentence was suspended. Her 8-year-old son, who was also convicted last fall, was committed to the House of Reformation.

Exhibiting a document sworn to before a notary public in 1926 in which William Riggles, of Seabrook, took oath not to drink any more, Mrs. Margaret Riggles, his wife, yesterday appeared to press charges of assault and battery against the man. She told the judge that the paper and his subsequent drinking showed his inability to refrain from liquor.

Judge Sheriff recalled to the man that the county had a whipping post law for wifebeaters, but only sentenced him to three months in the House of Correction. He pleaded guilty to dragging his wife about the house.

Sam Dolmes, colored, of Hyattsville, pleaded guilty to stealing coal from freight cars and was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and spend one month in the House of Correction.

John Brooks, colored, was fined $50 for the sale of 1 pint to Francis Clark, although marked money given to Clark to make the sale was not found on the colored man when he was arrested. Charges of sale against Ulysses Stanton were dismissed when William H. Myers, the alleged buyer, testified he had the liquor with him when he went into Stanton's house.

William V. Parsley, of Burtonsville, was fined $5 for reckless driving, and similar charges against Frank L. Salzman, of Elkridge, were dismissed. Each had charged the other with the offense following an accident on the Baltimore boulevard near Beltsville several weeks ago.

Mrs. Olive Palmer, 22, of Riverdale Heights, was fined $20 for having fictitious markers and no license; $10 on each charge. She was accused of having a car with District tags, although a resident of Maryland. She pleaded that she had only had the car five days.

Milton Yates was fined $10 for having no license and $1 for lack of a registration card, after having been arrested in Riverdale by State Policeman C. W. Cubbage. Earl B. Brooks paid $10 on his conviction of reckless driving at College Park.

Robert E. Rose, a letter carrier, was fined $10 for having no license. John Ross, colored, was fined $101 for driving while drunk and reckless driving near Beltsville. Russel Gardner, colored, was fined $10 for having no license and $1 for having no registration card.

John B. Krainer was fined $150 with an alternative of six months in the House of Correction for possession and was fined $25 more for speeding. He was arrested by County Policemen Claude Reese and R. E. Brown. William Case, a passenger in the car, arrested at the same time, was freed when testimony showed that he was a hitch-hiker in Krainer's car.

Similar testimony by Isadore Fogle saved Herbert Lewis from a possible conviction. Fogle pleaded guilty to possession of three gallons of liquor which were found in his car, and said that Lewis was only a passenger he had picked up along the road. Charges against Lewis were dismissed and Fogle was fined $50 or three months for possession and $1 for having no registration card.

Ernest McDonald, Punkintown, was fined $200 for possession, while eighteen half-gallons of liquor will cost Frank Ferguson $150 or six months in the House of Correction. Pleading guilty to assault and battery on David B. Burnham and disorderly conduct, Lawson Lewis, of Brentwood, was fined $25 on the first charge and $5 on the second. John White was held for action of the grand jury on a nonsupport charge. Bond was set at $100.

Charles Kraw Harris, Capitol Heights, was held in bond of $1,500 yesterday after being captured with eighteen cases of liquor on the Leonardtown road. The seizure was made by revenue agents working out of Washington. He will appear before United States Commissioner J. Frank Supplee in Baltimore on Monday.

BILL IN MARYLAND MENACES FISH NETS

Committee Gives Measure Approval and Lists It for Third Reading.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 25.—Advocates of legislation to prohibit the use of either purse or buck nets for fishing in any of the waters of Maryland won their first skirmish in the House of Delegates today when the bill to outlaw them came from committee with a favorable report, and finally was sent on its way to the third reading file after a debate that lasted more than an hour.

The test came on a move designed to delay consideration of the measure at least for a week, but its sponsors won out by a hair, the vote being 59 to 58.

Kent and Talbot Counties have been the main backers of such nets for years and the fight to delay progress of the bill with the ultimate purpose of killing it, if possible, was led by the delegates from those counties. After the motion to delay the measure failed, effort to have it sent back to another committee other than fish and game was beaten by a viva voce vote.

Dr. Edmonds Takes Hand.

Dr. George Edmonds, chairman of the Montgomery County delegation, took a hand in the verbal battle. He declared that he had received communications from many people from all sections of the State favoring passage of the bill. Finally the measure was ordered printed for final reading.

Delegate Jonah Sleeman, Republican, Allegany County, introduced a bill that is designed to restrict the publication of information pertaining to horse-racing exclusively to bona fide daily newspapers published in the State, and limit such information entirely to the bare entries at the tracks. The bill is directed at the "tip" or "dope" sheets, and would prohibit any printed information service, such as publication of names of jockeys, odds and forecasts of prices.

A meeting of the Senate judicial proceedings committee, of which Senator Scott Breck, of Kent County, is chairman, was enlivened by a hearing given a delegation of between 50 and 100 men and women opposed to the eighteenth amendment. The hearing was on the resolution sponsored by Senator Altfeld, of Baltimore City, calling on Congress to take steps for the repeal of the amendment.

Buck Heads Group.

Heading the male group was Walter B. Buck, president of the Maryland Association against the amendment, while the chief spokesman for the women was Mrs. Donald Symington of the Women's Association for Prohibition Reform.

With a bill of similar provisions already before the House, Delegate George Hofferbert, Baltimore City, offered a bill providing for revision of the automobile license tax rate.

The Hofferbert bill would reduce the standard rate for pneumatic-tired pleasure vehicles of 32 cents per horsepower to 25 cents, and provide a sliding scale for trucks of from $10 for 2,000 pounds capacity up to a maximum rate of $42 per year.

Bill on Tax Surplus.

Under a measure originated by Senator Coblentz (Democrat), Frederick, surplus proceeds from that portion of the gasoline tax at present set aside for the construction of overhead bridges could be used for building bridges and approaches elsewhere.

A resolution providing for a State pension for the widow of George Lee, Annapolis painter, slain last week by deputy game wardens was introduced in the House of Delegates today by Delegate Ward, of Somerset County. It provides that a pension of $30 per month be paid the woman for each of her minor children, one 2 years old and the other 6, until they reach the age of 16.

RITCHIE ANNOUNCES LIST OF APPOINTEES

Maryland Senate Expected to Confirm Choices; Another Group Later.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 25.—The long awaited "green bag" of Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, as his list of appointments is commonly termed, was sent to the State Senate last night for confirmation, and there is no question but that all appointees will be confirmed.

Not all of the appointments were made last night; another list will come down later on. The list included reappointments to a number of State berths and commissions, besides the police justices and election supervisors and notaries public for the several counties and Baltimore City.

The only change in State board appointees of note is that of Congressman William P. Cole, jr., of Towson, Second Congressional District, to the board of regents of the University of Maryland.

Change in Police Justices.

A number of changes in the list of police justices for Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties were made by the governor. Those named for Montgomery County are:

Charles W. Woodward, Poolesville; Edwin D. Burdette, Hyattstown; William M. Burrows, Rockville; J. Lee Robinson, Spencersville; Edward H. Carr, Burtonsville; Mrs. Josephine Bell, Barnstown; Alfred L. Moore, Bethesda; James C. Christopher, Bethesda; Frank Van Court, Chevy Chase; James E. Garrett, Gaithersburg; Robert E. Lee, Wheaton; Ward W. Caddington, Silver Spring; Alfred L. Wilson, Takoma Park; John Jones, Rockville.

Prince Georges appointees are:

J. Chew Sheriff, at large, Landover; James S. Neal, Anacostia; Hugh O'Neil, Bladensburg; John F. H. Wilmuth, Kenilworth; Harry W. Gore, Upper Marlboro; Thomas D. Griffith and William Naecker, Anacostia; Henry F. Phipps, Mitchellville; Henry B. Comtee, Joseph S. Fowler, Aquasco; Henry M. Scott, Laurel; F. J. Billingslea, Brandywine; Benson P. McDonald, Rosecroft; Harry L. Anderson, Upper Marlboro; Mrs. Retta D. Morris, John Painter, William B. Hill, Hyattsville; John A. Downing, Edmonston; Richard I. Quander, Brentwood; Robert E. Joyce and Isaac D. Arnold, Mount Rainier; Joseph H. Austin, Takoma Park; John E. Weast and Oscar T. Poore, Capitol Heights; Harry K. Clare and John G. Odonnell, Riverdale; Louis Gundling, Lanham; Francis H. Shipley and George E. Phipps, Berwyn.

Notaries Reappointed.

As to notaries public, all appointed two years ago were reappointed for two years, with a number of additions. The new notaries for Montgomery are:

Rockville—J. Cullom Barnaley, Leonoir W. Bailey, Donald A. Delashmutt, Mildred E. Jones, Anne M. Lyddane, Oliver H. Perry, Ruth A. Proffitt. Silver Spring—Dorothy Bliss, William E. Bowman, Moselle Downs, Elizabeth Ferguson, Eugene M. Marsteller, Karston S. Wright. Spencersville—Clara A. Carr. Bethesda—Marie Clendenning, Sister Mary Carmalite, Samuel H. Miller, J. Milton Rowe. Takoma Park—James N. Doten, Ray L. Hendricks. Chevy Chase—O. L. Cromwell, Laura Gilliland, Soterios Nicholson, Gaithersburg—J. Ernest Hawkins, Dewarren H. Reynolds. Fairland—Maude J. Walters.

"SELL MARYLAND" BACKERS TO MEET

Representatives of Every Civic Group in State Are Planning Session.

Chestertown, Md., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Representatives of every organization in the State which favors the movement to "sell Maryland" to the United States will be present at a meeting at Annapolis some time before March 11, Frederick Philip Stieff, Baltimore manufacturer and chairman of the committee to advertise Maryland, told the Chestertown Rotary Club.

The speaker, who is active in support of the proposed measure to have the State appropriate $50,000 a year to advertise Maryland between now and the tercentenary in 1934, declared his committee wants Maryland to be better known at that time than at any time during its 300 years of existence.

At the Annapolis meeting, Mr. Stieff said, it is proposed to show sound and color motion pictures of the type proposed by his committee for use in the publicity campaign and to demonstrate the effectiveness of the pictures to members of the Maryland general assembly. In addition, he said, newspaper advertising, magazine and periodical advertising, booklets of all kinds and a nation-wide radio hookup may be used if the advertising campaign materializes.

The motion pictures would be in the nature of a travelogue through the State, showing historic spots and scenery together with the State's present day facilities for work and play.

The local Rotary Club indorsed the movement which also is said to have the backing of other Rotary organizations and similar clubs and chambers of commerce, throughout the State.

Birthday Rites Honor Charlottesville Cleric

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 25.—The congregation of the Presbyterian Church tonight held a special birthday service to honor their pastor emeritus, Dr. George Laurens Petrie, who today passed his ninty-first birthday. A microphone installed in the church made it possible for the aged minister, who served the local church 50 years, to enjoy the program at the manse.

The birthday greetings was extended by Dr. Charles G. Maphis, dean of the university summer school. Dwight M. Chalmers, present pastor, and Edwin S. Sweeney, of the Christian Church, participated in the service, and Frank Irvine read a poem. A message from Dr. Petrie concluded the service.

H. R. Fitzgerald Laid To Rest at Danville

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Feb. 25.—H. R. Fitzgerald, late president of the Riverside and Dan River cotton mills, was laid to rest in the town cemetery this morning with the rites of the Methodist Church. Scores witnessed the services, many of them mill operatives who had seen service under Mr. Fitzgerald for many years.

The services, conducted by the Rev. Dr. John Bunyan Winn, included an eulogy of the deceased.
